

TIPS, SPOTTS MAY PLAY ON ALL-SOUTHERN

General Stars May Leave December 17 To Play Against Western Team in California.

RAUBER SCORED IN 1926

Coach Wade, Alabama, in Charge of All-Senior Players—Three Other Virginians Included.

Captain "Horse" Tips and Babe Spotts, football players de luxe of the Generals yesterday received telegrams from the coaches of the All-Southern Senior football team which will meet the All-Western Senior aggregation in California on Christmas, asking them if the faculty would permit them to make the trip if they were selected. Both men have secured the dean's permission to go.

The All-Southern team will be composed entirely of seniors from the football teams of the Southern Conference. Coach Wade of Alabama has charge of the undertaking and on December 10, with the aid of two other Southern Conference coaches, will select the team from the players who will be able to make the trip. The squad will leave Tuscaloosa, Alabama on December 17, allowing the men time to develop some team work. Whether or not Spotts and Tips are selected, the fact that they were considered is a great honor in itself, both for them and the University.

"Ty" Rauber, Captain of the 1926 Generals, made a similar trip last year and distinguished himself by kicking a field goal for the only score of the Southerners. Tips first sprang into prominence by his great game against Princeton last year and was rewarded by honorable mention on the All-American and a position on Bill Roper's All-Star team made up of the best that opposed Princeton throughout the season. This year he has further distinguished himself by his great all-around play in every game. He has been awarded a place on the All-South Atlantic for this year.

It is a generally known fact that Babe Spotts is perhaps the greatest all-around athlete in the South today. As an end on the varsity football team of Washington and Lee for three years, his ability to catch passes from anywhere has made him one of the greatest offensive threats of the Southern Conference. He has also stepped into the limelight as a punter, and passer, making him a triple threat man. His mention comes as a fitting reward for his brilliant work in the Generals' lineup.

Three other players from Virginia elevens were among the twenty-nine men tentatively chosen. These were Captain Shep Mondy, V. M. I. center, Captain Bick Cardwell, Virginia tackle, and Miles, V. P. I. tackle and guard.

Coaches Wade, of Alabama, McGugin, of Vanderbilt, and Alexander, of Georgia Tech, will be in charge of the Southerners in their battle against the Pacific stars, and the squad will train at Tuscaloosa, Ala., beginning December 17.

The wire received by Captain Tips and Spotts read as follows:

"Your name has been suggested for the Senior All-Southern eleven to play in Los Angeles, December 26. Please wire collect if you are selected if you will report in Tuscaloosa without fail morning of December 17. All expenses will be paid. Final decision will be made December 10 by Coaches McGugin, Wade and Alexander."

College Educated Cops In Demand

University of Chicago students, if big and brawny, need not worry about jobs after leaving college. Michael Hughes, chief of police, has invited them to join the force. Why shouldn't they? asks Mr. Hughes. "The policeman works only eight hours a day and is paid during illnesses. A patrolman gets a minimum of $2,200 which is not to be sniffed at. Many college graduates start at much less than that." The Berkeley, Cal., police force makes a speciality of hiring college men, and stresses the social service phase of the work.—(N.S.S.)

Decorations For Thanksgiving Set Of Dances Ready

Decorations for the Thanksgiving dances are completed. Long green, orange, blue and yellow streamers, turkeys, corn stalks, and colored leaves are packed in readiness for the corps of student decorations who will transform the gym into an autumnal paradise tomorrow.

At each end of the dance floor large imitation turkeys will stand facing the dancers. Above the merry-makers many colored streamers will serve as a background for the frieze of an autumn scene, with turkeys, colored leaves, and corn stalks.

The Thanksgiving dances open with the Sophomore prom Friday night at 9 o'clock. Harvey Williams with Miss Nannie V. Jackson of Richmond, Va., will lead the figure. Assisting him will be J. W. Davis with Miss Louise Arthur of Bedford, Va.

Saturday morning the Cotillion Club will give a dansant. Saturday night the concluding dance of the set will be given by the Cotillion Club. It is led by R. C. Latham with Miss Mary Mills Ham of Charlotte, N. C., and W. T. Owen with Miss Marcia Penick of South Boston, Va.

Six Conference Games Played Last Saturday

Teams in the Southern conference participated in but six games last Saturday. This was due to the fact that many of the teams have contests on Thanksgiving day.

