CONTINUANCE OF R. O. T. C. ASSURED

124 Men State that They Are Interested in Military Training—Major Tuttle Anxious to Meet Students Personally

The R. O. T. C. of Washington and Lee is going to be continued as part of the curriculum of the college. This announcement is the result of the vote cast on the question presented by Major Tuttle at the University Assembly last Friday. One hundred and twenty-four men out of 310 voted yes to the question, "State whether or not you will be interested in military training beginning September 1919."

The large number of affirmative answers to the query is a matter of much gratification to the administration, though there was nothing to indicate that the sentiment of the student body was against military training. With the above men interested in the project and the likelihood that the majority of the Freshmen entering college in September will elect military training instead of physical training, it is safe to predict that Washington and Lee will have an R. O. T. C. with an enrollment of about 150 to 200 men.

Major Tuttle is extremely anxious to meet personally every man in college whether he is interested in military training or not. Those men who stated that they would be interested in military training, he would like to have them call on him before the end of the scholastic term in order that he may understand in what particular phase of training they are interested, and provide for them accordingly. ### PROGRAM AND CROWD FOR FINALS IS BIGGEST EVER

Victory Reunion at W. and L. June 20-24 Will Be Unsurpassed—
At Least 300 Alumni Expected to Return.

EVENTS FILL FIVE DAYS ALUMNI GUESTS OF W. & L.

With "Victory Finals" but a scant month away the Washington and Lee man is finding it increasingly hard to apply himself along scholastic lines, and ever easier to turn his mind toward thoughts of the festivities ahead after the storm of exams has passed. Small wonder, for one glance at the program of events for commencement week is sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the historic town of Lexington is destined to witness a celebration such as has never before come within its borders.

The big show opens up on Friday, June 20 with the always enjoyed interfraternity dance, given by the fifteen national Greek letter organizations at Washington and Lee. Lewis Musgrove will lead this dance with Miss Mary Jim Strother, of Culpeper, Va., which will prove a welcome relief to exam worn students.

After a short intermission to allow time for sleep and breakfast, dancing will be resumed Saturday morning at eleven o'clock with the Gbon societies acting as hosts of Washington and Lee's fair guests and alumni. The figure will be led by B. N. Buford with Miss Lillian Shott, of Bluefield, W. Va. At five o'clock that

From the time he steps from the "Virginia Creeper" backing into Lexington until he boards an outgoing train sometime after the end of the Final Ball, the old W. and L. man returning to his Alma Mater for Finals will be the honored guest of Washington and Lee. Board, lodging, favors, luxuries are to be provided by the University authorities for all alumni during commencement week, that they may truly feel at home for the Victory Reunion.

The committee on alumni reception, headed by John L. Campbell '09, has worked out elaborate plans toward this end. A special tallyho manned by members of the reception committee will meet all trains and conduct the incoming guests of the University to their appointed home. Lee's Dormitory will be turned over as official alumni headquarters or "hotel", while the "Beanery" expects to pride itself on dishing up appetizing material substance to sustain the W. and L. men during the lively hours of commencement week.

The special feature of the program for Finals to alumni is announced in other columns; suffice it to say here that the old W. and L. man will certainly feel at home back on the campus. Badges, special emblems for men

GENERALS CLOSE IN GREAT STYLE

Graham Ends Career by Striking Out Seventeen of the Opposition—Generals Play Errorless Ball—Final Score 6 to 0

Washington and Lee brought their baseball season to a glorious close Thursday by defeating Concord State Normal in a well-played contest. Though the score was one-sided, the visitors put up a good article of ball, especially in the outfield. At bat, however, they were completely at the mercy of Merce Graham, who closed his career in a blaze of glory, allowing but three hits and striking out seventeen of the opposition. Not a man on the Concord nine was able to get beyond second. The Generals played errorless ball and registered their eleventh victory out of twelve games played, in a schedule representing the leading institutions of several states North and South.

