STUDENTS TAKE EUROPEAN TOUR DURING SUMMER

Four Washington and Lee Men, Dr. F. F. Flournoy and Three Others Make Trip

STUDENTS UNION GUEST

Hospitably Received By Students In All University Towns That Were Visited

Professor F. F. Flournoy of the English department, this summer directed a tour through Europe, accompanied by four men from Washington and Lee, Joe Rucker, Ed Miller, Fred Avrack, and Paul Mertins, and three men from other universities. This trip was taken under the auspices of the National Student Federation of America, to promote international understanding and a closer acquaintance between European and American student. While in Europe the group was the guest of the European Student unions, whose hospitality did much to make the trip enjoyable.

The itinerary took in the great university towns of Germany, France, Switzerland, and Austria. After sailing from New York, June 18, on the Holland-American steam ship Veendam, with a number of other Federation groups. Professor Flournoy and his party landed in Rotterdam, Holland. They then went to Germany where they were the guests of the German Student unions.

In all, seven weeks were spent in Germany and Austria, principally in the university towns of Hiedelberg, Jena, Berlin and Vienna. Five days were spent in Geneva, Switzerland, and a week in Paris. Everywhere the group was welcomed either by students or professors of the various universities, and many times by the mayors of the cities or their representatives. Parties and entertainments were also given them by the cities or the students.

The president of the German Reichstag stayed in Berlin three days after the adjournment of the legislature in order to welcome the visiting students. In Versailles, they were met by General Eon, a French hero of the World War, who accompanied them on their tour through the city and its environs.

The group landed in New York September 4 on the Holland-American liner Rotterdam, sailing from Boulogne, France. More than two and a half months were spent on the trip.

Professor Flournoy intends to take another group over to Europe next year. The itinerary, however, will be completely changed. It will either consist of a tour through England, Spain, Morocco, and France, or England, the Rhineland, Switzerland, and France.

Function of College Is to Aid Students

The function of a college, not as an educator of young men, but rather as an aid and opportunity for self-education, was the theme of an address by Dr. George Barton Cutten, president of Colgate university, at convocation exercises marking the beginning of the university's 108th year.

"All education is self-education," said Dr. Cutten. "No one can educate you; you must educate yourself, if you are to be educated. If you come to college with the idea that here I am, educate me if you can, you are doomed to failure as far as education is concerned. No professor, no college can force education upon you."

"Hundreds of young men are entering college this year who will refuse to draw upon their talents and the utmost the college can do will not suffice to educate them." On the other hand, hundreds of young men who are not privileged to go to college will, because of the constant demand upon their powers, become educated.

"Of course, the secret of education so far as concerns the part which the college can contribute is to inspire a love of learning. It is here where we can most clearly discern the difference between the good and the poor teacher. Teachers, like poets, are born, not made. Unfortunately there are only about one-tenth enough good ones to go around, and a college can never obtain 100 per cent of inspirational professors. A student in college is fortunate if he meets one in his college course."

SOPHOMORES NOTICE

All sophomores wishing to try-out for the business staff of the RING-TUM PHI get in touch with Franklin B. Gilmore at Sigma Chi house at once. Permanent selections will not be made for some time, and competition is open to all.

Little Generals Working Hard Now For V. P. I. Battle

Intensive Training Program On In Full Swing No Line On Players Given Yet

Coach Davis has been sending his fresh candidates through stiff drills every afternoon for the past two weeks, but yet he has not decided on any team. The men have been going through fundamentals of the game such as falling on the ball, live tackling and blocking and passing the ball around. By the middle of next week coach Davis expects to have gotten enough line on the "Baby Blue and Whites" to formulate some idea as to the merits of the individuals.

Mike Palmer has been helping Coach Davis with the backfield candidates until his time was called on the varsity field to tutor the varsity backs. Assistant Coach Palmer states that the Little Generals have some very promising men out and should have a representative eleven.

