On its initial entrance into class athletics, the Junior Law class, by virtue of the marked ability of Curtis and Myles, outshone the various contingents representing the four academic classes and carried away the trophy of the inter-class meet Friday afternoon. Chilled by a biting, cold breeze that swept unceasingly over the field and hampered the flight of the sprinters, the eager and able athletes were unable to hang up record marks, but in spite of this vexing handicap several events of unusual

BOAT CREWS START TRAINING SOON

Albert Sidneys Rejoice Over New Rowing Machine

With the coming of Spring, the interest in the boat clubs is reviving, both crews having made their call for candidates. The Harry Lees turned out on the river Monday after a winter of rather steady practice on their rowing machine in Newcomb Hall. The Albert Sidneys are rejoicing over the coming of their new machine last week. It was promptly installed on the third floor of the Engineering Building and work was started to overcome, as far as possible, the handicap imposed by the rival crew's long indoor practice. The Albert Sidneys will take up the river work either this week or next, according to weather conditions.

In material for oarsmen, the red crew would appear to hold an edge over the blue. Six monogram men: Oglesby, Wales, White, Gooch, Leith and Penick have returned while the Albert Sidneys have but two Varsity men of last year: Latture and Manning. Albert Sidneys claim, however, that this difference is largely balanced in the return of four of their strong 1914 second crew: Preston, Humphries, McMillan and Utt. For the Reds, Coxswain Sanford, alone, remains of last year's seconds. Both clubs report that a good number of promising recruits were revealed in the Fall practice, and expect like results from the Spring call.

BUSY SEASON AHEAD FOR GENERALS' TRACK TEAM

Field Day Saturday, Then Dual Meets With V. P. I., North Carolina and Hopkins—Will Also Compete in Big South Atlantic Meet and Possibly in Penn Relay Games

The schedule for the outdoor track season for Washington and Lee this spring includes a field day, three dual meets, the South Atlantic Inter-collegiate meet, and probably representation in the Pennsylvania Relay Games in Philadelphia.

The opening event on this schedule will be a field day on Wilson Field to take place Saturday instead of the dual meet with Georgetown University which has been cancelled on account of unsatisfactory financial arrangements at both schools. Following this will come a dual meet with V. P. I. on April 17, then come the Penn Relay Games, in Philadelphia on April 23. Next will be a dual meet on Wilson Field with the University of North Carolina, then the South Atlantic meet in Baltimore on May 7 and 8, and finally a dual meet with Johns Hopkins in Baltimore on May 15.

The field day will be a handicap meet, each man entering on his own behalf and honors gained to be strictly individual. In speaking of this Coach Forest Fletcher says that all entries will have to be handed to him personally before noon Friday and positively no entries will be accepted on the field on account of having to arrange the handicaps for the contestants. Each man will have to look out for his own events in this meet. An effort is being made to have the merchants of the town give prizes to the winners of first places in each event and Coach Fletcher personally is offering a special medal for any new records. "I am anxious," said the Coach yesterday, "to see a special 100 yard dash between Young, Lamont, Bailey and Curtis during this meet in addition to the regular events." A new feature to the field day is an invitation to the fraternities in college to enter relay teams of four men, each to run one lap.

DR. DENNY WILL BE HERE ON APRIL 23

Seniors Plan to Accord Former President Big Ovation

Dr. George H. Denny will pay his respects to the graduating class of 1915 on Friday, April 23 when he will deliver an address at the University Assembly. President Smith, who desired to have Dr. Denny return to make a farewell speech to the members of the last class which entered under his regime before his departure to Alabama, has been notified by the former president that he will be in Lexington on that date. He has not decided the subject of his address.

The Senior class is considering the matter of giving their former president a rousing ovation at this event and committees have been appointed to attend to the details. The members of '15, who entered as freshmen under Dr. Denny, will endeavor to demonstrate to him that they have not forgotten his untiring interest in their behest and are planning a pretentious event.

