

1860 CENSUS
ROCKBRIDGE COUNTY, VIRGINIA
Transcribed from Microfilm, corrected, and annotated by Col. Edwin L. Dooley, Jr.

(Updated version – 27 January 2020 – Subject to additions and corrections)

The National Archives, National Archives and Records Service, General Services Administration, Washington. National Archives Microfilm Publication Microcopy No. 653, Population Schedules of the Eighth Census of the United States, 1860.

1. This study of the 1860 Rockbridge Census is part one of a three-part study that includes the 1860 and 1870 Town of Lexington Census returns.
2. The names and families appear in the order contained in the microfilm copy of the Census, although the dates assigned to the surveys do not run chronologically. There is no apparent explanation for this order.
3. Groupings follow those in the Census schedule. Groupings indicate family groups or persons residing in the same household; however, the order of names does not necessarily indicate relationships.
4. The spelling of many names has been corrected by the editor. Accurate and actual names have been substituted for many names incorrectly listed in the original Census. For names as they actually appear in the Census, the reader should consult the original Census record. Below are some of the variations found in the Census.

Variations on some names:

- (a) "Agnor" regularly listed in Census as "Agner." Variations: Agner, Agnor, Aignor, Agener, Aigner.
- (a) "Armentrout" Likely a variation of "Ermentraudt" Family migrated from Pennsylvania and some changed name to Armentrout.
- (a) "Barbara." Throughout the Census, the woman's name "Barbara" is spelled "Barbary." The name was, indeed, "Barbara" but in the 19th Century it was typically pronounced "Bar-brie." The spelling has been "corrected" here.
- (a) "Bentley" variation: "Bently"
- (a) "Betsy" usually written as "Betsey" (corrected in this transcription).
- (a) "Bogus" variation: "Boguess"
- (a) "Bolin" variation: "Bowlin"
- (a) "Brown" variation: "Browne"
- (a) "Chapin" routinely listed as "Chaplin" in Census
- (a) "Conner" variation: "Connor"
- (a) "Cyrus" variation: "Scyrus"
- (a) "Delilah" regularly listed in Census as "Delila"
- (b) "Drane" variations: "Draine" or "Drain."
- (a) "Dudley" variation: Dudley"
- (a) "Eliz," "Eliza," "Elisa," for "Elizabeth" used throughout Census (variations maintained in this transcription). Census taker routinely entered "Elisebeth" for "Elizabeth" (corrected to "Elizabeth" in this transcription).

- (a) "Elliott" regularly listed in Census as "Ellet" (corrected in this transcription)
- (a) "Entsminger" variation: "Inchmaker" (corrected in this transcription)
- (a) "Esther" regularly listed in Census as "Easter" (corrected in this transcription)
- (a) "Ferguson" variations: "Furgeson," "Furgison"
- (a) "Gaylor" regularly listed in Census as "Gailor" (corrected in this transcription)
- (b) "Gun" regularly listed in Census as "Gunn"
- (c) "Hart" regularly listed in Census as "Heart" (corrected in this transcription)
- (a) "Hayslett" variation: "Hayslette"
- (a) "Heslip" variation "Hayslep"
- (a) "Hite" variation: "Hight"
- (a) "Hostetter" regularly listed in Census as "Hosetetter"(corrected in this transcription).
Probably changed from "Hochstetler."
- (a) "Humphreys" variation: "Humphries"
- (a) "Hutchinson" variation: "Hutcherson"
- (a) "Ingram" and "Ingraham" apparently two different families
- (a) "James" and "Joseph." The abbreviations for these names are often indistinguishable.
- (a) "Kennedy" variation: "Kenedy"
- (a) "Larew" variation: "Larue"
- (a) "Lattin" variation: "Latan"
- (a) "Lilley" variation: "Lillie"
- (a) "Marg." for "Margaret" used throughout Census (the abbreviation is maintained in this transcription). Sometimes indistinguishable from "Mary."
- (a) "McCluer" listed in Census often as "McLuer" (spelling corrected to "McCluer" or "McClurer" in this transcriptions)
- (a) "McCormick" variations: "McCormack," "McCormic," "McCormac"
- (a) "McCulloch" variation: "McCulloch"
- (a) "McKemy" routinely listed in Census as "McKenny"
- (a) "Mutispaugh" variations: "Muterspaw," "Mutispaw," "Muthespaw," "Motherspay"
- (a) "Myers" listed sometimes in Census as "Myres" (spelling corrected to "Myers" in this transcription)
- (a) "Payne" variation: "Paine"
- (a) "Pultz" variation: "Pulse"
- (a) "Replogel" variation: "Replogal"
- (a) "Rees" variation: "Reese"
- (a) "Riley" variations: "Rily" or "Rilley"
- (a) "Rothgeb" variation: "Roadcap"
- (a) "Ruley" regularly listed in Census as "Ruly" (corrected in this transcription to "Ruley")
- (a) "Salling" variation: Sailing
- (a) "Sensabaugh" variations: "Sensebaugh," "Sansebaugh," "Sansebar"
- (a) "Sheppard" regularly listed as "Shepherd"
- (a) "Shewey" variations: "Sherry," "Shuey"
- (a) "Siler" variation "Sylar"
- (a) "Siron" variation: "Siren"
- (a) "Snider" regularly listed as "Snyder"
- (a) "Steele" regularly listed in Census as "Steel" (spelling corrected in this transcription to "Steele")
- (a) "Swartz" variation: "Swarts"
- (a) "Swope" variation: "Swoop"
- (a) "Taylor" variation: "Tailor"
- (a) "Tolley" variation: "Tolly"