With such men as coaches Davis and Palmer devoting their time to the Little Generals they should make rapid strides and be in readiness for the opening contest against the V. P. I. frosh on October 14, on Wilson field.

There are about fifty men coming out regularly, and coach Davis reports a number of promising prospects.

The squad will engage in hard scrimmage sessions regularly now, both with the varsity seconds and among themselves, and should be well primed for the initial game.

Coach Davis is using the varsity system so that the frosh will be experienced with it when spring training begins next March with Coach Herron handling them.

From early appearances the freshmen will have a light, fast team this year, but thus far there has been no indication of lack of driving power, and everything points to a successful season.

Troubadours Select "Easy Come, Easy Go" For Fall Appearance

Plans for the annual Thanksgiving presentation of the Troubadours are well under way. Eighty-five men were present Monday night for the preliminary try-outs for parts in the show, "Easy Come, Easy Go," by Owen Davis. This play is the most recent of this popular author's works and it has just recently been released for stock companies and amateur associations. It sustained a popular run on Broadway last winter and was pronounced one of the hits of the season.

At the try-out no definite decisions were reached as to parts. A few men are being held tentatively but the majority of the tryouts are still under consideration. Those who reported Monday night, if wanted back for further elimination tryouts, will receive notice by mail of the time of the next meeting.

T. B. Thames, president of the Troubadours, announced that everything is running smoothly and that the Student Body can be assured that the production will be even better than last year's.

Van Gilbert is handling the scenery end of the show with the assistance of George Atwood as technical manager.

Ethan Allan is organizing an eighteen piece orchestra which will soon begin practicing in conjunction with the production, and will go on as a regular part of the performance.

Saturday's Ring-Tum Phi will carry an announcement of any parts in the cast definitely assigned, and also the schedule for rehearsals which will commence Monday.

35 Reported For Cross Country

Approximately thirty-five men reported to Coach Fletcher Monday for cross country practice. The Varsity and freshmen are practicing together for one hour, beginning on Wilson field at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

WEST VIRGINIA GAME PROMISES TO BE FEATURE

Large Advance Sale Of Tickets As Mountaineer Encounter Approaches W. & L. Alumni Get 650 Seat Block

The coming game with West Virginia promises to be by far the most spectacular of the most contests between the two universities. Tickets are at a premium, and it is expected that the stadium, never before filled, will in this game be packed to its ten thousand capacity. Graduate Manager Smith found it necessary to order another block of tickets, the first that were sent to him having been taken up in advance.

In Charleston, many business houses formerly ordered large blocks of tickets to be distributed among their friends. This year, however, Dr. H. A. Stansbury of West Virginia university, who has charge of the distribution of the pastebords, has limited the number of tickets to go to firms and individuals.

The Washington and Lee alumni, formerly covered by an allotment of 500 tickets, have raised their requirements at Charleston and Lexington to a total of 650. This indicates that the claim of a great Blue and White team is not an idle one. The Washington and Lee side of the field promises to be filled with the followers of the "Big Blue Team" this year.

Twenty-five members of the team, accompanied by Coach "Pat" Herron and Captain "Dick" Smith, will leave Lexington Friday night for their West Virginia invasion. Coach Herron has been running the team through arduous practice this week, and has perfected a number of new plays which will be shot against the "Mountaineers" for the first time. The Generals are primed for their meeting with the "shifless" West Virginia team, and there is no doubt in the minds of the players, concerning a hard fought contest. Coach Herron expects to run two separate backfields for the game, and will keep a stiff driving game throughout the fray.

This encounter will mark the third and last time that Captain Tips, Spotts, Stearns, Barclay, Fisher, Latham, and Howe will face the Mountaineers on Laidley field, so it is a certainty that the West Virginians will have to look to their laurels against men who intend to fight on a victorious Washington and Lee team. It is five years since a Blue and White team fought West Virginia to a standstill in a 12 to 12 tie, and this year the W. & L. rooters and team are looking forward to a greater game with the "Big Blue team" on the long end of the score.