It is not known how long Dr. Denny will remain in Lexington during his visit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Robertson have left for their home in Oklahoma, where Mr. Robertson will engage in law practice. He completed his course here with the examinations for the subjects given during the second term, having passed the senior subjects for this term during the past year.

RADIO TELEGRAPHY WILL BE STUDIED

Course Added to Reveal Mysteries of Wireless

A course in radio telegraphy has been added to the science department for the present term. J. Carl Fisher has been appointed as instructor and the class has already an enrollment of about 15 members. Those studying the radio system will have a distinct advantage in that they can gain a practical idea of the system from the University wireless station, which was erected last year under the present instructor's supervision. The text book, "Wireless Telegraphy" has been adopted.

During the term, the instructor will also inform the students of the theoretical part of wireless telegraphy, by lectures. A credit of one point will be given those who attain proficiency in the study.

The usual course in Commercial Law will this year be in charge of Professor H. B. Schermerhorn of the law faculty. There will be three meetings of the class a week, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at 9, with a credit of one point. This course is given primarily for academic students.

"Daddy" Burks will teach the class in Conveyances this term, and also all men who secured only two points credit for Geology I last year will be allowed to take the class this term and thus obtain an additional credit of one point.

Jennings Allows Cornell Two Hits—No Game With Penn State

The striking victory over Cornell yesterday was the lone favorable incident attending the inauguration of the 1915 baseball campaign. The opening was ushered in with conflicting incidents, inclement weather and unfavorable results. The opening game with LaFayette, scheduled last Tuesday, was postponed, on account of the fact that the majority of the Generals had examinations, which was overlooked when the game was scheduled. With cold weather prevailing, the Generals started Wednesday, but LaFayette hammered the Washington and Lee pitchers for 15 runs, while Girard yielded but one.

The ill-luck continued when the lone engagement with Penn State Saturday was called off on account of cold weather and a slight snow. However the Generals dispelled the jinx yesterday when Jennings let Cornell down with two hits and Washington and Lee won, 6 to 0.

Baffled by Hughie Jennings' southpaw slants, Cornell University suffered a 6-0 defeat by Washington and Lee yesterday. The diminutive pitcher yielded but two infield

YOUNG TO CAPTAIN BASKETBALL TEAM

Harrison Will Manage Basketkers—Both Star Athletes.

Harry Killinger Young, the speedy left guard of the 1915 Varsity basketball team, has been elected to captain the 1916 quintette. At a meeting of the seven monogram men held recently, he was named, without opposition, to lead the basketkers. For the past two seasons, Young has played at guard on Varsity. During the past season, he led the Generals in scoring field goals, and played a brilliant game on the defense.

John Lumpkin Harrison was elected by the athletic council as Manager of the 1915 basketball team. The assistant-managers will be selected at a future meeting. Manager Harrison served capably as assistant-manager during the past season.

Both men to be honored are versatile athletes. Young has earned monograms as a player on the football, baseball and basketball teams, while Harrison has the coveted trident for endeavor in football and baseball. The newly elected captain is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, the White Friar Ribbon Society, the Cotillion Club, and the "13 Club." He is a member of the Sophomore class, and a resident of Huntington W. Va.

Manager-elect Harrison is in his Junior year and active in many cam-

TWO TREATS AWAIT WASHINGTON AND LEE

Cortese to Give Harp Recital—Ben Greet Follows

Angelo Cortese, the Harpist, will return to Lexington on May 29 to give a harp recital. During the evening, he will offer a programme varied with the many types of selections. He will be the only performer. When he appeared at the Library in February, Cortese scored a big hit with his several numbers which were classical selections.

At the approaching recital, the harpist will offer a more popular repertoire, giving a number of the more popular selections as well as the classical. On his first appearance, Cortese showed marvelous technic and skill on the harp and was encored warmly. He has a beautiful instrument, which he manipulated with amazing deftness. The recital will be given under the direction of Miss Annie White.

Washington and Lee has another treat in store. The Ben Greet players will appear in Lexington during the latter part of May. As yet the plays which the outdoor company will present have not been decided. Two performances will be given.