- (a) "Vest" variation: "Vess"
- (a) "Walkup" variation: Wauchope
- (a) "Whitesell" variation: "Wetzel"
- (a) "Wilson" variation: "Willson."
- (a) "Withrow" variations: "Witherow," "Witherrow"

5. Birth dates are approximate.

6. Biographical information in the form of endnotes as well as birth and death dates have been added from independent sources listed in "Sources Cited in Endnotes." Ages given in the original Census sometimes are wrong and should be compared with birth and death dates from other sources. Of special help was Francis W. Lynn, Ananias Smith Denmark Correspondent (privately published family history), which relates the life of Ananias Smith, of Denmark and Upper Kerr's Creek area of Rockbridge County, who in later life reported deaths to the Rockbridge County News. Birth and death dates from this study are marked with an asterisk in this version of the Census.

7. For Slave Schedules and key to sources cited in endnotes, see 1860 Lexington Census.

8. The accuracy of linking of names in Census with names included in Robert Driver, A Roster: The Confederate Soldiers of Rockbridge County Virginia belongs entirely to the editor, E. L. Dooley. Some inaccurate linkings may have been made.

9. CAUTION: Many people who were living in Rockbridge County at the time of the Census and were buried in Rockbridge County graveyards do not appear in this Census list. Whether they were missed by the Census taker or for some other reason were left off the Census is not clear. The Census does not appear to be complete.

10. Search process complications with FIND A GRAVE: When searching a FIND A GRAVE location, sometimes it is necessary to begin your search by entering the name followed by "Rockbridge County Virginia" (without quotes). This will take you to the FIND A GRAVE location listing. Then click on it for the desired information. Going directly to the FIND A GRAVE location first does not always work. Sometimes it is necessary to begin your search by entering the name followed simply by FIND A GRAVE. Then click on the full FIND A GRAVE listing. The FIND A GRAVE search engine is inconsistent. Also, in many cases, information about a parent may be found only by searching the FIND A GRAVE entry on a child first.

NOTE: All websites constantly appear and disappear, are updated, and are otherwise changed over time. Researchers may have to search for alternative websites than those cited in the endnotes.

12. The informational endnotes to this Census study are updated periodically. For comments, additions, corrections, or suggestions, direct correspondence to Col. Edwin L. Dooley, Jr., c/o Special Collections, Leyburn Library, Washington & Lee University, Lexington, VA 24450.

13. Free use of this Census. The U. S. Census is a public document, but the transcription -- which was done directly from a microfilm copy of the Census -- and annotations are the result of hours of careful work by the editor. Therefore, if you use this resource, please give credit. This will be greatly appreciated and will inform others who may wish to consult this document. Thank you.