In what was a very important game to both schools, the University of Maryland lost to Vanderbilt, 39 to 20. Vandy got away to an early lead and was never headed. Their long passes swept the Old Liners off their feet. Vanderbilt made 22 first downs to Maryland's 19.

Brilliant passing and powerful thrusts by Young and Ward paved the way for North Carolina university to defeat Duke, 18 to 0. The Blue Devils seemed overwhelmed, and their vaunted threats, Jankoski, Buie and Adams, were never given a chance to get started. Duke was on the defensive throughout the game.

Georgia Tech experienced one of the hardest games they have played this season when they beat Oglethorpe, 19 to 7. The result was in doubt until the closing minutes of play.

Kentucky had little trouble with Centre, defeating them 53 to 0. Georgia conquered Mercer, 26 to 7.

Wrestlers Take Vacation Over Thanksgiving

The freshman and varsity wrestlers will get a lay off for several days this week, but Coach Mathis has urged those who are remaining in town to workout in the gym as much as possible in order to keep in shape for next week's practices. The last match between the varsity and freshman teams will be held in the gym a week from Friday, and the remaining time before December 10, will be spent in the tryouts for the varsity's first match with Richmond Y. M. C. A. in the Doremus gymnasium. The team from Richmond is composed of former college stars from many of the leading southern and eastern institutions.

The tryouts for the varsity team will take place one week prior to the meet with Richmond, and with the appearance of many men who have been out for football, including Captain Mike Seligman, wrestling stock will take a considerable boost. Following this opening match with Richmond, an attractive schedule has been arranged, and the team will meet all the other collegiate squads of this section. A schedule for the frosh is also in process of formation.

Letters have been mailed to all seniors applying for the degree of B. S. in Commerce, or the certificate in Commerce, explaining fully the dates on which these subjects and reports on these will be due.

Tips On Princeton All-Opponent Team With Yale's Chief

Captain Tips of the Generals has been placed on an All-Opponents eleven of Princeton, selected by Al Wittmer, line coach of the Tigers. The team consists of six Yale men, two from Cornell, and one each from Washington and Lee and Ohio State.

The other guard position is also filled by a captain, Webster of Yale. This is a singular honor for the Generals' leader when one considers the calibre of the elevens which the Tigers have faced this season. Perhaps they have not yet forgotten the time back in 1926 when Tips scooped up a fumble and ran for a touchdown.

Beck, Cornell's halfback is rated the best individual star to oppose the Orange and Black during the season with Eby, of Ohio State, a close second. Yale's two wingmen, Scott and Fishwick have both been placed in the end positions.

Fire Department Calls Attention To Laws In Regards To Vehicles

As a result of traffic congestion last week during the fire in East Lexington, as well as at previous times within the last year or so, the Lexington fire department is calling the attention of the townspeople and students to the state code on the subject of automobiles following too closely behind the fire apparatus on its way to answer an alarm.

The law provides that upon the approach of any police or fire department vehicle, the drivers of all vehicles shall drive to the curb immediately, and steer clear of all intersections, and remain there until the apparatus has passed. It is also unlawful for any other than official cars to follow apparatus closer than one block or to park within the block where apparatus has stopped in answer to an alarm.

Violations of this law endanger the lives of the vehicle drivers themselves, as well as of the firemen, and the fire department, backed by the town authorities, are asking the cooperation of everyone to aid in enforcing the law in all respects.

Faculty Confers With Student Clubs

Student and faculty viewpoints were exchanged frankly and informally when representatives of teaching staff and student organizations met for Wooster College's first session of its new council. "Compulsory chapel attendance, dancing, cuts, compulsory class attendance, co-ed eating, vacations and faculty plays were eagerly and enthusiastically talked over," says the Wooster Voice.

Seven Generals Play Last Game Against Florida

Seven of the Washington and Lee Generals of 1927 will play their last game for the Blue and White when they line up against the University of Florida at Jacksonville on Thanksgiving Day. They are Captain Tips, Spotts, Howe, Fisher, Latham, Stearns and Dorsey.