AL ORTH UMPIRES GAME IN MID-SEASON FORM

Officiates Generals' Games to Get in Trim for Major League

As arbiter of the Washington and Lee Varsity games, the Generals have Al Orth, the National league umpire. The genial official umpired the LaFayette and Cornell games and seemed to be in mid-season form. He will remain in Lexington until President Tener calls his umpires before him for their final instructions before the opening of the big league season.

Every season, Orth has been accustomed to jaunting over to Lexington for a little preliminary training to get his eye keen for the many close decisions that arise in major league baseball. He has taken off a little flesh and does not seem to be bothered with the injury to his knee that he suffered just before the close of the 1914 season. This injury probably prevented him from umpiring in the world's series, but he has hopes of getting an opportunity to officiate in this important series in October.

He is regarded as one of the most efficient members of the National league corps. He coached the Washington and Lee baseball team during the season of 1913.

pus activities. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, the P. A. N. Ribbon Society, the Cotillion club and the "13 club." He hails from Richmond, Virginia.

Young was one of the largest contributors to the Generals' 378 points scored during the past season. Captain Miles recorded more points, but his successor led in field goals. The individual point scorers were:

Miles, 122 points; 31 goals, 60 goals from fouls.

Young, 86 points; 43 goals.

Seeley, 74 points—34 goals, 6 goals from fouls.

Zaiss, 54 points—27 goals.

Pierotti, 28 points—14 goals.

Bailey, 8 points—4 goals.

Glasgow, 6 points—3 goals.

NO ACCEPTANCE RECEIVED AS YET FROM DR. GREEVER

Recently Elected Associate Professor of English Unheard From—Acceptance Expected

No word has come from far away London as to whether Dr. G. G. Greever, the recently elected associate-professor of English, will accept the position tendered him by President Smith. Notification of his election has been forwarded to Dr. Greever, who is pursuing research work in England, but he has not yet answered. The belated mail service to London from New York, caused by the activity of the German submarines, is blamed for the delay. President Smith states that he expects a favorable answer at any time.

At the next meeting of the board, the associate-professor of Biology—the third addition to the faculty as authorized, will be elected. While the courses in the academic schools will be changed as the result of the new recruits for the faculty, these revisions will be made by the heads of the respective departments some time before the opening of the 1915-16 session.

interest and excitement. Threatened from the first by the redoubtable Shultz, the Junior team, and fighting against the greater numbers and training of the Sophomore contestants, the Junior Lawyers nevertheless, by steady and remarkable gains, managed at last to pile up a total score which just exceeded that of their nearest competitors by a single point.

The winning class owes its success to the ability and zeal of its two leading point-makers—Myles and Curtis. The former succeeded in taking first place in the 220 Yard Dash, second in the Discus Throw and tied with Shultz for first place in the Broad Jump. Curtis won first place in the 220 Yard Low Hurdles and second in the 100 Yard Dash.

By a remarkable sprint at the last lap, Adams won the Two Mile Race with a margin of several rods, Johnson coming second. Likewise, Hansel of the Junior Law class scored second in both the Pole Vault and the High Jump, clinching the triumph of his contingent. McNitt and Fox starred for the Sophomores, the former winning a first and a second place and the latter taking first place in the Mile Race.

The Junior Team, although made up of but three members, secured first place in four events—the Shot Put, Discus Throw, high jump and 120-Yard High Hurdles, and also second in the low hurdles, third in the 220-yard dash, third in the pole vault, and third in the 100-yard dash, besides tying for first place in the Broad Jump. Having entered but one or two contests in the events, the Seniors and Freshmen secured only a few points. Bob Schulz was the star of the latter, winning the 100 Yard Dash by spectacular sprinting at the last. In the beginning, it looked like the final decision would be between the Juniors and Junior Law class, but the Sophomores came back strong in two events, winning first, second and third places in one and first and second in the other, which made them a close rival for the cup. Gladney won the 440 yard dash by a pretty, steady sprint. It was not until the last event near dusk that the winning class could be picked, which, when done, was greeted with shouts from the Junior Law enthusiasts and gutteral growls from the Junior Academ team.

