

TENNESSEE ON GENERALS' 1928 GRID PROGRAM

Tennessee Expects Strong Team Next Year; Will Meet W. & L. At Knoxville.

GENERALS DROP DUKE

North Carolina State Replaces Maryland For Game in Lexington October 6.

The University of Tennessee appears on the General's 1928 schedule for the first time in the history of the two schools. The Generals and the Vols completed negotiations Friday morning and a two year contract has been signed. The first encounter will take place on October 27, 1928 in Knoxville, and the following year will see the two eleven lock horns in Roanoke or possibly in Lexington. Duke university has been dropped to make room for Tennessee, thus increasing the number of the Generals' conference opponents to six.

Tennessee has a substantial claim to the Conference title this season, having won five games with only one tie. Although they lose three all-Southern men in Butcher, Barnhill, and Dodson, the 1928 machine will not be perceptibly weakened. The Vols will receive able reinforcements from one of the South's best Freshman teams, and are sure to give the Generals a real battle. The Army system of coaching is used and has been highly successful in the past few years. Tennessee boasts the ability to send a Varsity eleven on the field, composed entirely of "Me's" and when these fighting Scotchmen meet the "Big Blue", action is sure to be the key note of the afternoon's program.

North Carolina State is another newcomer to the Generals' schedule. The "Wolfpack" replaces the University of Maryland due to the failure of Washington and Lee and Maryland to agree on a date. N. C. State also boasts a strong aggregation, not losing a single conference game. The Wolfpack invade Lexington on the sixth of October, and are likely to provide plenty of opposition. The remaining games include the traditional rivals, but many of the dates have been juggled around. Princeton will not be played until November 10, the week following the Virginia game at Charlottesville. West Virginia university has been postponed until October 20, a fact which may prove helpful in overcoming the "West Virginia jinx".

The schedule stands completed with only three non-conference games, and six conference tilts; and there will be only three Varsity battles on Wilson field with six engagements on foreign gridirons. Homecoming will be on November 17 when V. P. I. invades the Gen- (Continued on Page 4)

FOOTBALL FIRST PLAYED IN ENGLAND WITH SKULLS OF VANQUISHED FOES

On the plains of England, in the tenth century, victorious Danes, using the skulls of vanquished Englishmen, played the first known game of football.

So says Charlton G. Laird, professor of journalism at Drake University, Des Moines. He has traced the history of the game down through the dim ages of antiquity and he says his research showed that hard fighting Danes tossed the grisly battle mementoes around in the world's first known gridiron contest. Later on, pumpkins and gourds were used by farmers of the British Isles. They carried the garden truck through a line of opposing players in a game much similar to the present gridiron sport.

Laird devoted long and earnest effort to rounding up his history of football and ran across facts never collected before, he says.

Captain John Smith of the Virginia colony, he says, made the first known reference to football in America. The captain and other settlers frowned upon it as "one of those sports in which English duds indulge," related Henry Spillman, an historian.

By 1829, the colleges had taken up football and the first Monday of the year was known as "bloody Monday" at Harvard when a game was

Graham-Lee Hits Students, Faculty In Negro Minstrel

Campus leaders, the faculty, the various fraternities, and the elite of Lexington will all be included in the wise-cracks pulled by black-face comedians at the Graham-Lee minstrel tonight, according to "Red" Merritt, president of the society.

Minstrel talent from outside Graham-Lee has been commanded in order to assure success. Bill Hill, in the garb of a rustic negro, will give his famous clog dance, a banjo solo, and will play the banjo in the accompanying orchestra. J. J. Henderson, who is a reputed waver with the harmonica, will show his wares, and K. L. Kiel will handle the piano.

"Red" Merritt, dressed in the clerical regalia of an old negro minister, will preach a mock sermon in which he will attempt to expose all the sins at W. & L.