In Tip and Spotts the Generals will lose one of the best guards and one of the greatest ends that ever wore a Blue and White uniform. They have both received state wide and even country wide recognition. During their career at Washington and Lee they have been mentioned for All-American, and have been placed on State and South Atlantic elevens. Their latest honors were won when they were elected to the All-Eastern team which plays the All-Western eleven on the coming New Years Day.

Three other valuable men will be lost to the line in Fisher, tackle; Latham, center; and Dorsey, end. Fisher has always been a tower of strength and deadly on breaking up opponents' plays. His work against West Virginia was outstanding. Latham has played in the center position all season, and has been an

General Harriers Place Sixth In So. Conference Meet

Washington and Lee's cross country team closed its schedule Saturday when it ran sixth in the Southern Conference championship meet at Chapel Hill.

First place was carried off by the hosts, North Carolina University, over the seven other contestants. The scores follow: North Carolina, 74; Georgia Tech, 91; University of Georgia, 101; Virginia, 107; Maryland, 120; Washington and Lee, 122; and N. C. State, 136.

Of the first 25 starters to finish, Nance led the Generals' pack, finishing thirteenth, Pilley, nineteenth and Butler, twenty-first.

Captain Glen Elliott of the University of North Carolina won the five mile race in 26 minutes 26 seconds, breaking the Conference record which he formerly held by 19 seconds. Three of his teammates followed him across the tape. The Tarheels won decisively by turning in a low score of only 74 points while second place was taken with 91 points by Georgia Tech.

This meet ends the season for the local harriers but many of the men will be seen in action during the coming track season.

Opposition To Page At W. V. U. Causes Cancellation Order

For some time the columns of the Athenaeum, West Virginia University paper, have carried mysterious whispering of insidious propaganda, serpents that creep in the dark, and similar awesome, even if hackneyed, phrases. To the outsider the discussion was pointless, until now it has become evident that the serpent was Kirby Page. Mr. Page, though scheduled, is not going to speak at West Virginia University, and no one knows why.

Only now, with the lecture cancelled, has discussion increased, and the student paper adds that if the aim of Page was to stimulate student thought, he has won his point. With the matter brought down to abstract proportions the Athenaeum advises the students to find out reason why that which was done. This will be in the nature of an intellectual exercise, no doubt, but Kirby Page, will not speak, and there may be some to suggest that the opposition won the argument.—(N.S.S.)

Lane Is Leading Individual Scorer

Finishing the season with 125 points, Myles Lane, Dartmouth halfback, is almost certain to win individual scoring honors in the east this season, according to United Press figures.

Following its usual custom the RING-TUM PHI will suspend publication over the holidays.

GENERALS OFF TO 4th ANNUAL FLORIDA GAME

200 Students See Team Leave For Jacksonville Tuesday; General Regulars in Good Shape.

EBERHARDT ONLY CRIPPLE

15,000 Fans Expected in Jacksonville To Witness Thanksgiving Clash Between 'Gators and Generals.

The fourth annual Turkey Day clash between Washington and Lee and the University of Florida will take place tomorrow afternoon in Jacksonville. The Generals left for the scene of action yesterday morning with an appropriate send-off by 200 students, who absented themselves from classes for the occasion.

The line-up of Washington and Lee will contain every regular for the first time this month. Eberhardt is probably the only man on the squad who is still showing effects of his injuries. This will be the last intercollegiate game for seven of the eleven men who will start—Captain Tips, Spotts, Dorsey, Latham, Howe, Fisher and Stearns playing their last contest for Washington and Lee. The playing of Tips and Spotts will receive added impetus because of the fact that they have received much favorable comment for All-Southern berths.

The Florida outfit will be handicapped by the loss of Bowyer, who received a broken ankle while playing against Georgia. He was in line for a position on the All-Southern and his loss will be a severe jolt to the 'Gators. Captain Middlekauff has been hobbling through practice with an injured knee received in the Alabama contest, and will be at a great disadvantage when his team faces the Generals tomorrow. However, Florida has a real find in Crabtree, a sophomore halfback, who was largely instrumental in causing the route of the Crimson Tide of Alabama.

About 15,000 people are expected to witness the Thanksgiving classic.

Education Prepares Men For Livelihood

"Because they have been graduated from a university, a great number of students feel that the world owes them a living," Prof. Nathan Gilbert Riddle, West Virginia University stated. "Such is not the case and the sooner the person gets the idea out of his head the sooner he will achieve that which he aspires."