The meet was arranged by Coach Fletcher and Manager Evans to promote interest in track athletics and offer an opportunity to the various classes to get out and prove their prowess in this arena of college activity. The Coach was very much pleased with the results, especially the new record Pole Vault of Hallman who cleared the bar at the unusual height of eleven feet.

It is planned to have an inter-class meet annually in the future, this first one proving itself worthy of the care and expense attached to the undertaking. Although, no startling runs or other feats were executed, undoubted ability was shown by the contestants whom it is expected will have further opportunities to test their powers in this field.

The Summary:

Broad Jump—Shultz, Jr. and Myles, Jr. Law, tie for first with 18 ft. 1 1/2 in.; Woodruff, Soph., third.

2-mile run—Adams, Jr. Law, first; Johnson, Sen., second. Time 12:23-5.

Balm and Baseball

THE inclemency of the weather just experienced would serve to convince the followers of the Generals that baseball is a sport of the balmy months. As the result of the two recent postponements, the Generals will be seen in tilt of battle but eight times during the entire 1915 campaign, provided none of the six prospective battles is interfered with by rain or postponement. Scarcely can we realize that the local season will come to a conclusion on April 26, a date at which many Varsity teams are just coming into their true form.

In view of the fact that the national pastime is much more pleasant to witness and to indulge in during the more torrid months, we would offer the suggestion that in future seasons the schedule compilers include more games during the latter part of April and in May. It seems a little uncanny that the southern colleges should conclude their schedules just when the weather conditions are ideal.

And we feel that eight games are indeed a small number to comprise the local schedule. While it is a fact that the game with Penn State could not have been played, nothing but the carelessness of the scheduling authorities prevented the Generals from meeting LaFayette in the opening game. We regret that the athletic authorities should see fit to conclude the season at such an early date as is set.

And, in justice to them, we will readily admit that it is difficult to schedule games later on in the season, but we do not understand why Washington and Lee's baseball season should come to a close before those of other neighboring institutions. We believe it to be the sincere wish of the student body that the authorities should make an effort to schedule a larger number of contests on Wilson Field and not conclude operations before most teams are getting a good start.

The showing of the Generals against Cornell demonstrated that Washington and Lee is capable of developing teams that will cope with the foremost, and we feel that the athletes should be given ample opportunity to prove their strength by the adoption of a full schedule.

Our Deep Sympathy Extended

THE news of the sudden death of Mr. F. F. Malloy, at his home in Asheville on March 31 was received with deep regret by the many friends of his son, Fagg Malloy. The most heartfelt sympathy of the student body is extended to him in his deep loss.

hits in nine innings to Cornell and scored a shutout, despite six errors committed by the infielders. Jennings was confronted with threatening situations at many stages of the games, but met each emergency and finished the battle unscathed.

Held in check to one single during the first five rounds, the Generals fathomed the moist delivery of Southpaw Steve Reagan, the star Cornell twirler, in the sixth and seventh innings and gained a lead of six runs. Johnson opened for Cornell and downed the Generals in the four innings that he served without allowing a run. Reagan, who assumed the pitching burden in the fifth, succeeded in blanking the Generals in the fifth. But in the sixth, Washington and Lee forged to the front.

Young opened the session with a single past first base, but was retired on a double play following Colville's strike out. Gallagher larrupped a line drive over short for a single. The speedy shortstop, fleeting toward second with a big lead, continued around the sacks when Ben Rives drove the pellet down the third base foul line for two bases. Bailey's hoist to Donovan closed the session.

Generals Score Five

In the following inning, Reagan lost control of the sphere and endowed Washington and Lee with a commanding lead. Mahood opened with a single to left field. Bill Smith sacrificed, pitcher to first. Sweetland hit a slow roller to third and Mellen essayed nipping Mahood at third. With a deft slide, Mahood evaded his jab and both were safe. Sweetland outsped Reagan's peg to second. At this juncture, Reagan issued four balls to Jennings, filling the bases. Cy Young struck out. Colville, however, waited the southpaw out and was rewarded with a walk, that forced Mahood over the rubber. Gallagher was endowed with another base on balls and Sweetland scored. The Cornell moundsman continued his wild streak for Rives was walked, forcing over Jennings with the third tally.

