FIFTH INFORMAL OF YEAR COMES SATURDAY NIGHT

Dance For Benefit Of Finals Fund Will Be Social Event Of This Week-End—Will Be Last Informal Of The School Year

SOUTHERN COLLEGIANS WILL FURNISH MUSIC

All Students Are Urged To Secure Girls For Dance If Possible And Make It A Success

The fifth informal dance of the social season at Washington and Lee will be held tomorrow in Doremus gymnasium.

The Southern Collegians, who have played for all the informals this year, will furnish the music for the dance. The success of the orchestra on the recent southern Troubadour trip and on the stage of the New Theatre last night makes it an assurance that the brand of music at the dance will be of the highest type.

The past four informals so far this year have been successful in all ways, and the sponsors of the dance tomorrow night hope that it will be as good or even better than the others. It will be the last informal of the season, the next dances being the Finals Week dances.

The informal tomorrow night will be known as the Finals Informal and the proceeds will go toward financing the Finals Week fund. The Cotillion Club, sponsors of the dance, hope that a good sum will be raised for this purpose.

All men are urged to wire girls and get as many as possible for the dance and help make it a success.

The music will begin promptly at nine o'clock and since all Saturday night dances must stop promptly at 11:45 o'clock, everybody is urged to come early. Freshmen will be permitted to attend during the entire dance but must wear green ties as usual.

Registration

Spring registration will begin next Tuesday, May 10, and last throughout next week. The Faculty Committee on registration changed the date so as not to interfere with the general elections this week. The Committee urges that each student register for next year's classes as soon as possible.

New Issue Of Mink Appears

The "Gambler's Number" of The Mink made its appearance on the campus Tuesday morning.

Striking in appearance, with a black cover, the issue has received many favorable comments and has been voted as the best issue since the Fancy Dress Number.

The issue contains a number of attractive and artistic drawings, and the quality of the literary contents is high; both being humorous and carrying out the theme of the issue in detail.

Editor Jairus Collins has announced that the next issue of The Mink will be the "Final Number." This will be the eighth and final issue of this school year's magazine. The editor desires a quantity of material for the issue and requests that it be submitted at once so that work may be begun on it and make it the best of the year.

Juniors Win Most Offices

With the ceasing of anxious drivers tearing through the avenues bringing men to the polls to vote, the friendly "politicking" together with the passing of the colorful cards, now a thing of the past, the dust of Lexington settles down, once again, to its age old resting place and a more accurate survey can be made of the results of the annual political competition, a campus tradition and institution.

A quick glance at the names of the victors convincingly illustrates that the junior class has upheld its reputation. Of the three major publications, it claims the editors of a majority. P. R. Harrison and W. M. Garrison of the College were elected editors of the RING-TUM PHI and the Mink respectively. McRee Davis, a freshman lawyer, was the obstacle from making the result a unanimous one.

A Thing Of The Past

THE STUDENT BODY elections of 1927 at Washington and Lee are now a thing of the past.

It was all over yesterday at 2:05 o'clock, and the results were written into the political history of the student government of the University.

There were some glorious victories and some gallant defeats. Every loser went down fighting gamely. All this made the annual election a brilliant and interesting event.

To the winners the RING-TUM PHI extends its heartiest congratulations, and wishes them the very best of success in performing their duties as campus leaders next year.

To the losers this paper extends its congratulations for well run races and nicely conducted campaigns. They revealed their spirit and interest in their Student Body government by wanting the positions, and their spirit will not be forgotten.

The Student Body has chosen its leaders for next year. The men who will fill the positions of responsibility have been named. In them is placed a great trust, and a faith that must not be shattered. On their shoulders lies the power of keeping the Student Body government of Washington and Lee up to its high standard and its noble traditions inviolate.

We feel sure that these men will do just this thing. The confidence of the voters will not be misplaced, we are sure.

The Student Body has spoken.