"A college education does not give the possessor a livelihood but it prepares him for one. He should attain his goal quicker than the person who has not had the advantages of a higher education. He has been trained in the best manner; he needs now to apply himself," Professor Riddle continued.

"Few students who graduated last spring will be earning $5,000, or $10,000 at the end of eight or ten years or more. Few will be really big men in their profession. A man is not paid because he has been to college but because of the services he renders," he concluded.

Absence Regulations Defined By Faculty

"In accordance with the regulations on absences from class, all absences count. If a student has been sick, and has thereby used all of the cuts allowed him, and cuts again, such absences will be counted as in excess of the number allowed." This was the statement made yesterday by the faculty committee on the regulation of absences.

The rule also works in reverse order, so that if a student has taken his allotted number of cuts from class, and is then sick, the absences will be counted against him. Exceptions, however, will be made in "exceptional cases", which are to be determined by the committee.

Press dispatches to London say heads of all colleges and schools in Lisbon has been ordered arrested for closing schools early in belief that cannon salute to president was signal for start of revolution.

PROFESSIONAL INANITY

EVERYONE seems to know more about the proper publishing of a newspaper than the people who are actually doing it. Perhaps the statement is a mite inclusive in its emphatic expression above, but it is certainly applicable on this campus. Only recently the point was proven by a case which seems to epitomize an attitude on the part of some University people who are so much in error that they become ultimately ridiculous.

A few days ago a certain professor became involved in an occurrence which made an excellent news story. In the incident itself there was nothing derogatory or embarrassing to the professor. Yet when the Athenaeum prepared to publish the story it encountered an attitude almost inconceivable in a man of supposed mental maturity. After the facts had been assembled and amply verified the professor in question called the Athenaeum office. Without so much as an explanatory prelude the professor spewed forth a tirade of brilliant acrimony which ended with the statement, "If you publish anything whatsoever about me in any connection I will bring suit against the Athenaeum." As everyone now knows the result was that the Athenaeum published a straightforward news account, adhering strictly to verified fact, apportioning its prominence in accord with its appeal to public interest, and even deviating slightly from proper news technique to offer an apologetic explanation of the incident.

The attitude of this particular professor, expressive of the pathetic prejudices nursed by his ilk, is clearly vulnerable from two viewpoints. First from the standpoint of the publication of substantiated news for the reading public regardless of personal censorial attempts; second, from the standpoint of the individual performance so unbecoming to one allegedly steeped in academic taste and dignity.

Only one thing could be more ridiculous than for an individual to demand that a newspaper should not publish an ordinary news story involving his name. That would be for the newspaper to accede to his wishes. Certainly no person, no matter how slightly removed from the juvenile stage, will contend that a newspaper should regulate its news content in accord with the desires of individuals who have no direct connection with it. If a news organ should do this there would be scant cud for public mastication. The only proper procedure in event of personal objection to a truthful news story is frank and unbiased publication with prominence regulated by news value, so lucently demonstrated in this specific case. For the threatened law suit prolonged and hearty guffaws form the sane and natural response. There is no basis for legal action of any kind in the publication of verified events which have not the slightest shadow of libel.

Criticism of this attitude from the personal viewpoint should run its normal course in ridicule. The mere facts of the case indicate the domination of a childish prejudice over an adult. It is little short of laughable that a person, who should be a model of matured sanity, should attempt to control a harmless detail in daily journalism. Certainly no one can assume a serious attitude towards this specific case in the face of the facts as presented.

However, the serious import of this particular instance is in its general implication. The incident can be accepted as illustrative of an attitude on the part of certain University people which is far too prevalent. Most certainly the Athenaeum is a University function under administrative control, and subject to the superiority of the administration, but this in no wise indicates a subservience to lesser individuals who have no other connection other than that of a reader. It seems that whenever an individual acquires authority in a classroom or department he ensconces himself in his sanctuary, looks down at a less fortunate world, and automatically assumes the role of supreme dictator. Then he begins to wander far afield. His first act is to transfer his authority from his chosen field of learning to other scenes. For instance he jumps from astronomy to journalism. Casting about for something tangible upon which to exercise his mythical and assumed prerogative he fastens it upon the newspapers. He would be guardian of the public's reading matter, especially in cases where it concerns himself. Then his dictatorial attitude knows no bounds. It eventuates in efforts to prohibit the publication of legitimate and harmless news.