Two strikes were called on Bailey with no balls. The Cornell twirler essayed slipping over a third strike, but Bailed thwarted the attempt with a line drive to center field, enabling Colville and Gallagher to tally. Mahood closed the session of activity with a fly to Donovan. Jennings pitched a strong game. Five of the strikeouts recorded came when Cornell runners were occupying the bases. In the eighth, Whitney and ills were on the bases, without an out, but the little southpaw extended himself, fanned Keating and Donovan and forced Mellen to ground out weakly. The only two safeties secured by the visitors were infield hits. Bills, the shotstop, landed both of the singles. In the first, he poked one just out of Mahood's reach, and in the eighth, he reached first on a boulder which Gallagher stopped after a speedy sprint, but failed to recover.

The Generals injured their chances during the early innings by faulty base running and slow thinking. In the third and fifth rounds, opportunities to score were spurned by poor base running. The hitting of Bailey and Rives featured on the offensive while Mahood's catch of Donovan's low fly in the second inning was a neat feat. Bills' fielding featured for Cornell.

LAFAYETTE OVER- WHELMS GENERALS.

Outslugged and outfielded, the Generals suffered a telling defeat in the inaugural battle of the 1915 campaign with LaFayette Wednesday. Washington and Lee gained the lead by tallying one run in the opening inning, but LaFayette opened the succeeding session with a round of slugging and continued the fusillade until fifteen runs had been garnered. Bryan relieved Jennings, after the southpaw had served six innings, but failed to check the batting spree.

Girard twirled a steady game for the victors and was accorded jam-up support, Helfich's muff of Rives' hoist in the sixth being the lone misplay. While LaFayette fielded faultlessly, the Generals played erratically, seven errors being made among Mahood, Gallagher and Rives. The Generals secured but six scattered safeties, off

Girard—a double, three singles and two infield hits.

The chilly blast that swept the field and silenced the spectators did not interfere with the hitting of the Pennsylvanians and especially Third Sacker Helfich. During the afternoon's travail, the hefty third sacker hoisted a line drive over left field fence for a home run, slugged a double and drove out three singles. Edwards and Girard also registered three safeties each.

While Girard did not exhibit an amazing lot of smoke or curves he pitched with excellent judgment and squelched all the efforts of the Generals to retrieve the lost advantage. The touted hitting strength of the Washington and Lee was not in evidence at any time, for six wallops, which came in six different rounds, produced but one run. In the first inning, after Jennings had pulled out of a desperate situation by two successive strike outs, Young drew a walk and was sacrificed to second by Colville. A delayed steal gave him access to third. Gallagher was called out on three called strikes, but Rives hoisted a Texas Leaguer over third and Young counted the only run.

In the second inning, Lafayette took the lead, on errors by Gallagher and Mahood. With one down, Hunt singled. Brown grounded to Gallagher, whose wild throw to first, advanced Hunt to third. Girard's easy grounder to Mahood sifted through his legs, permitting Hunt to score. Edwards singled and Brown tallied.

For the next three sessions, Lafayette scored two runs in each inning.

In the sixth, but one run was secured. In the seventh, Bryan relieved Jennings, but the Pennsylvanians rapped the elongated right hander for two in that session and four in the final round. Wright doubled with the bases filled.

After the first inning, Washington and Lee did not get a runner past second base, despite the use of substitute batsmen in the ninth.

AUTOMATIC MAY REST

The mighty wrath of the automatic rule will hardly be in evidence this term. Although all of the second term grades have not been posted yet, it is expected that the law will not be enforced this term. The prevalence of the pink eye, which has prevented many of the students from consistency work in their subjects and in some cases prevented their taking any examinations, is the cause of this state of affairs.