The Laidley stadium will be well supplied with music by the West Virginia Cadet Corps band. Several hundred Mountaineer students and fans are planning to make the trip to Charleston to see the annual clash. In Lexington, the W. & L. students are scouring up cars and "lifts" to convey them to Charleston, and many are going by train. Enough rooters are availing themselves of the cut system to make the showing in the cheering section a large and clamorous one.

Parties and dates after the game are being fast arranged so that the night after the game will hold plenty of enjoyment. Several dances will be given for the visitors and alumni of both schools, so all those who are desirous of making the best of their trip will find that the possibilities are numerous.

First Informal To Be Held October 8

The first informal of the 1927-28 session will be given by the Cotillion club on Saturday evening, October 8, the night of the Duke-Washington and Lee game. The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Southern Collegian orchestra under the leadership of T. G. Gibson.

There will be but two football informals this fall. The second informal, which will be sponsored by the Monogram club, will be given the night of the Virginia-Washington and Lee game, Saturday, November 5. Due to the fact that this year's schedule includes only these two games in Lexington, plans are made for these two football informals to be the best for some time.

CLOSE TO TWO HUNDRED MEN PLEDGED HERE

Although One-Hundred Less Freshmen Were Admitted Than Last Year, Over Thirty More Join Frats

There have been 197 men pledged to the twenty fraternities on the local campus thus far. Last year at the same time only 163 men had been pledged, though a hundred more freshmen were admitted than this year. From this, it can be seen that there is a much higher percentage of fraternity goats this year.

The following is a list of each fraternity and its pledges:

Phi Kappa Psi
K. McIntyre, Chicago, Illinois; W. Hill, Chicago, Illinois; J. Durham, Amarillo, Texas; G. Munn, Amarillo, Texas; E. Goldsmith, Charleston, W. Va.; G. Berry, Charleston, W. Va.; H. Brundage, West Orange, N. J.; G. Montgomery, Lewisburg, W. Va.; A. Veech, Louisville, Ky.

865 Men Have Now Enrolled

The total number of men enrolled for the current session at Washington and Lee has now reached 865. Of this number 325 are freshmen.

A slight decrease from the number enrolled at this time last year is a clear indication of the fact that the University authorities have tightened the entrance requirements. This was found necessary when so many students fell by the wayside, when struck by the "automatic" last year because they failed to meet the Washington and Lee scholarship standard. It is expected, according to the Faculty, that this careful selection of students will increase the scholarship average within the University.

FRESHMAN NOTICE

There will be a meeting of Freshman class in the Lee Chapel Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of electing class officers. All freshmen are requested to be present.

Work on Bridge Now Shows Results After Over Month's Labor

$10,000 To Be Raised By November If Work Is To Continue To Completion

Work on the Wilson Field bridge has now been underway a little more than a month and though the first stages are always the slowest, it is beginning to show results. From now on the construction will be faster and those in charge expect to have it completed before January 1.

The initiative taken by the Student Body last year has given the memorial bridge a good start, but the success of its completion depends on the payment of the outstanding pledges. It is a Student Body project and Graduate Manager Smith urges that each and every undergraduate and faculty member feel a personal pride and realize his responsibility.

The total cost of the bridge will be $31,000, and to continue with the work it is necessary to raise the required $10,000 before November 1. The financial plan arranged makes this possible, and "Captain Dick" feels sure of its success if each individual will assume his share in the undertaking and make good his pledge of $10.00 immediately. Notices of payments will be mailed out the latter part of this week by Verbon Kemp, alumni secretary.

Record Crowd For Charleston Game Looms As Certain

The advance sale of tickets on the so-called "preferential" list for the West Virginia-Washington and Lee game Saturday, including mail sales Mountaineers alumni and others in the southern part of the New Dominion in the neighborhood of Charleston, is expected to total close to 5,000 when the final figures are announced. Until Wednesday of last week the paid admissions on the early sale amounted to 3,900, according to figures from the office of Harry A. Stansbury, director of athletics at the Mountaineer institution.