The White and Blue team got an early start by scoring in the second inning when Sutton was hit, sacrificed to second and romped home in front of Henderson when Mat poked one on the tennis courts for a round trip. Henderson's improvement in his hitting has been a feature of the last few games.

In the third Yancey walked, stole second and scored when Mattox beat out a hit to first. Montgomery's throw to third being muffed by Peck.

After two were out in the fourth, Gregg walked, stole second and scored on Jones' single over short. Jones took second on the throw in and scored on Yancey's infield hit, which Sentz threw wild to Montgomery. Mattox scored Yancey with a long three-bagger to right. This ended the scoring for the Generals as the next man was an easy out.

At no time of the game were the stickmen of the Concord nine able to find Graham whose speed baffled the batters. Two of the hits chalked up against the tall boy were gotten by

INTERFRATERNITY BASEBALL STARTED

Phi Gams and S. P. E.'s Winners of Monday's Games by Scores of 6-1, 1-0 Respectively

Now that the Generals have closed their baseball season and to furnish some kind of diversion for the rest of the year, the fraternities have started their series for the championship in college. These games are usually of interest to all the members of the different fraternities on the campus as well as to the rest of the student body.

In yesterday's contest, which were the opening ones, the Phi Gams and the S. P. E.'s were victorious over the Phi Deltas and the K. A.'s respectively. Both games were good, though there were many errors as expected. The S. P. E.'s blanked their opponents while they were able to tally but one run, though this was plenty. Creedle occupied the mound for the Sigma Phi's and Thompson was located behind the bat. Red did some very good pitching and his support was not lacking. Paulett pitched for the Kappa Alphas with Price taking care of the receiving end.

The Phi Gams had no trouble in defeating the Phi Deltas, the score being 6-1. Fowlkes and Briscoe compose the battery for the successful nine. For the Phi Deltas, White pitched three innings and then retired in Benton's favor. Burns did the catching.

Both games were limited to five innings according to the rules. The semi-finals and finals will be regular 9-inning affairs. The series will extend over a period of probably two weeks and so the weary student will not be without some form of entertainment.

HEINZMAN ADDRESSES STUDENT BODY

Former Y. M. C. A. Secretary Speaks on the Challenge of the Hour, Which is a Call for Universal Brotherhood.

Major S. M. Tuttle and Mr. H. L. Heinzman, student secretary on the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. were the speakers at the University Assembly in the Chapel Friday morning. The continuance of the R. O. T. C. at Washington and Lee was the subject of Major Tuttle's speech and the main facts which he presented are found in an article published last week.

Mr. Heinzman has had a very responsible position with the Y. M. C. A. forces in France for the past three years, and the subject of his address was the challenge of the dead heroes in the great war to the young men of the present generation to do all possible for the growth of the ideals of democracy, fellowship and Christianity. Throughout the twenty minutes that he spoke he held the attention of his audience with the earnestness of his speech and the interest of the numerous incidents which he told.

"Wars will not end until men dedicate their lives to the great unfinished task," the speaker said. He said that he could not define this task in so many words, but as one part of it he said that labor holds, in reality, the forces of the world, and that unless it is dominated with a feeling of fellowship for capital, we cannot tell where this problem will lead us.

Mr. Heinzman emphasized the fact that it is much easier to die for a cause than to live for one. He said that it takes the finest kind of courage to go through life day by day with nothing to break the monotony of existence, as the British Tommies did in the Flanders mud. The slackers are those who can look on life in a selfish way after these men have given their lives for us—this is one point that he made perfectly clear to his audience.

One feature of the assembly was that the back seats had been roped in and labelled reserved, forcing those members of the student body, who are in the habit of occupying them, to find room nearer the front.

T. R. HAMILTON, '17, TO GO TO FRANCE

Young Alumnus Receives Appointment of Vice-Consul to Rouen—Will Sail June 6

Thomas R. Hamilton, '17, of Houston, Miss., and until his resignation from the University a few days ago, a student in the Law School, has received a federal appointment of Vice-Consul to Rouen, France, and clerk to the American Consulate in that city. He has made all necessary preparations for his departure and is now awaiting his passports. The appointee has orders to sail on June 6.