The Chapel Vigil

THE PLAN of a vigil in the Lee Chapel was placed on the ballot in the election yesterday and voted upon. Although the plan received a favorable vote of 472 for it and 253 against it, a majority was not received. Therefore the plan failed to carry.

The RING-TUM PHI still feels that the plan has its merits. The Student Body has shown its reaction to it, and that reaction must stand until next year. At this time we earnestly suggest that a new plan be worked out, profiting from the plan that failed this time, and that the Vigil be not forgotten.

To the Executive Committee who so kindly took an interest in the plan, helped prepare it for publication, and placed it on the ballot the RING-TUM PHI takes this opportunity of extending its sincere appreciation.

The plan can now be shelved for a year, but we sincerely hope that it will not be forgotten and that it will be worked on again at this time in 1928.

"Let Football Alone"

THE OFF-SEASON critics of football have already begun their hue-and-cry.

Prominent among those is President Hopkins, of Dartmouth, who recently suggested a new plan for the game. This plan was printed in a late issue of the RING-TUM PHI, in full. He suggested, in short, that inter-collegiate football be limited to members of the Junior and Sophomore classes that games be reciprocal, with two varsity teams playing double-headers each week—one at home, one away; and that coaching be restricted to undergraduates.

This, to the mind of all athletes and athletic authorities who have studied it, is a most preposterous plan. It borders on the impossible and the impractical.

But, then, since we do not feel capable of attacking it any further, we will quote the words of a recent critic of President Hopkins' plan:

"Dr. Hopkins has enjoyed a reputation of being one of the few college presidents who know athletics. His suggestions will cost him much of his reputation as an authority, since two of his three ideas for reforming the game would add to its dangers, and the other would not help.

"Each winter, following an annual increase in the enthusiasm and success of college football, we have had an epidemic of criticism of the sport and a plethora of suggested remedies. The idea of the college presidents (or some of them), deans, and professors seems to be that because football is such a success it should be curbed. They offer no plan for curbing baseball, tennis, basketball, rowing, track, or other athletic contents, which attract limited interest, and concentrate upon football because, seemingly, every undergraduate, every old grad, and a large percentage of the outside public want to see football.

"At a time when football stimulates the greatest loyalty to school, offers the best advertisement for education it ever had, and the greatest appeal to red-blooded young men; when it is the rallying point of the alumni, the source of income for supporting all other athletics, and the chief contributory argument in endowment drives—in other words, the most enthusiastically successful institution in the modern college—the professors propose limiting it.

"Coaches, players, and undergrads declare football to be constructive, physically, mentally, and morally; a red-blooded, masculine sport with a stimulating appeal to all—spectators as well as players. It is doubtful whether the United States, softened by prosperity ever needed a rugged game as much as it does now. Coach Jesse Hawley of Dartmouth, himself a Dartmouth graduate, who sacrificed himself to go back and teach students a game he considers man-building and character-constructing, said: "Nowhere, excepting on the football field, do boys in our colleges learn discipline—and, by God, they learn it there!"

"Dr. Hopkins' suggestions are not new—and they are dangerous. For many years the college professor's kick on football was that it was a dangerous sport. They have dropped that argument, but Dr. Hopkins seems to invite a return to conditions that caused the complaint. His suggestion to limit play to Sophomores and Juniors is advocating unskillful play—which is dangerous. His idea of playing home-and-home games with rivals would, as every coach knows, result in added bitterness and fiercer rivalry, and add to the complained-of week-end student migrations.

"The idea of undergraduate coaching is worse. Only skilled coaches, men of high character and great influence, should be entrusted to direct the play of young enthusiasts who, if unrestrained, would resort to dangerous tactics.

"Dr. Hopkins should be penalized fifteen yards three time for being offside in his theories. Limiting play to Sophomores and Juniors is like studying engineering two years and then taking tating as a Senior, and one wonders whether, in suggesting undergraduate coaching, Dr. Hopkins would favor dropping the heads of his mathematics, philosophy, chemistry, and other departments and putting in Seniors as instructors and professors.