Laidley Field has a permanent seating capacity of 14,000, and the affair this year promises to be more of a "sell-out" than ever, if early indications of the prospective crowd can be taken for a guide. Twenty ticket agencies have been placed throughout West Virginia at strategic points, and the Charleston agency alone put in its application for 5,000 of the pastebords, Director Stansbury's office stated.

No game on the West Virginia schedule, not even the Lafayette, W. and J., or Tech features, has attracted the proportionate advance interest that is being manifested in Saturday's struggle, those in charge added.

Executive Committee Holds First Meeting Of Year Last Friday

Dance Control Committee Selected Regulations To Be Published Saturday

The Executive committee of the Student Body held its initial meeting of the year Friday night. The meeting marked the entrance of several new members into this body. Problems of the session of 1927-28 were discussed and the Dance Control committee for the coming year was picked. The second meeting of the Executive committee was held last night at 7:30 o'clock in Washington college.

The members of the new Dance Control committee will be announced in a few days and a list of these members and the dance regulations will be published in the next issue of the Ring-Tum Phi. The attention of the Student Body and especially of the freshmen is called to these regulations, so that there will be no infringements of the rules at the first informal on October 8.

ANNUAL BATTLE IS FOURTEENTH BETWEEN RIVALS

Mountaineers Have Won Nine, Generals Three, and One Resulted In Tie

CHARLESTON AGAIN SCENE

Last Three Games Have Resulted In Shutout Victories For Mountaineer Grid Machines

When the Generals lock horns with West Virginia in Laidley stadium at Charleston Saturday it will mark the fourteenth meeting of these two universities on the gridiron, their games covering a period of thirty-two years. Of the thirteen past encounters the Mountaineers have won nine, the Blue and White three, and one, that in 1922, resulted in a tie at 12 all. West Virginia has won the last three games by shut-out scores, 6-0, 21-0, and 18-0.

The Old Dominion and the New Dominion eleven's dashed for the first time in 1895, with the Mountaineers winning by a 28-0 score at Charleston, which has been the scene of all of the Mountaineer and Generals combats. A lapse of two years occurred before the state capital witnessed another battle between these rivals, and again West Virginia was returned the victor, this time by a 14-0 score. The universities did not meet again until 1902, when the Mountaineers were returned the winner for the third consecutive time, and by a 17-5 count.

For over a decade these natural rivals did not meet on the gridiron, and when the Generals did come to Charleston in 1913, they proceeded to turn the tables by winning a decisive 28-0 victory there by chalking up the largest margin, with the exception of the 1923 game, in the history of Washington and Lee-West Virginia football. The first taste of victory must have been sweet for the Lexington eleven proceeded to win the following year, in the most bitterly fought game of the series by an 8-6 score. The season of 1915 saw the Generals recording their third consecutive triumph at the expense of the Mountaineers.

The elevens have met annually during the last seven years and in this time West Virginia has not lost a game to Washington and Lee. Nineteen hundred and twenty marked the resumption of the football rivalry between the schools and the Mountaineers were victorious in one of the closest of games which ended 14-10, mainly through the brilliant work of Joe Harrick, "Leaping Joe," who successfully blocked a punt and recovered single touchdown for a 6-0 score. In 1925, West Virginia won handily, 21-0, from a team that defeated the

Foremost Officials To Work Saturday

That the "Washington and Lee-W. Virginia football game is ranked as one of the best in the East on this particular date is indicated by the type of officials assigned to the game. J. J. Cosgrave, of Cornell, who has refereed this contest for several years, will again officiate. Cosgrave, who lives in New York City, is rated as one of the most capable officials in the game, and handles many of the big Eastern games during the season.