The sooner this type of self-appointed dictator realizes that his authority is imaginary, impossible, and of no consequence then the better for all concerned. Thus the Athenaeum will persevere in its efforts to publish all news stories, based on verified fact, regardless of the dignitaries they involve.—ATHENAEUM.

SOME SAY HE IS

CARL SANDBURG "is classed by some as an immoral poet"; the Nebraska University literary magazine, the Prairie Schooner, discussed Carl Sandburg's poetry, therefore . . . . . That's a Nebraska student's complaint against the magazine. The Nebraskan which received the complaint, failed to observe in the objectionable magazine any "lack of common decency." It even went so far as to defend the Prairie Schooner in its attempt to produce articles and critiques of merit. All of which means that probably there will be a sell-out of the whole issue.

Team One Wins
Intra-mural Loop;
Will Get Medals

The intra-mural basketball league which has been going on since the beginning of school, came to a close last week. The championship was decided in a thrilling game between teams No. 1 and 4, first and second in the league respectively. The game was fast and proved to be the most interesting one of the season. At the half the score was eight all, but team No. 1, due to the accurate shooting of Lowry and Smith forged ahead in the vesper period to come out on the long end of a 21 to 15 score. Homer starred for the losers scoring eleven of their fifteen points.

The following members of team No. 1 will receive the Doremus gymnasium medal: Lowry (C), Bowen, McMillan, Barron, Smith, Holden and Busold. It is a bronze medal given to all winners in intra-mural sports.

Team No. 4 captained by Chan Gordon and team No. 2 led by Captain Leibowitz were the runners up in the league, each having won 8 and lost 5.

These games have been well attended throughout the season and although the league has ended the men still interested in basketball will have the opportunity of going out for Varsity basketball, Freshmen, or the Class teams, all of which will begin immediately after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Coach Cy Twombly stated that all Sophomores and Freshmen will have to go out for some other sport or athletic activity now that the intra-mural league was over or attend regular gym classes. This does not mean, however, that they cannot go out for basketball.

Following is the final standing of all the teams:

Team	Won	Lost
1	13	1
5	3	10
3	1	11

It costs a lot, but Camel must have the best

It is true that Camel is the quality cigarette, but it costs to make it so. To make Camel the favorite that it is costs the choicest crops of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. It requires the expense of a blending that leaves nothing undone in the liberation of tobacco taste and fragrance.

But the fame that Camel has won is worth all the trouble. It has brought modern smokers a new realization of excellence. They are particular and fastidious and they place Camel first.

Your taste will delight itself in these choice tobaccos. Camels get better the more of them you smoke. Their subtle tastes are unfolded by experience. They are always delightfully smooth.

7 Generals Play Last Game Against Florida

accurate passer and fine defensive man. Dorsey at end was out of the game the first part of the season, but did fine work against the Generals' opponents in the last few games.

Stearns at quarter and Howe at half will be hard men to replace in the Blue and White backfield. Howe's broken field running was a feature of the Generals' play all season. Bob showed wonderful judgment when he called signals in the Kentucky game. Stearns could always be depended on to hit the line for a gain, was a frequent receiver of forward passes, and a main cog in the Generals' overhead defense.

Oklahoma Students Firemen At Night

Five boys are day students at the University of Oklahoma, at Norman, but at night it's a different story. They are working their way through college by serving as the night platoon of Norman's fire department. They are: Cecil Looney, Frank Clay, Connie Southern, Charles Platt, and Wayne Taylor. Fellow students, learning of their pluck, gave a fireman's dance, and raised funds to outfit the boys' study room.

President's Paragraph

No. 12—1927-28
Learn to Master a Hateful Subject
If any professional or business American is either unable or unwilling to study with all his energy an unattractive or uninteresting case, or job, or person, or problem which confronts him in the regular routine of his business, that American is doomed to hopeless mediocrity or ultimate failure. Every such case puts him temporarily in the lime-light, and if he fails because he "can't get interested" or "does not like" his plaintiff or customer, his condemnation by the public is immediate and unsparring. Let every ambitious young American cultivate, with iron willpower, the habit of excelling in his most hateful study and performing with conspicuous success his most disagreeable tasks.