"It is to be hoped that when the conference suggested by Dr. Hopkins is called, it considers some of the fine effects of football and does not (as most college professors do) confine itself to dilating upon the evils."

Students Decide Hazing Belongs To Peg Top Era

"Any man who is in any way connected with throwing a freshman in the lake will sever his connection with this university." With this pre-emptory statement President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State University announced the end of freshman hazing at that institution. Hazing may soon be as much a thing of the past in the colleges—as old fashioned peg-top trousers, recent college events seem to indicate. "Freshman rules and sophomore traditions are giving way before an enlightened upper-class sentiment to the effect that freshmen have a right to be treated as human beings," reports the Daily Cardinal, University of Wisconsin. The freshman and sophomore classes at the University of New Hampshire have modified the traditional freshman rules. Hazing has been abolished at Capitol University, Columbus, Ohio. At the University of Cincinnati "Frosh taming gives way to training." The Student Council has dissolved the Vigilance Committees and supplanted them by the Men's and Women's Guidance Committees, who are to train the beginner in the rudiments of University of Cincinnati traditions and campus rules.

Just now a search by College Humor, monthly anthology of campus wit, and First National Pictures, for likely college men for the movies is on.

Directors and camera men and make-up men are being dispatched to leading colleges and universities to study present day collegians, and to make screen tests of the most promising ones.

Student government officials are determined that the honor system shall be extended to cover the screen test.

"Y" CHOOSES ITS OFFICERS

Neel Is President, Clower Is Vice-President, Dix Is Secretary, Sherrill Is Treasurer

Officers for the next school year, 1927-1928, were elected at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington and Lee University, Wednesday night.

Harry B. Neel, of Quitman, Georgia, was chosen as president for the coming term. The other officers elected were: vice-president, Joseph B. Clower, of Woodstock, Virginia; secretary, Daniel S. Dix, of Mobile, Ala.; treasurer, Frontis W. Sherrill, of Pensacola, Florida.

Officers are elected after recommendation by a nominating committee which has been previously chosen by the retiring president.

Two new faculty advisers for the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington and Lee were chosen at this meeting also. They were M. J. Gilliam, instructor in English and H. G. Funkhouser, assistant professor of mathematics.

According to members of the Young Men's Christian Association, the new administration should be very successful in furthering the good work that is being accomplished at Washington and Lee University.

LOFBERG SAYS MEET SUCCESS

Local Professor Says Classical Meeting Was Very Instructive And Beneficial

"A most instructive and beneficial convention," were the words with which Dr. J. O. Lofberg, professor of Classical languages at Washington and Lee University characterized the recent meeting of the Classical Society of the South, held here last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Dr. Lofberg was formerly president of

At the business meetings of the convention, many resolutions were passed, and the following officers for next year elected: president, N. L. Green, of the University of South Carolina; vice-president, Miss Marion Smith, of Hollins College; secretary and Treasurer, H. C. Lipscomb, of Randolph-Macon Woman's College. The officers were installed and succeed those who presided at this convention.

The meeting next year will be held at Asheville sometime during Easter week. This meeting will be a convention of the entire Southern and Middle West Classical Association, rather than a meeting of just the Southern section, as was the one this year.

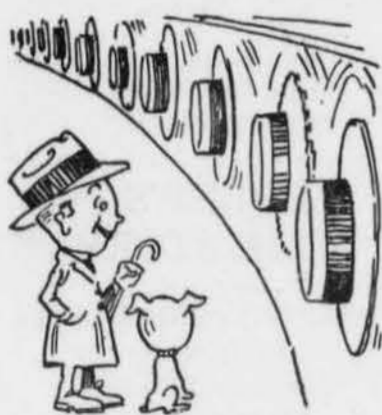

Plans For Finals Taking Shape At Washinton & Lee

Washington and Lee's 144th annual Finals, combining the seriousness of commencement with the gaiety of four days dancing and parties, will begin June 3 this year, and last till June 7, when the final ball, after commencement, closes the school year.