Ludicrous is the only word that can describe the costumes. To say the least they don't bear out the contention that W. & L. men are the best dressed of southern university students. Black faces topped by freshman caps, and upheld by bodies encased in tuxedos, not omitting the white gloves, side by side with the flaming colors of Aunt Jemima's dress—such is the mental picture the observer gets.

Frank Evans as Uncle Remus, and Alfred Junkin as Aunt Jemina, have the leading parts. The only "white man" in the show will be H. O. Winston as the Interlocutor who, arrayed in a tall stovepipe derby and tux, sits on a pedestal and fires a continual line of questions at the actors.

For the benefit of those in the audience who wish to take in a movie tonight the minstrel will last only one hour thus letting out in time for the 9 o'clock show. It will start promptly at 7:45.

Boxers Go Through Preliminary Bouts

Each day brings a great improvement in the varsity boxing team led by Captain "Bill" Price. The period between now and Christmas holidays will be taken up with preliminary practice which will consist of light workouts. After vacation work will begin in earnest with everything pointing towards the match with Virginia which will be held in Doremus gymnasium January 14.

The prospects look brighter than they have been in years, especially in the light and middle weights. Heaps is making a fine showing in the 175-pound class, and it is expected that Fitzpatrick and possibly Spotts and Bailey, will be able to report for heavyweight class after the holidays. With the addition of these men the team will be strengthened, and the coach is confident of a win over the Virginia outfit.

IT COSTS SOMEBODY $8.22 DAILY TO GIVE BOY UNIV. EDUCATION

It costs somebody $8.22 a day to educate a boy in college.

And that boy should write against himself, officials of a southern university says, $58 every week of his school year—51 cents every waking hour of his day!

Does he use his time so as to get his money's worth?

Does his mental capacity make the investment pay?

From the treasurer's office of Washington and Lee these questions and the cost-basis figures from which they arose came quietly out of the whirl of college life, as the holiday spirit begins to glitter on American campuses.

"We get our figures," Paul M. Penick, treasurer, explained, "by doing obvious arithmetic with the following items—our operating expense, student enrollment, estimates of student expenditures for living and entertainment, and his earning capacity, were he working instead of going to college."

It costs Washington and Lee, a typical southern university, $328.91 for every student in its class rooms, the treasurer's books show. And though Washington and Lee students pay tuition, an average of $136.61 is lost on every man enrolled. The difference is made up from income from invested donations by wealthy friends of education and alumni, $50,000 of which came from George Washington in 1797.

Assuming that a student should sleep eight hours a day,—monstrous but hygienic assumption—Washington and Lee figures that the young man in college has during the school year thirty-six weeks of 112 hours each to account for as training hours for character and mind.

Is it worth while?

"Well," answers President Henry Louis Smith, "a careful survey by Dr. Paul Van Dyke a few years ago proved that of all graduates of American colleges today, one is fifteen attained the ranks of 'distinguished men' as listed in 'Who's Who,' while it took 9,000 men with a common school training to place one of their number on the same list. And the records of nearly 10,000 graduates of five typical American universities indicated that one-half of all those past middle age who had won highest scholastic honors attained eminence."

Does the average capacity of the student make the investment a paying one?

"Well," says Dr. William M. Brown, vocational director of the University and head of the department of Psychology and Education, "in a few cases, low capacity does not justify the expenditure; these are quickly discovered by psychological tests here before their freshman year is a week old. But the intellectual possibilities of large numbers are simply tremendous. The problem is to attain the possibilities. Several of the present freshman class show 'I. Q.'s'—mental possibilities—equal to those estimated for George Washington and Robert E. Lee."

Towill, Tayloe, and Gibson Appointed For Fancy Dress

W. P. Woodley, President of the 1928 Fancy Dress Ball has appointed officers for the dances. J. B. Towill will be vice-president; Howard Tayloe, secretary-treasurer, and Graham Gibson, business manager. Professor C. E. L. Gill has accepted the position of Director.