W. S. Gooch, of Charlottesville, Va., will handle the umpire's horn. Coach is a graduate of the University of Virginia and is recognized as one of the best of Southern conference officials.

D. B. Dougherty, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will act as head linesman. Dougherty is well known as an official in the Tri-State district. He not only works football games, but is a noted basketball and boxing referee. Dougherty is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college, where he was a backfield star several years ago.

DEBATING COUNCIL TO HOLD ELECTION FRIDAY

Mr. M. C. Bauer, professor of public speaking, who will coach the debating team, announced that there will be a meeting of the Debating council, at 7:30 o'clock Friday to elect a manager and make all possible arrangements. Mr. Bauer is in correspondence with some of the English debating teams, and hopes to be able to make negotiations for a debate such as was held last year with the Oxford team.

LOYAL ALUMNI

STUDENTS and alumni attending the annual Washington and Lee-West Virginia game in Charleston are promised plenty of entertainment, according to word received here from several members of the local alumni association residing there.

Chief among the attractions carded for Saturday night is the alumni dance, sponsored by the Charleston chapter of the association, at which Coon Sanders and his justly famous Night Hawks will play. The members of the football squad will be the guests of honor at this affair, and it is promised that alumni from throughout that section of the state will be out in hordes to make the evening one of the most enjoyable to be had by the Blue and White warriors at any city this season.

Once again the Holley hotel will be W. and L. headquarters, and the hospitality of this establishment, only too well known to those who have journeyed over the mountains in previous years, will be at the disposal of the Generals and their followers.

The alumni chapter at Charleston is keenly disappointed that it appears improbable at present that a special train will be run to the scene of the fracas, but that organization is hoping that hundreds of students will make the trip by regular train or automobile regardless. Last year, although no special was run, there was a representative crowd of students on hand, and they, with the throngs of alumni, make up a sizable crowd that cheered the W. and L. gridders from start to finish, regardless of the trend of the game. Interest in the game has been late developing this year, but nevertheless present indications are that over a hundred students will be in the stands at Laidley Field at the kick-off.

Let the students—all who are able—make the trip, and prove to the Big Blue and to the alumni who so ably provide for the undergraduates' entertainment in the West Virginia city that they are fully appreciative of their efforts, and that they believe that, since the Mountaineers have abandoned the questionable shift system, the elevens will meet on equal terms, with the odds, if any, in favor of the Old Dominion machine.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

THE inauguration this week of the most comprehensive intramural sports schedule ever attempted by the department of physical education in the history of the University marks one of the greatest steps forward taken by that department in recent years.

While it is too early to state accurately the number of undergraduates who are availing themselves of this opportunity to take part in some form of organized athletics, yet it is evident to even the most casual observer that the plan is being received with enthusiasm, and the attendance at the various practice periods shows that the plan is filling a long-felt need at Washington and Lee.

Professor Fletcher and his aides in the project are to be congratulated on the step, and the school realizes that it means much more in the way of supervisory effort on the part of the directors than is entailed by the mere holding of gym classes. It was in an effort to give every man a chance to exercise his physical abilities along lines most pleasant to him that the system was installed, those in charge realizing that for the best results to accrue a man must enjoy the activity as well as merely participate.

NO DOGS ALLOWED

WASHINGTON and Lee's latest administration dictum, "No Dogs Allowed," evidenced by the placards placed at strategic points on the campus, is welcomed heartily by the entire student body. For the past several years the presence of numerous hounds sporting in front of Washington College and Newcomb hall has become more and more of a nuisance, until the situation came to be beyond the category of a joke, and the attempt to alleviate the obnoxious condition is a laudable one.

Cigarette Lighter Ignites Pocket Of Commerce Student During Class

Students of Washington and Lee—beware of automatic cigarette lighters!

Such is the advice proffered by a student of the Commerce school after an experience he had Monday morning in class.