Martin W. Littleton, of New York, prominent political figure and well known speaker, will deliver the commencement address on Tuesday, June 7.

In addition to the five main university dances which are given during the commencement period, there will be fraternity formals and informals, crew races between the Albert Sidney and Harry Lee crews, and alumni reunions.

THE MODERN HEROINE

Clarisa Fairchild Cushman says that in her just-published novel, "The New Poor," she has tried to solve the problem of the adjustment of trained and educated business women to marriage, either with its more limited funds or more limited contacts. The modern woman who marries tries to make life suit her convenience instead of suiting her convenience to life, Mrs. Cushman contends.

victory for the juniors with his editorship of the Calyx.

A junior was elected as the leader of the Student Body in the person of E. H. Miller, this year's president of the successful Troubadours, and a letterman on the tennis team. Tucker hall claims the two subordinate administrative heads for R. W. Jordan, Jr., and W. J. Dorsey have undergone professor Williams' examination.

The results of the election indicate that tomorrow's seniors have business ability. F. B. Gilmore and G. S. DePass, both juniors, were chosen to manage the RING-TUM PHI and The Mink, respectively. R. B. Powers, Jr., a freshman lawyer, is the choice to make contracts for the Calyx.

The junior class has always been known to have light fantastic steps in old Doremus, so it is altogether fitting to announce that one of their constituents succeeded in conquering the confidence of the students to lead Finals of the next year to success. R. F. Howe enjoys this distinguished honor, while W. P. Woodley, an intermediate lawyer, will supervise the feature winter dance heralded country wide as Washington and Lee's Fancy Dress Ball.

Yearlings Defeated
By Oak Ridge 15-2

Wednesday, Oak Ridge Military Academy defeated the Little Generals 15 to 2 on Wilson field. The score was 4-2 in favor of the Cadets up to the eighth inning when Captain "Eddy's" tossers literally "blew up" allowing the visitors three runs and eight more in the ninth, to make their total complete.

McCarthy pitched well for the locals but timely hitting by the winners and several miscues by his teammates caused his downfall. Slanker led the losers at the bat with two safeties to his credit, a double and single. Tuggle, Eiband, Turner and Dulin gathered one apiece.

This game marked the third win for Oak Ridge this week, having defeated the V. P. I. Frosh twice in the preceding days.

The freshmen now have two games left on their schedule and, having won only two out of the seven played, will try hard to pull their average up before their season comes to a close.

Pi Kappa Phi's Win Group Cup

The Bible discussion groups which have been going on in the dormitories and in many of the fraternity houses during the past seven or eight weeks terminated last week. The Washington and Lee Y. M. C. A. sponsored these groups and selected and traiped the leaders as in past years.

As is customary, there was competition among the fraternities and also among the dorm groups. This year the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity won the silver loving cup which is donated to the fraternity having the highest average of attendance at the group meetings. The Pi Kappa Phi's barely nosed out the Sigma Nu's, who were the winners of the cup last year. The winner's average over the period of competition was 96% while the runners-up made an average of 95%. The S. A. E.'s; Alpha Chi Rho's; Kappa Sigma's; and Pi Kappa Alpha's followed in the order named.

In the dormitory groups, the right wing of Lees boasted of the highest average with 79%. The first floor of Graham's and the middle section of Lee's were second and third respectively.

GET it all. Don't miss any of it, the dizzy lights and party-colored frocks; stepping to the frenzied blare of saxophones; senses tingling with being alive and in the midst of it all. And next day—instructors who are likable but exacting.

To get the most out of college you must be full of vitality, must have every nerve and muscle working full time. Right food is the key to it. The Shredded Wheat habit will help you to make mind and body alert and throw off the poisons that bring sluggishness. You'll like it, too. It's appetizing eaten half a hundred ways; smothered in fruit and cream or toasted with butter and hot milk are just two of them.