Tayloe, assisted by Graham Gibson, will lead the opening figure of Fancy Dress Ball. Tayloe is a member of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity, Pi Alpha Nu, Alpha Kappa Psi, "13" Club, and Cotillion Club. Gibson belongs to the Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity, White Friars, 15 business manager Trou-Friars. Business manager Troutor of the Southern Collegians and belongs to the Cotillion Club.

Woodley, assisted by J. B. Towill, will lead the main figure. Woodley is a member of the Sigma Chi social fraternity, Cotillion Club, Pi Delta Epsilon, Phi Alpha Delta, and is president of the 1928 Fancy Dress Ball. Towill belongs to the Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Delta Phi, Alpha Kappa Psi, Pi Alpha Nu, and Monogram Club.

Wrestlers Ready For "Y" Encounter

The five Varsity matmen who were chosen to represent the Generals' against Richmond Saturday night are ready and "rarin" to go after a light workout Friday afternoon. Captain Mike Seligman's injury, which will keep him out of the opening meet, has not discouraged the crew, but will only serve to make them fight harder.

The final practice consisted in much study on the rules, which have undergone considerable changes since last season, and Coach Mathis was especially emphatic in cautioning the men against fouls. A few final points on defense were taken up, and the workout closed with a number of limbering-up exercises.

Prospects for a winning team are bright despite the inexperience of most of the men, and when Captain Frank L. Summers sounds the gong tonight the matmen are sure to be "in there fighting 'em". The meet will open at 8:00 P. M. but there will be a number of exhibition bouts among the freshmen for the benefit of the early arrivals.

LIBRARY BOOKS DUE

The members of the staff at the University Library request that all books borrowed by the students be returned before Christmas holidays. Attention to this detail will mean "no fines to pay" when work is resumed in January.

Basketball Squad Continues Stiff Daily Practices

Coach Smith is still working his men at top speed with the three game trip to Washington but a week off. Yesterday's practice marked the first appearance of Heinie Groop, last year's guard. Groop is the last of the football men to report, the others having been on hand for over a week.

Only one injury has been reported among the twenty men on the squad. Chan Gordon, guard on last year's freshman outfit, strained his knee in a hard scrimmage the early part of this week and is limping badly. It is doubtful whether he will be out again until after the holidays.

The men are beginning to get their eye on the basket and are sinking them through the hoop. In a fast workout yesterday afternoon Captain Spotts gave every promise of again being the high scorer of the Blue and White outfit. Babe dropped them through with his customary ease from anywhere within the foul line. Gene White and Hot Ebert gave exhibitions of their speed and passing work and sank them from different corners with their old time skill. Joynes and Bobby Howe held down the guard posts on the temporary first outfit, with both showing great speed and ability in handling the ball.

The opposition was furnished by two other teams composed of other members of the squad, each outfit playing about ten minutes. The first was made up of McKimmy, Homer, Newman, Sadloch, and Pilley. On the second were Egiebach, Lowry, Nance, Lowdon, and Wood. These last gave the first team an even struggle with the ball dropping through one basket and then the other.

Many Students In Jackson Hospital

There is at the present time an unusually large number of students in the Jackson Memorial Hospital. Sixteen students confined to their beds in the hospital, which is the largest number so far this year. Of this number ten have cases of mumps, and the remainder have colds or other minor ailments.

Following is a list of the students in the infirmary: Frank Hanns, J. F. Sugrue, H. B. Luria, T. Buery, M. Seligman, J. B. Armstrong, R. K. Sutherland, H. W. Smith, W. C. Watson, J. R. Martin, W. P. Knight, J. D. McHugh, C. E. Hamilton, H. M. Weis, H. M. Snyder and A. L. Alford.

JOURNALIST CLAIMS VIRGINIA STARS OVERLOOKED IN SOUTHERN CHOICES

The following article, taken from the Florida Times-Union, is in point with the yearly complaint that South Atlantic Grid stars have little or no chance to gain recognition on the all-Southern machine:

"W. H. Hottel of the Washington Star, who also is publicity director of the University of Maryland is of the opinion that the selection of an All-Dixie team is made by a 'closed corporation.'"