Hamilton received his B. A. degree from Washington and Lee in June 1917, and though not an intellectual star, he was a very consistent student, being the recipient of several scholarships in the various departments of the college. After his graduation he became the principal of a high school in Arkansas and his activities there were marked with high success. The war interrupted his pursuits. Upon his discharge from the service, Tommy, as he is better known, heard the college bells ringing, and back to Washington and Lee he came to study law.

The Ring-tum joins his many friends on the campus in extending to the new Vice-Consul the very best of wishes for a success in his new field of activity.

DIAMOND CUTS

W. & L. has finished her baseball schedule in true "Generals" style. Maryland State is the only school who can puff out their chest and say, "We beat the Generals." We have not been able to hear the talk down at V. P. I. about the way the "Generals" behaved toward them, but we can guess. We also guess that there are several other teams who are saying the same.

Needless to say Coach Raftery fainted and had hysterics when Henderson connected for four bags. "Bill" had to get out an old picture of Mat in order to see that the two were the same.

J. F. Woods, a member of the S. A. T. C. "Generals," played behind the bat for Concord. He played a good game, getting two hard chances that were fouled back of the plate.

Not dealing in personalities at all, but we wish, that, if ever Concord musters up courage enough to play the Generals in the future they would inform their center fielder where that position was located. It seems that the gentleman who filled that position on this trip got lost out under the trees in an effort to find the park and stayed there.

As a last line, the only thing that we have is a "Long yell for the Team." The Generals have done well and every member on the team deserves equal credit, along with Coach "Bill" Raftery.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

"Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to take from this life of Mortimer N. Wisdom, our friend and college mate, and honored trustee of the honored trustee.

Be it resolved, That we, the students of Washington and Lee University extend our heartfelt sympathy to WF Lam B. Wisdom, and to his family in their hours of sorrow and our regret to the University in the loss of a valued councillor.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased and also published in the Ring-tum Phi.

FINALS 1919

To commemorate victory, and the part Washington and Lee played in its consummation, to bring men whom the world has separated face to face with their old college mates again, to serve as a grand reunion for all W. and L. men, to celebrate a year just past and bid godspeed to those who are leaving their alma mater, to welcome back again those who have left a long or short time since, to give everyone who partakes the time of his life,—these and more are among the purposes of Finals 1919.

The Victory reunion promises to far outshine all former commencement occasions, both in the purpose and nature of the program and in the numbers who will participate. Names of W. and L. men old and young from far and near are pouring into the offices of the University; the most elaborate plans have been laid for entertainment of students, alumni, and all who will participate. Neither money nor time has been spared to make this Finals all that a commencement at Washington and Lee has ever been and more.

Well might it be so, for never has there been such an auspicious occasion for a grand reunion. The W. and L. men who played their part in bringing victorious peace to a troubled world will want to return to their alma mater now that their task is done to meet their old friends and celebrate a well earned vacation. Enthusiasm pent up during two years of war will burst forth to welcome the return of peace; and Washington and Lee has pledged herself to honor her returned heroes and celebrate the occasion which made it possible.

"For the college bells are calling, and I know they say to me,
'Come you back, you old alumnus, back to Washington and Lee'"

YOUR PRESENT JOB MR. ALUMNUS

Sure you're coming, Mr. Alumnus, if you are a Washington and Lee man and can possibly borrow enough money to pay your railroad fare to Lexington,—that's understood. The list of names in another column is encouraging, though it represents a comparatively small percentage of the W. and L. men who will be back to their alma mater in June.

Your job now is first of all to send in your name at once to N. D. Smithson, alumni secretary, if it does not already appear on this list. That's a good start. But the good tidings must be spread, and it's up to you to help spread them. How about writing ten letters to some of those old friends you know who ought to be back to help celebrate? Tell them you're coming, and put the proposition up to them. They've probably thought the thing over and need only a little urging to persuade them,—and believe us please when we say they'll never regret coming back for the Victory reunion. Yes we know, you've been planning to come back for a long time but somehow never got there,—but brother this is the year you don't want to miss.