14. KEY: N = Number assigned by editor; S = sex (M = male, F = female); R = race (W = White, B = Black, M = Mulatto); B = birthplace. Dollar figures next to or below occupation indicates value of Real Estate (R) or Personal Estate (P), especially for farmers.

APPENDICES

APPENDIX A

THE VIRGINIA PRESBYTERY (Quoted from on-line book: The Centennial History of the Associated Reformed Presbyterian Church, 1803-1903, p. 38)

“The Presbytery of Virginia is composed of the following churches: Old Providence, August Co., Timber Ridge, Ebenezer and Broad Creek, Rockbridge Co., Va., and New Lebanon Monroe Co., W. Va. Ebenezer congregation for many years worshipped regularly also in Bethel Church, and was therefore called often Ebenezer and Bethel. Services are now very seldom held in the latter church. These five churches were in connection with the Presbytery of Pennsylvania from 1782 till Oct. 11, 1802, when they were connected with Big Spring Presbytery. This relation being dissolved at the forced union in 1822, the residue of the Associate Reformed congregations joined the Associate Church. The Associate Churches maintained their connection with the Associate Presbytery of Pennsylvania, and were, May 1, 1800, transferred to Chartiers Presbytery. In Aug. 1803, however, they were part of the Presbytery of the Carolinas, and here they remained till April 16, 1844, when they became a part of the First Presbytery.

The Virginia Presbytery was organized at Ebenezer, May 8, 1854, the following members being present: Rev. Horatio Thompson, D.D. [#11241], Rev. I. G. McLaughlin, Rev. W. M. McElwee, Student A. B. Beamer. Elders Hugh Brownlee [#9761], Michael Beamer, John McKerny.”

APPENDIX B: SOME OLD MILLS OF ROCKBRIDGE

Some no longer exist = *

Beatty’s Mill (Whistle Creek. On US 60, west of junction with 641)

Brady’s Mill (Falling Spring branch of Buffalo Creek, on 608, south of 700)

Buffalo Mills

Cedar Grove Mills

Furr’s Mill (Originally Leyburn’s Mill) (on Furr’s Mill (Maury River) Road)*

William McGuffin Furr moved to Brownsburg sometime before 1850 and operated a lumber mill that became known as “Furr’s Mill.” His son James H. Furr (1842-1911), a millwright, fought in the Civil War, but is not included in Driver, Roster. The Furr family doesn’t appear in the 1860 Census. See Internet: James H. Furr (1842-1911) – Find A Grave Memorial.

Gillmore's Mill (near Natural Bridge Station)*

Hays (Hayes) Creek Mill (on 724, west of 726)

Also known as McClung's Mill, Patterson's Mill, and Steele's Mill. A grist mill near Brownsburg. Dates from 1819. Also a miller's house, corn crib, and cow barn.
See Internet: Wikipedia: Hays Creek Mill.

Kennedy-McCray (Walker's Creek, Rt. 602)

Kennedy-Wade Mill (Wade's Mill) (Rt. 606 to Kennedy Wades Mill Road). Grist mill located in Raphine, Rockbridge County, VA. Built in 1750 by Captain Joseph Kennedy, sold to Henry B. Jones. Later owner: James F. Wade. See Internet: Wikipedia: Kennedy-Wade Mill.

Lowman's Mill, Kerr's Creek (1816). Later became "Miller's Mill." ("Monmouth Mill")
(Kerr's Creek, US 60 west of junction with 627).

McCormick Mill (on branch of Marl Creek, Rt. 606)