According to the gentleman concerned he dropped one of these guaranteed-to-light-occasionally affairs into his pocket in his usual nochalant manner. Several moments later smoke was seen issuing from said student's pocket.

"You're right hot!" ventured a nearby collegian.

The student, however, doesn't feel so "hot" over the prospect of the new suit that must take the place of the one which was badly burned when the lighter ignited, and while not craving undue publicity personally, deemed it his duty to make the affair public in an honest effort to protect his fellow "Minks" and to enable them, if possible, to guard against similar occurrences in their own pockets.

University Band Is To Be Larger

The University band, from all indications, will be even larger than last year's organizations. Much favorable comment was heard on all sides upon its appearance last Saturday. Harold Slanker, the leader, has announced that although he has 35 men now out he wants to bring the total up to 50 by the end of the week.

Practices are being held Thursday afternoons at 5 o'clock and Tuesday evenings at 7:15. Any one with any ability whatsoever is urged to come out at once, especially those who were in the band last year. Slanker emphasized the fact that the organization wants upperclassmen as well as freshmen.

Plans for the season are not yet absolutely definite but a trip to Blacksburg for the V. P. I. game is practically certain. The Athletic Association is seriously considering the possibility of sending the band to Washington for the Maryland game. As a large percentage of the Student Body expects to attend this clash on October 29, every effort will be made to send the band along.

Slanker also announced that the uniforms have already been ordered and will arrive shortly.

Under certain circumstances nothing is so tortuous as a vivi dimagination.

Miss Rockwell Is Acting Librarian

Miss Helen A. Rockwell will be university librarian in the absence of Miss Blanche P. McCrum, who has been granted a year's leave to study in Boston university. Miss Rockwell was formerly cataloguer of the library.

Miss Rockwell announces that this year there will be circulation of books from nine A. M. to 10:30 P. M., with overnight books also to be circulated, as was allowed two years ago. Mrs. Lawrence E. Watkin has been added to the staff, and will have charge of the library of the School of Commerce.

Many new books have been ordered to meet the needs of the different university departments, especially for the newly organized classes in public speaking. Among the most interesting books newly received for general reading are the following: "Exile," by Mary Johnston; "Death Comes to the Archbishop," by Willa Cather; "Circus Parade," by Jim Tully; "The Rise of American Civilization," by C. A. and M. R. Beard; and two anonymous books, "Miss Tiverton Goes Out," and "This Day's Madness."

Most of us work all right after we get started, but we're hard to start.

Even if we aren't really happy it's better all around to pretend that we are.

Fifty Answer To Initial Try-Out For Troubadours

The first of a series of tryouts for the Troubadours, the Washington and Lee dramatic organizations, was held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, in the lower corridor of Newcomb hall. The tryouts were held in the three respective divisions of the organization, Glee club, Orchestra, and Dramatic club.

Members of the organization, who viewed the tryouts included T. B. Thames, president of the club, who presided over the meeting, T. G. Gibson, business manager, E. H. Miller, who is in charge of the Glee club work, and Ethan Allen, leader of the orchestra.

The tryout were put on a purely competitive basis, into which some fifty students entered. Trial parts were given to one or two entrants, separately, during the same period, before a committee of decision in order to compare the new men.

The second tryout of this series will be given at some time in the near future, as very few, if any, final decisions were reached at this meeting.

Varied Program For Graham-Lee

An interesting program, consisting of short speeches, brief addresses, and pointed discussions, has been arranged for Saturday's meeting of the Graham-Lee literary society. Included on the program are:

A discussion of current events and national problems by H. B. Busold. J. W. Tankard will deliver a short oration, the subject of which has not yet been chosen.

N. E. Hawes and A. C. Junkin will give extemporaneous speeches on leading issues of the present time.

To conclude the program, M. H. MacBryde will deliver an impromptu speech.