Add your name to this list, NOW,—then help add somebody else's name too,—and it's a cinch that the overlaid trains backing into Lexington about the twentieth of June will get stalled about fifteen extra times coming up the hill.

THE COMMENCEMENT GIRL

From Virginia, north, south, east and west they will come for Finals to be happy and spread happiness on the campus of Washington and Lee. Every man who has or wants to have a girl should ask her for Commencement. After all it is the presence of these fair guests of Washington and Lee which contributes more than anything else to make our Finals what they are.

We are expecting you, waiting for you, Commencement Girl. All Washington and Lee will be here to greet you and enjoy your presence. May Southern chivalry and the music of old man Wright unite to make Finals mean as much for you as we know you will make it mean for us.

A NEW RECONSTRUCTION

The world-wide reconstruction that is following in the wake of the war will necessarily affect the South in a peculiar way. Nearly 300,000 negroes have been called to the military service of the country; many thousands more have been drawn from peaceful pursuits into industries born of the war; and several hundred thousands have shifted from the South to the industrial districts of the North. The demobilization of the army and the transition of industry from a war to a peace basis are creating many problems which can be solved by the efforts of both races. The Negro in adapting himself to the new conditions, should have the wise sympathy and generous cooperation of his white neighbors. It is to the interest of these as well as of the negro himself, that readjustment should proceed with the least possible difficulty and delay.

The Negroes' contribution to the welfare of the nation has never more been clearly indicated than by his services during the great war. When the call to arms sounded, his country expected him to do his duty, and he did not fail. Large numbers of black men on the fields of France made the supreme sacrifice for the cause of world democracy. In other war services the Negroes did their full share. Many thousands were employed in the building of ships, the manufacture of munitions, the construction of cantonments, and in the production of the coal, iron, cotton and foodstuffs without which victory would have been impossible. The Negroes' purchases of Liberty Bonds and War Saving Stamps and their contribution to the Red Cross and other similar agencies are in themselves a splendid record of which the negro and the white race may be justly proud.

It may also be appropriate in this connection to recall that throughout the period of hostilities the Negro was never suspected of espionage or sympathy with the enemy, and that he has been wholly indifferent to those movements fostered by radical aliens that aim at the destruction of the American form of government. This good record of the whole race deserves such publicity as will offset the common tendency to judge it by the short comings of some of its members. No people is spurred to higher things when habitually referred to in disparaging or contemptuous terms.

On several previous occasions the University Commission for the study of Race Problems has addressed appeals to the college men of the South for more justice and fair play for the

BY THE BANKS OF OLD NORTH RIVER

"By the banks of the old North River, winding lazy 'round the hill,
To the dear old college campus my thoughts are turning still;
For the college bells are calling and I know they say to me,
'Come you back, you old alumnus, back to Washington and Lee.'
'Shine me back to old Virginia, where the summer skies are blue,
Where the gods walk on the hilltops in the sunset's rosy hue;
Or I've heard their voices calling, and it's there that I would be,
In the shadow of the mountains, back at Washington and Lee."

WITH THE Y. M. C. A.

The "Y" meeting on Thursday night was addressed by Mr. H. L. Heinzman, student secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. The power of Christ as a Great Personality with special applications to college conditions was his subject and it was presented in a very interesting and helpful way. It is impossible for one to hear him speak and not be impressed with his earnestness and power as a man and speaker.

In the beginning of his address he told his audience that he had taken the following statement of John Mott's as the working basis of his evangelistic work: "Any man will accept Christ if he will accept him." He also said that the greatest thing one man can do for another is to introduce him to Christ.

Mr. Heinzman compared the Christian life to a football game, saying that it should always be a struggle and that the reverses which may come should only be incentives to renewed advances.

He called attention to the fact that practically all of the men at the front prayed. There is something in our natures which calls for assistance from a Higher Being when we are hard pressed, he stated in substance.