SCANT NUMBER WILL ATTEND THE DANCES

Cotillion Club is Confronted With Problem—Few Girls

While the dates of the Easter dances have been definitely set as April 12 and 13, there is a remote possibility that the dances may be postponed or cancelled. At the present time, it seems that so few girls will be present to enjoy the events that the pleasure may be foregone. Very few acceptances have been received to the hops, from numerous invitations.

The Cotillion club will meet tomorrow to discuss the situation, while the "Thirteen Club" has called a special session for tonight. At the present time, there is little hope of having more than 15 girls present at the Easter cotillions. The V. M. I. Cotillion club, which feared for a time that the pink eye might prevent its Easter dances, has decided to carry out its programme and will, accordingly, have its annual dances Friday and Saturday night. It is reported that the cadets are confronted with the same dilemma.

While the Cotillion club has had the same conditions to contend with for the Easter dances every year, the situation has never been more acute. At the opening event in 1914, there were 38 couples. There seems to be scant hope for as many to attend the events this spring.

UNIVERSITY TO BUILD RESIDENCE FOR DR. RILEY

The University will build a residence for Dr. Franklin L. Riley professor of History, during the summer, for his occupancy next fall. The house will rest upon part of the site occupied by the old gymnasium and its erection will mark the beginning of the University toward the development of the campus toward V. M. I. A roadway, connecting Washington and Lee with the Institute parade ground will pass just in front of the new faculty house.

As much as the financial conditions will allow the University will erect residences for the members of the faculty, who are still without houses built by the college for their use.

CALYX URGES PAYMENT

Urgent appeals have been made by J. R. Neal, President of the Final ball, and J. E. Martin, business manager of the Calyx, to the students to pay their assessments. The subscriptions to the Final Ball became due on April 1, while the Calyx Assessments have been payable for some time. Prompt payments will relieve many difficulties attending the success of the two ventures.

WEST VIRGINIA NEXT

The University of West Virginia will inaugurate its southern trip with two games with Washington and Lee Friday and Saturday. The Mountaineers are expected to have a strong team. The University of Michigan follows West Virginia, playing next Wednesday and Thursday.

PRESIDENT SMITH TO SPEAK

President Henry Louis Smith will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting tonight at the Library. He has not announced the subject of his address. His addresses have been very interesting and instructive, and a strong attendance is expected.

LEXINGTON CAPABLE OF BEING IMPROVED SOME

This Fact Is Revealed at Literary Society Meeting—Men Must Die by Rope

The startling fact that Lexington could be improved was presented at Graham-Lee's opening meeting of the third term Saturday. M. W. Paxton, Jr., forced to speak extemporaneously on "Improvements Needed in Lexington," admitted that this bustling Virginia metropolis could be bettered in a few ways. He failed to see how any city could keep its streets better sprinkled, and marvelled that such a small town could have as many forms of amusement as are afforded by the "movies," the pool room and the swinging doors at the postoffice.

With a subject that was far from a dry one, G. W. Womeldorf declaimed on "Is a Turtle a Fish?" L. D. Arnold, the first extemporaneous speaker addressed the society on "The Present War and Prohibition."

While the Washington was engaged in deciding to hang men the Graham-Lee kept pace. With capital punishment as the point at issue, the affirmative strove hard to convince the judges that capital punishment was not the best kind of punishment for murderers, but the negative put forth stronger arguments and consequently won the debate. W. J. Cox, who was appointed to take the place of another, and William Lamont, were on the affirmative, while R. N. Latture and W. C. Preston ably defended the negative. The judges were C. P. Heavener, C. H. Miller and H. N. Rowan.

Washington on Open Third Term

The Washington Literary Society opened the third term of the session after an absence of three weeks, owing to the past examinations, with the inauguration of the new officers, D. A. Falk taking the chair as President.

By virtue of the absence of the declaimers, the programme was opened by an oration by A. L. Bennett, who had for his subject, the "Life of Jefferson Davis."