"If those who go about picking All-Southern elevens by votes of the sporting editor and coaches fully covered the territory, I am sure that some of the men in the four Virginia schools—Univ. of Virginia, Virginia Poly, V. M. I. and Washington and Lee—and also Maryland would at least have some of their players mentioned. However, to my knowledge none of the sporting editors of the Washington or Baltimore papers nor those of Richmond or Norfolk, ever have expressed themselves. And the writers in these cities have seen all five teams in action a number of times. In fact, Washington and Richmond writers have probably seen four or five conference games this year, covering contests in their territory when they were not actually played in those cities.

"If there is a better tackle, day in and day out, in the Southern Conference than Captain Bick Cardwell, of Virginia, then there must be a whole lot of All-American material playing this position in the South this year. For the past

JUNIOR PROM DETAILS NEAR COMPLETION

Lowden, Class President, To Lead With Fitzpatrick Assisting; Affairs Planned For January 30.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

All Seniors and Lawyers of Three Years Attendance To Be Admitted Free.

Plans are rapidly being completed for all the arrangements of Junior Prom which will be held Monday, January 30, the night before Fancy Dress Ball. G. N. Lowden, President of the Junior class, will lead the Prom, assisted by E. A. Fitzpatrick. The Committees have been appointed and expect to start work on their respective positions immediately. G. H. Lanier, Jr., Chairman of the finance committee, stressed the importance of all Juniors cooperating with the Finance committee, and urges that each man turn in his class dues of $6.00 as soon as possible.

Seniors will be admitted to the dance free of charge, freshmen and sophomores being required to pay.

Governing the law students, all senior and intermediate lawyers who have attended W. & L. for more than three years will be admitted free of charge. Freshman and intermediate lawyers of three years attendance are rated as Juniors, and the regular class dues of $6.00 will be required from them. All other law students must pay the general admission price.

The following is a list of the Committees:

- Finance Committee

TROUBADOURS
 GIVE MUSICAL,
 VOCAL AFFAIR

Glee Club and Southern Collegians
 Will Appear in Concert
 December 14.

A program that promises to be filled jam-up with musical and vocal entertainment of the highest and most pleasing type will be presented in the old high school auditorium on Wednesday night, December 14. The occasion of the event will be the presentation by the Troubadours of Washington and Lee of the Glee Club in a program, assisted by the Southern Collegians.

This will mark the first time that the new winter program of the Glee Club will be presented in Lexington. It was given its premier performance at Southern Seminary about two weeks ago and met with a hearty reception there. This means that an entirely new program, replete with quite a number of unusual and interesting features and numbers, will be on the Lexington menu for Wednesday night.

The Glee club will be ably assisted by the Southern Collegians, who will keep the moments between the vocal numbers exceedingly interesting with a brand new repertoire of latest waltzes and popular musical hits. The band has been practicing regularly lately and is in fine playing shape.

The Glee club is headed by Frank T. Parker, and coached by Mr. Tyler. The Southern Collegians are directed by Ethan Allen. The personnel of the executive committee of the Troubadours is as follows:

T. B. Thames, Jr., president; T. G. Gibson, business manager; Ethan Allen, orchestra; Eddie Cohen, production; W. P. Battle, dramatics; Van Gilbert, property manager; W. M. Garrison, publicity.

Farce-Comedy To Be Given Tuesday

The farce-comedy, "The Whole Town's Talking", to be given Tuesday night, December 13, at the Lyric theatre, will employ some distinguished local talent. Washington and Lee, Virginia Military Institute, and the town of Lexington will all be represented in the cast. Colonel Moseley of the Virginia Military Institute is directing the play.