The power of the Y. M. C. A. for good and for wholesome influence upon the lives of college students was next discussed. Men enter college very much alike, and the influence of the "Y" will be a potent factor in determining the final product. "The presence of personality of Christ in a man will change him," emphasized the speaker.

Mr. Heinzman laid down as the duty of the Y. M. C. A. on all college campuses the task of giving to all students the proper picture of Christ.

FIRST GALLEY . . . . .

Interfraternity baseball will now furnish the entertainment for a while. A schedule has been posted and all "Frats" are busy shaping up their teams. The games will be only five innings, except the semi-finals and final, which will be a regulation nine inning game. Some of the fraternities have their teams in good training and are ready to meet all opponents. This series promises to be an interesting one.

Capt. "Shrimp" also played a grand wind-up game. The old-timer laced out a pair of bingles that figured in the scoring and also played an errorless game at the keystone.

Have a personal share in the future.

A WORD TO OUR FELLOW STUDENTS

This issue of the Ring-tum Phi is dedicated especially to the alumni, in the interests of the Victory reunion of commencement week. But don't think you are left out of the show, or if you did think so once just take another gaze on the program for Finals,—then heave a sigh of happiness and thank fortune which made you a Washington and Lee man. If you've paid your subscription there's nothing else to worry about, for all dances during Finals are free to Washington and Lee men,—your subscriptions and the University are taking care that things don't go bankrupt. Sometimes we think it is worth nine months of study and other things just to have five days of Finals tacked on the end,—that is when exams aren't on we think so. Only three and a half more weeks to wait,—twenty-four more days 'till Finals.

RETURNING ALUMNI TO BE REAL GUESTS

in the service, favors for the alumni ball, luncheons and all kinds of gatherings will each in its respective way occupy the time and person of the offspring of Washington and Lee.

Merce Graham celebrated his last game by whiffing 17 of the Concord batsmen. In fact there was something akin to the "Diamond Mystery" on those balls, and Concord did not possess a "hero" to ferrit it out.

The Ring-tum Phi

Lexington, Va., May 27, 1919

RING-TUM PHI NEWS NOTES

Captain James Kerns, U. S. Engineers, after long and active service in France, has arrived in this country and is visiting his parents, Professor and Mrs. James W. Kerns. His wife accompanied him to Lexington and they expect to be here for some time.

Rev. William M. Miller and Lieutenant Francis P. Milled are visiting at the home of Mr. W. M. McElwee. Lieutenant Miller went to France in 1917 as a Y. M. C. A. secretary, enlisted as a private in the U. S. Artillery, and has risen from the ranks to his present grade of first lieutenant. William Miller graduated from Washington and Lee in 1913 and was president of the student body during his last year here. He has been attending Princeton last session. Both brothers won their monograms on the Harry Lee boat crew during their stay at Washington and Lee.

FRESHMAN ELECTION CLOSE

Abrogast Will Lead the Paddle Wielders—Hainline Elected Executive Committeeman

In one of the closest elections on the campus of Washington and Lee, B. H. Abrogast, of Asheville, N. C., was elected to lead the Sophomore class of 1919, Jesse R. Hainline, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., to represent them on the executive committee, J. I. Jones, of Clifton Forge, Va., to assist the president, F. D. Russell, of Helena, Ark., to record the minutes of the meetings, and J. W. Miller, of Lexington, Ky., to compile the history of the men who will have charge of assimilating the Freshmen for next year.

The field was filled with candidates for the various positions and it is rumored that the president called the meeting for the election a few days ahead of schedule in order to keep the whole class from running.

Abrogast and Taliaferro were left to fight it out after Lee had been eliminated on the first ballot. The final count gave the elected incumbent 47 votes, while the defeated candidate received 45, thus losing by two votes. As close as this may seem, the race for vice-president was still tighter. Fitch was dropped in the first round, leaving Jones and Dawson surviving. The result of the second check gave Jones 46 votes and Dawson 45.