McKemey's Mill (renamed Denmark). Later "[Ananias] Smith's Mill*

"James H. "Jake" McKemy had bilt the mill in 1872 on land purchased from Wm. T. and Nancy W. Moore for $1000. .... A mill had previously been in operation on the premises at one time... (Jake McKemy was the person most responsible for the emergence of the prosperous little village at the headwaters of Kerr's Creek. Cleopatra makes the statement, such as the following: "Mr. Jake McKemy bought a home in Denmark. He was a carpenter. He built a 12 – room house and piped the water to the house from the Moore spring. The two Harper boys lived here when he was building He built the mill across the road above his home. He built the store in the corner of his yard. Mr. [Ananias] Smith lived in the negro cabin across from the mill. He took charge of the mill. He ground grain for the village." [Actually, the name "Denmark" did not appear until ten years of more later.] "Jake" McKemy had come into the area in 1866 and was operating the old mill on the Moore property, on a rental or leasing basis prior to building the new mill in 1872. An article penned by "Agricola" in the Virginia Gazette (later changed to Lexington Gazette ). October 21, 1870, states "At McKemy's mill we have quite a business little place, consisting of a flour mill, store, blacksmith shop, shoemaker shop, and post office. It is proposed to build a carding machine and wagon-make shop in the spring. All this has been done in the last three years and through the energy of J. Harvey McKemy...." It is most likely that "Agricola" was Henry H. Teaford...." from Lynn, Ananias, p. 25:

Moses Mill

Oceola Mill (Marl Creek, Vesuvius, Rt. 56).

Painter's Mill (Collier's Creek, 251, est of Effinger, now Clemmer's Store)

Potter-Wade Mill (Colliers Creek (west side 251 at Iron Bridge at Colliertown)

Rapp's Mills

Red Mill (on Cedar Creek, on 609). Built by William Poague (ca. 1765).

Sold to William McClanahan (1768) and then to Hugh Barclay (1770), who painted the structure red.

Rogers Mill (South River, on 608, near junction with 631)

Sale's Mill (Sales Mill Road, Fairfield)*

Wade-McCaleb Mill (Colliers Creek, on 251, at junction with 644)

Whissen's Mills

(a) For information on Francis “Frank” Thomas Anderson and Anderson families, see Proceedings of the Rockbridge Historical Society: 5 (1954-1960), 1959 Minutes, pp. 80-89; Hardesty, Historical, 93-94.

(b) Born in Botetourt County, VA. Attended Washington College (W&L), graduated at age 19. Studied law and was admitted to Botetourt County bar at age 21. Moved to Rockbridge County from Botetourt County, VA, in 1855. Elected to VA House of Delegates in 1861. In 1869 he resumed the practice of law and in 1870 was appointed to Supreme Court of Appeals. Retired in 1883. From 1879 to 1887, he was rector of Washington and Lee University (Wikipedia: “Francis T. Anderson”).

(c) “About 1852 he thought necessary he should take charge of and personally superintend a property which he held in Rockbridge county, to which he removed and retired from the practice of law, although he had overcome so many obstacles and was now in the zenith of professional success” (Hardesty, Historical, pp. 93-94).

(d) “In 1855 the family moved to Glenwood in Rockbridge County. Glenwood was the site of the Glenwood Iron Mines, and Francis Anderson gave up almost all of his law practice to devote his time to agriculture and to the iron industry” (1959 Minutes, p. 80). Anderson was the owner of Glenwood Furnace (Dew, Iron, pp. 151-152). Glenwood was close to today’s town of Glasgow.

(c) “It may have been memories of his [Rev. Samuel Houston] student days in the days before the creation of Liberty Hall Academy, but it is more likely that the urgent need for the education of boys of the community, even his own sons, that turned the heart and mind of Houston to the idea of a school at ‘Rural Valley’. When the idea took concrete form, the circumstances and the studies to be undertaken, is not of record and the lack of data makes it difficult to recount. His first son, Samuel Rutherford Houston, was born in 1809 and, of him, it is said that ‘until sixteen he was under the tuition of his father in the Rural Valley Classical School.’ Then, when en route to enter Princeton University, he decided to enter Dickenson College, at Carlisle, Pa., from which he was graduated, July 3, 1825. Of his second son, John Davies Houston, born in 1809, it is said that ‘after completing the prescribed course of study in ‘Rural Valley Seminary’, he entered astore in Lexington, Va., as clerk” (Diehl, Houston, p. 75).

He was born about 1780 and died intestate 10 July 1834. He married 25 May 1815 Lucy W. Darst, daughter of Benjamin and Lucy (Woodward) Darst. She was born 14 March 1793 and died 1867. Henry was a captain in the Virginia militia during the War of 1812. He and Lucy lived near present day Glasgow where they were members of the Falling Springs Presbyterian Church. When he died, he left eight minor children and a substantial plantation with twenty-two slaves. She did not remarry. In 1850 she was living with her children: Jackson, a wagonmaker, and Hannah Cornelius, evidently a widow at 33. Lucy must have been a very capable woman. In the 1860 census she was listed as a farmer and no male was living with her to work the farm, which was valued at $3,080.