The plot of the comedy centers around the efforts of Henry Simmons, a typical American business man, to get his young partner, Chet Binney, married to his daughter, Ethel. Mrs. Simmons objects to the young partner as being crude and lowbrow, and Ethel objects to him as not having "lived". She says she wants to marry a man who has been romantically wild in his youth. Evidently she has in mind a sort of combination of John Gilbert and Douglas Fairbanks. Mr. Simmons and Chet conspire to make Ethel and Mrs. Simmons believe that Chet is a gay young blade, and from this point on complications follow thick and fast.

Kappa Phi Kappa Holds Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Omicron Chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, national education fraternity, held on Tuesday evening, J. V. Eddy gave a lecture on the Handley school system of Winchester, Va. Following his lecture, questions were asked and a lively discussion ensued. Royal B. Embree, Jr., gave a talk on the development of the Buena Vista school system from its very beginning to the present.

David H. Wice, who is a graduate student in the department of education, and is working under the Howard Houston Fellowship, explained an investigation recently conducted in one of the advanced classes regarding the assignment of grades by departments at Washington and Lee. The results and conclusions of this research will be mimeographed in the near future and distributed to various members of the administration, of the faculty, and student body.

*Washington and Lee
 In the Past*

1897
 A mass meeting was held by the students in Newcomb Hall, Wednesday, and it was decided that at all costs the annual publication of The Calyx should be continued. Benjamin F. Harlow was elected editor for the current year. Support from the student body was his appeal upon accepting the editorship.

1900
 W. & L. was defeated in its Thanksgiving game by Central University in Charleston by score 23-0. Although both teams played almost equally well, the Generals were unable to take advantage of the breaks as did the Carolinians. T. A. Bledsoe, stellar left end, was captain of the team.

1908
 Fifteen football letters were issued by the General Athletic board for current season of 1908. Wins over Richmond and Georgetown, tie with N. C. State and defeats by V. P. I. and George Washington University, concluded a fair season.

1922
 The biggest event of the local Y. M. C. A. lyceum winter problem was the appearance of a quartette of Russian singers representing various Russian universities. The singers rendered a varied program of native folk songs with many familiar national songs and melodies. Practically the whole student body was present besides quite a throng of townspeople.

1926
 Sweet Briar and Hollins Colleges respectively have arranged their dates for leaving for the Christmas holidays exactly in order that they might not "conflict" with those of the University of Virginia and Washington and Lee. Randolph-Macon girls left Dec. 21.

N.-W. Plans Specials
 From Buena Vista
 December 17 and 20

The Norfolk and Western will run special trains west for the Washington and Lee students leaving Buena Vista at 2:15 o'clock the afternoon of December 17 and 20 provided enough students sign up for the train, should not enough sign for a special train a W. and L. Pullman will be run to Memphis.

Trains from Buena Vista to Memphis make connections with all trains West and South from there. Besides the excellent service to the West the N. and W. is also running a special Pullman from Lynchburg to Norfolk.

The Memphis Special is leaving Roanoke at 9:40 a. m. arriving Memphis at 6:50 a. m. and Nashville at 6:30 the same morning. The trains leaving for the East leave Roanoke at 11:50 a. m. and 12:15 a. m. and Lynchburg at 1:20 and 1:50 in the afternoon arriving Petersburg 4:40 and 5:10 respectively and reach Richmond, 5:40 and 8:20. The two trains arrive at Norfolk at 6:45 and 7:30.

Crack trains are running from Roanoke to Cincinnati, making connections with the through trains to the west. At 6 o'clock in the afternoon a train leaves for the Queen City arriving there the next morning at 7:55 o'clock. This train makes good connections with trains for Little Rock, Dallas, Fort Worth, and other Western points.

The N. adm W. also offers good train service North with through trains leaving Buena Vista at 1:49 and 7:16 in the afternoon, arriving Washington at 10:12 p. m. and 6:55 a. m.; Harrisburg, 12:40 a. m.; Philadelphia, 4:20 a. m. and 6:25 a. m.; and New York, 7:15 a. m. (Adv.)