Hainline, Buskirk and Persons were the candidates for the coveted position of executive committeeman. Persons drew 28 votes in the first round and he being the lowest candidate in votes, was eliminated. Then Hainline was successful in the second count, receiving 54 votes, while Buskirk received 49.

Miller and Russell were the only candidates for the positions to which they were elected and each received over half of the votes cast.

The election was by secret ballot and on the same system as the student body election which was very commendable.

JUNIOR ADVOCATES SELECT OFFICERS

Townsend Elected President of Young Barristers.—Yancey Will Represent Them on Executive Committee.

Free from the noise and excitement which has characterized the class elections in the law school for the past years, the Junior Advocates assembled in Tucker Hall last week and elected F. D. Townsend president, J. M. Glickstein secretary-treasurer, Max Broudy, historian and Bob Yancey executive-committeeman.

Everything sailed along quietly until the nomination for historian, when the spirit of fun resulted in the nomination of nine of the men in the class for this position. As the standing ballot was adopted these candidates were excluded from the room and after they had made themselves conspicuous by their absence, there remained about six men to vote. Of course many of the candidates received no votes. Broudy was finally elected.

VICTORY FINALS TO BE GREAT-EST IN YEARS

Afternoon the Seniors are scheduled to hold their final meeting to perfect a permanent organization, possibly followed by the annual class banquet an hour later. The Graham-Washington Literary Society will hold its final celebration in the chapel at eight-thirty, F. C. Stipes, W. F. Parker and B. A. Davis being contenders for the final orator's medal, given annually by the University. The busy day will close at midnight after a dance given by the Sigma senior society led by Mercer Graham with Miss Sarah Lucas, of Roanoke.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached at eleven o'clock Sunday morning the 22nd by the Rev. W. Crosby Bell, former pastor of the Lee Memorial church and now professor in the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Alexandria. This is the only official function of the day, but Natural Bridge and other attractions will fill up any otherwise vacant hours for students, alumni and their fair visitors.

Monday, June 23, has been set aside especially for the alumni and the "Victory Reunion." The annual meeting of all alumni will be held at ten-thirty in the morning, followed at twelve-thirty by special exercises in the Lee Memorial Chapel in honor of Washington and Lee's part in the war. The committee in charge of alumni luncheon in the "Beanery" at 2 p. m. will be another attraction for old W. and L. men, following which old man Wright will make music on the campus while everyone talks over how he won the war.

The annual boat race between the Harry Lee and Albert Sidney crews will be called at 6 p. m., when the island will be flooded with respective supporters of red and blue. This regatta has always been one of the most exciting and interesting features of the commencement program and with both crews already in strict training and fast rounding into shape, the race this year should prove no exception to the general rule.

But the day is not over yet. At nine o'clock President Smith opens the doors of his home to receive seniors, alumni and their friends. Finally comes the Senior-alumni ball lasting until the wee hours of Tuesday morning have almost begun to grow big. George Wilson, president of the senior class, has the honor of leading his class figure with Miss Ada Tyler, of Fargo, North Dakota, while Charles S. Glasgow '13 will conduct the grand alumni promenade assisted by a fair partner whose name is to date a secret.

Now for the last day, and the biggest time yet! On Tuesday, June 24, the 136th session of Washington and Lee comes to a close. Formal commencement exercises will be held in the chapel at eleven o'clock and the Seniors receive their long-coveted sheepskins. Dr. William A. Ganfield, president of Centre College, Danville, Ky., will make the commencement address, while Charles Holt Taylor is to deliver the valedictory address for the class of 1919.

Then finally, at ten o'clock Tuesday night, James Rhea Fain, president of the Final Ball, will pull back the curtains with Miss Reeves Hammer, of Bristol, Tenn., while old man Wright starts on the home stretch of his terpsichorean activities. After a simple but attractive figure, dancing will begin, and go on, and on. Sometime Wednesday morning shortly before breakfast time everything will be over, even the Final Ball. After that it's anything, but some few may care to sleep an hour or so.