The debate, Resolved, "That Capital Punishment should be abolished," proved heated. The argument on both sides was exciting at times, the debaters for the affirmative holding that capital punishment should be abolished because it had done irrevocable wrong and did not meet any of the theories of a good punishment. The defenders of the negative came back with the argument that society could be protected only by capital punishment. E. S. Smith and Homer Powell argued for the affirmative against L. W. Harris and C. E. Worth for the negative. The judges, H. L. McGregor, M. P. Coe, and Samuel Wofsy, gave the decision to the negative.

The Secretary read a letter from the Columbian Literary Society of George Washington University. It wished to arrange a double debate with the Washington, one clash being held in Lexington and at the same time one being held in Washington, D. C. The society will decide at the next meeting whether to accept the challenge or not.

BUSY SEASON AHEAD FOR TRACK TEAM

Final arrangements have not yet been made for the meet with V. P. I. on April 17 but it is practically a certainty. Efforts to reach Coach Miles of the Techs yesterday failed on account of telephone wires being down between here and Blacksburg. Unless something unforeseen happens the meet will be held on Wilson Field one week from Saturday.

On April 23, representatives of the "Generals" will be sent to the Penn. Relay Games if their work between now and then will justify it. Hallman will probably be sent for the pole vault, and possibly others.

Although North Carolina has not yet signed the contract for the dual meet with W. and L. here on May 3, the meet is practically assured. Little is known here of the Tar Heels ability in track and their appearance here will cause a great deal of excitement among the track enthusiasts.

The big meet of the year will be the South Atlantic Intercollegiate which will be held in Baltimore May 7 and 8, on the Johns Hopkins track. Coach Fletcher says of this meet: "We expect to take every man who has a possible chance of making a point, and we expect to make a creditable showing although we have no hope of winning the meet." The season will come to a close with a dual meet with Johns Hopkins in Baltimore on May 15. Twelve men will probably be taken to this meet and there is reason to believe that the Generals will score a victory, as they have met the Baltimore athletes during the indoor season and have scored a number of victories over them.

This is the first year that Washington and Lee has had a regular coach for track and thus far most encouraging results have been made. Last fall the cross country team scored a striking victory over Virginia and V. P. I., then the indoor team won the point trophy in the George Washington meet in Washington in February, and made creditable showings in the Hopkins and Georgetown meets. Nearly all of the track men are new to the game, and are developing wonderfully under Coach Fletcher's able training. They have been seriously handicapped by the cold weather this spring, but expect to come through their first real track season with many honors for Washington and Lee.

BELL AND WORTH CHOSEN TO DEBATE TENNESSEE

Dr. Ayers Will Act In Selection of Judges.

The debating team to clash with the University of Tennessee in Knoxville on April 17 is fast getting its material into shape for the contest. The members of the team as finally chosen are: N. M. Bell, first speaker, C. E. Worth, second speaker, and R. N. Latture, alternate. Paul D. Converse, instructor in Economics, is acting as coach, and will probably accompany the team on the trip.

Dr. Brown Ayres, President of Tennessee and an alumnus of Washington and Lee, has been selected to represent this institution in the choice of the judges and in making other necessary arrangements. Further details will be announced later.

R. H. Fox, Travelling Secretary of the Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity, spent Friday and Saturday at the chapter house on Washington street.

INDIVIDUAL HITS SCORED IN PLAY

W. & L. Thespians Star in "Student's Wedding"

Reappearing after three years of inactivity, the University Dramatic Club presented itself in the High School Auditorium on the evenings of March 19 and 20. The play was "The Student's Wedding," a two act musical comedy by G. Stuart Braddock. The amateur thespians were under the personal direction of Mr. Braddock and were greeted on both nights by a highly appreciative audience of students and townspeople. The cast was composed of students of the University assisted, in the female parts, by several young ladies of Lexington.

The action of this little playlet centered about the love affair of a college student and a winsome country lass, and its progress was open to both pathos and humor. The inevitable result, a wedding in spite of family prejudices, was a happy finale which left the audience in a satisfied frame of mind. This mixing of the collegiate and rural was the cause of many a laugh on the part of the spectators.