A motion picture which completely demonstrates the manufacture of the biological (medicinal) preparations of Parke-Davis and company, will be shown in the chemistry building at 8 o'clock Monday night, December 12.

This picture should be of particular interest to the students of biology, chemistry and medicine. It is being shown under the auspices of the Rockbridge Medical society. There will be no admission charge.

No. 16—1927-28
Four Fatal Deficits

I have recently seen listed by an educational expert the four fatal deficits whose possession should debar any young American eternity! Their hands met in continued membership in an American student-body. Let me commend them to the study and contempt of every worth-while W. & L. student. These fatal deficits are
First: No intellectual Curiosity.
Second: No innate Disposition to Work.
Third: No capacity for concentrated and sustained Attention.
Fourth: No Background of General Information.
Cherish and cultivate every day the fruitful Assets of which these are the destructive Deficits, and you'll be on the road to future Success.

The Gray Phantom

The moon was full. Two figures moved slowly across the campus, alive with deepening shadows. The whole atmosphere of the moonflooded scene breathed romance, ever beckoning to the to the elusive hearts of youth.

Beneath the shadow of the college they paused, in the very tracks where students had come and gone, where tears had been shed, where laughter had rung out, and where tender avowals of undying love had been made.

They entered the door. The time had come! No time could be lost! Each minute seemed an eternity! Their hands met in a pledge of fidelity. The taller person pulled his companion close to him, upturned the pallid face, blotted with shadows. Everything was quiet!

"You're only a Pan goat and I'm a White Friar goat, but I wish you luck," he said.

"The same to you!" came back a furtive whisper, in a voice that trembled.

And still the moon shone down, bathing the campus in a silver mist. Oh—what a hell of a night to be initiated!

Good. That's what it is . . .

No USE trying to put a definition around Camel. It is as diverse and fugitive as the delicate tastes and fragrances that Nature puts in her choicest tobaccos, of which Camel is rolled. Science aids Nature to be sure by blending the tobaccos for subtle smoothness and mildness. One way to describe Camels is just to say, "They are good!"

Each smoker telling the other, we suppose. At any rate, it's first—in popularity as well as quality. It has beaten every record ever made by a smoke. Modern smokers have lifted it to a new world leadership.

Camels request a place in your appreciation. Try them upon every test known. You'll find them always loyal to your highest standard.

Somehow, news of Camel has got around.

"Have a Camel!"

Herald-Tribune
 News and Features
 The feast of complete news you will always find in the Herald Tribune is salted with the wit and wisdom of as brilliant a company of feature stars as were ever gathered by a newspaper. These include:
 GRANTLAND RICE and W. O. MCGEEHAN: outstanding authorities on sports. Look for their daily columns, "The Sportlight" and "Down the Line."
 LAWRENCE GILMAN: Outstanding music critic.
 PERCY HAMMOND: New York's leading dramatic critic.
 HARRIETTE UNDERHILL: Writes the bright and sparkling movie reviews.
 DR. S. PARKES CADMAN: "The best known clergyman in America" answers readers questions.
 EDWARD HOPE: Laughing with the world. in "The Lantern".
 MARK SULLIVAN: Political authority and interpreter of political news.
 RUTH VON PHUL: Crossword puzzle champion sets the "bogy" time for the daily crossword puzzle.
 These and many others, in addition to all the news, every day in the Herald Tribune.
 Edited in a style that appeals, news that is interesting, concise and well written.

German Courses Showing Increase
 According to records in the registrar's office, there are now enrolled in the German department a total of 108 men, as against 83 last year. The increase is primarily in German 103-4 (intermediate) and 105-6, the course in scientific German. The latter is planned especially to meet the needs of pre-medical, engineering, and other students. Although German was never taken from the curriculum during the late war, enrollment dropped off, but has been gradually assuming its former place. Quite recently the department rooms have been renovated, and a new lighting system installed. Dr. Thomas J. Farrar has been head of the department since 1905, and at present he is assisted by Waldo Dunnington, a senior in the academic college.