30 SONS OF W. & L. MAKE SUPREME SACRIFICE

Traditions of Institution Upheld By Its Alumni Who Died in the Service.

Washington and Lee's "HONOR ROLL" of students and alumni who have died in the service of the nation contains the names of thirty of the finest manhood in America. The University may well be proud of the record of her sons who have so well upheld the traditions of this time-honored institution. In 1917 as in 1775 and 1861, the campus lost scores of its finest young men and its alumni enlisted by the hundreds. The complete list of those who have made the supreme sacrifice follows:

KILLED IN ACTION

Paul Waples Derrickson, '15, lieutenant infantry, Norfolk, Va.

Josiah Poterfield Greene, '17 private, tank corps, Uvalde, Texas.

John Kirkpatrick, '15, lieutenant field artillery, Lynchburg, Va.

Lawrence B. Loughran, '11, Asheville, N. C.

Frank Murchison Moore, '14, lieutenant field artillery, Houston, Texas.

Herbert McKim Vest, '15, corporal, machine gun corps, Kerr's Creek, Va.

*Louis Moomaw Layman, '13, private, Canadian army.

*Kiffin Yates Rockwell, '11, lieutenant, Lafayette Escadrille, French Army, Asheville, N. C.

Clovis Moomaw, '12, lieutenant, infantry, Roanoke, Va.

DIED OF WOUNDS

Jay Frank Clemmer, '15, lieutenant, infantry, Middlebrook, Va.

Saunders Fleming, '07, captain, infantry, Lynchburg, Va.

John D. Harmon, '12, sergeant, machine gun battalion.

Charles Carter Ritcor, '14, lieutenant, infantry, Oatlands, Va.

DIED OF DISEASE

George Moncrief Anderton, '12, lieutenant, engineers.

Howard Baker Barton, '17, senior master engineer, Abingdon, Va.

George Marvin Betty, '13, private, infantry, Norfolk, Va.

Sidney M. B. Couling, '16, private, infantry.

Cyrus McLawson DeArmon, '12, private, infantry, Raleigh, N. C.

John Arthur Lingle, Jr., '15, captain, infantry.

Frederick Fagg Malloy, '14, Asheville, N. C.

Abraham C. McDougall, '07, apprentice seaman, Tallahassee, Fla.

George Gilbert Child, '19, private, S. A. T. C. Charleston, W. Va.

David A. Spotts, '19, private, S. A. T. C., Dublin, Va.

Frank B. Scraggy, '15, chief commissary steward, U. S. S. Martha Washington.

Marshall McClure Callison, '19, private, S. A. T. C., Greenville, Va.

*Died while in the service of other Allied Nations before the United States entered the war.

Superior Knowledge.

A young man was walking through a wood with a gun over his shoulder and his bag full of game which he had shot. He was not satisfied with what he had, and was looking for more, when an excited man with a large tin badge on which was inscribed the one word "Sheriff" came running up to him and demanded: "Haven't you seen the signs which I put up on the trees in this woods?"

"Oh, yes, I saw them," answered the young man: "they said 'No Hunting,' but I found some."

"Mat" Henderson put a final touch to his work of the season by knocking the horse-hide over the left field fence. Mat's first work as a shining light was in getting under a ball that came within any fifty yards of him in the field. Then he brought the stands to their feet a time or two by winging the pill all the way from deep center to the home plate to get his man. A circuit clout, the fourth of the season for the "Generals", was a good climax.

GENERALS CLOSE SEASON WITH VICTORY

Osborne, but even this aspirant was cut down in the last two times up for the best he could do was to fan the air.

Drye made a great double play in the third when he pulled down Mann's drive and stepped on the sack getting the runner out.

new commandant is a conversationalist of interest in his line of activity, and his acquaintance should be solicited by the men on the campus as the major himself is college bred. He can be found in his office in the Gymnasium from 9 in the morning to 4.30 in the afternoon, and should he happen to be out for a few moments the sergeants promise to entertain the caller with the humorous side of army life.