Roy Bryant as "Frank Ralston" and Miss Mary Champe as "Ruth Hedges" carried off the leading roles in a real and pleasing manner. The latter's dainty beauty and shy attraction was the cause of no little comment as she portrayed both the unsophisticated country maid and the radiant young bride. Probably the biggest hit of the performance was Ted Shultz in the role of "Zeke," the hired man. His mere appearance was the sufficient cause for a gale of laughter. As "Samanthy Ann," W. K. Seeley was the only student taking a female part. His portrayal of his antiquated, frivolous, old character recalled pictures of the hoop-skirted dames of another age. Miss Dora Witt, as Sally Ann Pickle, scored a distinct hit in the delineation of the orphan, who was a quaint character on the old Vermont farm. Eddie Parks Davis was quite humorous as Deacon Hedges. Several musical numbers were rendered in each act by the chorus together with some novel steps and some of the late dances were gracefully demonstrated by C. L. Christian with Miss Nancy Pendleton. The Washington and Lee orchestra added to the success of the performance with its music during the intermissions. Another feature of the performance was the use of curtains parting at the center and drawn by pages, a practice which has come much into vogue of late in lieu of the usual drop curtain.

The management has been requested to stage the comedy again at a late date, and it is possible that the play may appear here during the coming month. Financially the play was not a very striking success.

The personnel of the cast is as follows:

Deacon Josiah Hedges, E. P. Davis; Philander Tickle Pitcher, Prof. H. B. Schermerhorn; "Hobo Kid," E. A. Donahue; Zekiel, E. B. Shultz; Rev. Reuben Lamb, M. R. Miles; Frank Ralston, Dick Bryant; Ned, L. W. Brandon; Ted, C. L. Christian; Bud, B. F. Woodruff; Matty, J. B. Wadsworth; Pat, E. P. Anderson; Ty, W. H. Barclay; Mrs. Josiah Hedges, Miss Jennie Hopkins; Ruth, Miss Mary Champe; Miss Watterson, Mrs. H. B. Schermerhorn; Sally Ann Pickle, Miss Dora Witt; Samanthy Ann, W. K. Seeley; Nell Parkman, Miss Nancy Pendleton; Jinks, Miss Virginia Moore; June, Miss Virginia Barclay; Peach, Miss Evelyn Champe; Rose, Miss Edmonia Leech.

UNIVERSAL PEACE WILL BE DISCUSSED BY LECTURE

Rev. A. W. Littlefield of Massachusetts, will deliver a lecture Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on "Kant's 'Essay on Universal Peace.'" The Physics lecture room, in the Engineering Building has been chosen as the place, owing to the great facilities the room has for the projection of lantern slides. The manipulation of the lantern will be attended to by Dr. Stevens.

The speaker is a Unitarian minister of Needham, Mass., whose interest in the Civil war caused him to recently visit Lexington. The subject chosen is especially timely in view of the European war, and a large attendance is expected. The students and friends of W. and L. have been cordially invited.

REVISED LIST OF ALUMNI SENT TO BOOST REUNION

To aid the Birmingham alumni campaign for a grand reunion for the 1915 finals, President Smith has forwarded to R. H. Thach a corrected list of the alumni of Washington and Lee. Suggestions have been made as to what alumni, the authorities feel at the various centers throughout the country, will evince the most interest in the reunion. Evidently the Birmingham committee is busily pursuing its course of arousing interest among the alumni in commencement week.

Reports from the south seem to indicate that financial conditions there will not materially interfere with the plans of the alumni, as signs of improvement have been noted.

FRESHMEN DISCARD BONNET

The last outward indicator of the freshman has been relegated into the discard. On Easter Sunday, the freshmen cast aside the distinctive bonnet and displayed a varied assortment of headgear on the boulevards as they passed by on review. Thus every restriction upon the members of the class of '18 has been removed, except that they will not be permitted to attend the V. M. I. dances.

Washington and Lee will enter the State Oratorical contest which will be held in Richmond in May. The preliminaries will be held about April 20. Virtually all of the Virginia colleges will enter into the competi-