These meetings are held with the interest of promoting oratorical statesmanship and public speaking. The society meets every Saturday night at 7:30 in the society rooms on the third floor of Washington college. The meetings are neither philosophical nor esoteric, and all members of the Student Body are invited.

Officers Chosen By Troubadours

Tommy Thames Elected President Parker and Battle New Vice-President

Failure of two Troubadour officers, elected last spring, to return to school this fall, was the cause of an election held by the organization in Newcomb Hall recently.

T. B. Thames, '29, was elected president of the Troubadours. Thames will fill the vacancy left by W. A. MacDonough who is now playing in "Artists and Models" on the Century Roof in New York City. Thames as a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and had a prominent part in the successful "Stolen Sweets" musical comedy last spring.

F. T. Parker, '29, was elected vice-president of the glee club, and will fill the vacancy caused by the absence of J. P. Whitson. Parker is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and was in the glee club last year.

W. P. Battle, '30, was elected vice-president of the dramatic club and will fill the vacancy caused by the election of T. B. Thames to president. Battle is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and played the part of leading lady in "Stolen Sweets" last spring.

Plans are now under way for the production of the Thanksgiving Troubadour show, and also the Easter show.

The full personnel of the Troubadour executive committee is now as follows: T. B. Thames, president; T. G. Gibson, business manager; J. A. Rucker, property manager; Eddie Cohen, production manager; Ethan Allen, vice-president orchestra; E. T. Parker, vice-president glee club; W. P. Battle, vice-president dramatic club; W. M. Garrison, publicity manager.

Y. M. C. A. SOCIAL SATURDAY

The entertainment committee of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a social for the freshman class Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Y quarters in Reid hall, announcement today stated. An attractive program for the evening has been arranged by the committee in charge, and plenty of girls, music, and refreshments are promised those attending.

Alumni Magazine Finishing Third Successful Year

Washington and Lee's Alumni magazine is just finishing its third year of successful publication, during which time it has been entirely self-supporting, the magazine was founded with the idea of promoting alumni interest in the school.

Verbon Kemp, the Alumni association secretary handles the Lexington end of the publication. The present circulation is over eleven hundred, he stated, and is growing steadily. The magazine started with no more than five hundred subscribers. A practice is made of sending every fifth issue as a summer bulletin to every member of the Alumni whether subscriber or not. These bulletins have always been well received, the past summers' in particular. It contained articles by Judge McDermott, Mathew Paxton, and others who are well known both to undergraduates and alumni.

To obtain a subscription to the magazine it is necessary to pay only the regular dues of the Alumni Association.

Collegians To Have 14 Piece Orchestra

Students and their guests at the opening informal of the year here will be greeted by a fourteen piece Southern Collegian band, Manager T. G. Gibson announced yesterday. Seven men from last year's organization have returned to school, and with almost twenty candidates reporting for practices in an effort to gain places among the seven positions to be filled, prospects appear bright for an orchestra of a calibre which has never been surpassed in the history of the Collegians.

Rehearsals are being held three times a week. Novel and original musical scores of the latest popular dance hits are being arranged by Ethan Allen. Manager Gibson is booking a trip through North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee for the Christmas holidays.

The men back from last year's orchestra are, Gibson, manager and director, Allen, Gresham, White, Slanker, Steuterman, and Morrison.

- ed it for the winning touchdown. The 1921 combat was not so close with West Virginia on the long end of a 28-7 score. The 1922 West Virginia eleven, which was undefeated and which played a post-season game on the Pacific coast, was held to a tie by the Generals, the 12-12 score being the only blemish on the Mountaineer's record for that year.
- The following season found the Morgantown eleven reeking vengeance on a hapless Lexington team by a 63-0 count, a figure which exceeded the sum total of all points scored against Washington and Lee by West Virginia in twenty years. The 1924 combat was a bitter one with the Mountaineers emerging victorious in the last few minutes of play by a University of Virginia and V. P. I., in other thrilling contests. Last year, the Mountaineers won an 18-0 victory