Poague House, and scroll to Section 8, page 7: “James A. Poague died in January 1842 and his property, described as comprising just over 180 acres in tax records, passed to his heirs.... His widow Magared apparently received a life estate in the property. ... The construction of the Poague House... For January 4, 1848, the settlement record notes $1,801.51 ‘paid for Bulding House,’ suggesting most or all of the construction work on the house occurred during the previous year, 1847...

“Census and other records provide insight into the makeup of the Poague family household and slaveholding and the operation of the farm. In 1830, Margaret headed a household consisting of herself, her sons James W. (age 17) and John A. (age 9), and her daughters Sarah M. (age 13) and Rebecca M. (age 11). She owned five slaves, a man and a woman and three children. On Poague’s farm were horses, milk cows and other cattle, sheep, and swine. Crops included wheat, corn, and oats. Memorandums of agreement between Margaret Poague and her son John, who by the 1870s appears to have taken on the role of farm manager, mentioned crops of hay, potatoes, clover seed, and tobacco. According to the settlement record, a barn was built on the farm ca. 1852.... It was noted in 1851 that W. H. Crawford was paid $28 for building a ‘S.h.’ As most of Margaret’s children were then of school age, it seems likely that this building was a small schoolhouse...

At the age of sixteen years, beginning to entertain concern for the future battles of life, he entered Shemaria Academy, where he remained two years, then pursued a course through the junior year at Virginia Collegiate Institute, near Staunton, Virginia. He next entered and completed a three years' course in the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Lexington, South Carolina. After graduating he settled in Salisbury, North Carolina, and soon engaged in the book and stationery business. About this time he was married to Elizabeth Ann Locke, daughter Richard Locke, of Rowan county. She had one son, Harry Locke, but in less than eighteen months after marriage mother and son were laid side by side in the Salisbury cemetery. His second wife was a Miss Margaret C. Anderson, whose mother was the daughter of Capt. John Dickey, who greatly distinguished himself in the American revolution .. 'the hero of King's Mountain.' By this marriage two children were born: Bettie Virginia (Minnie), and Margaret Catherine (Maggie)...In 1854 Mr. Coffman returned with this two children to his native state and settled in Rockbridge county, where he again married. This third choice was Miss Martha P. Eads, daughter of John W. and Catherine Eads." (Beckworth, Montgomery County, pp. 312-313).

Virginia. There he was an extensive planter and he owned many slaves. He married Catherine Douglas, a daughter of John W. Douglas, of Arnolds Valley, Virginia. John W. Douglas had two brothers, one of whom settled near Big Island, Bedford County, Virginia, and the other settled near Bedford City, Bedford County, Virginia, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of ex-president Wilson, is descended from the latter. John W. Eads owned the whole of Arnolds Valley, where he settled, and this was a large estate even for those days when extensive plantations were the rule rather than the exception. Catherine Douglas was born in Arnolds Valley, and she died at Falling Springs Church. Since the war he has been an earnest and consistent Republican in politics. He was a man of great earnestness and very decided opinions and fearless in the expression of them. Intelligent, and of strict integrity, he possessed the respect of all, including those who differed with him. He was a man of large size and striking appearance and preserved his vigor to a remarkable degree. He left a wife and four sons, Harvey, Calvin, Joseph and Newton. The two first named live in Collierstown, the other two in the West."

(e) Obit from Lexington Gazette, 15 Mar 1899, p. 3: “[Lexington] Mayor Thomas E. McCorkle died at home in Lexington, Friday night, March 10th, 1899, shortly after 9 o'clock... Thomas E. McCorkle was born three miles from Lexington fifty-four years ago. He was a son of the late Thomas McCorkle, a prominent farmer of the county, who was descended from Revolutionary stock, his grandfather, Lieutenant John McCorkle, being killed in the battle of the Cowpens. His mother was Miss Susan Alexander, who was a descendant of Robert Alexander, the distinguished principal of the famous Augusta Academy which after many changes became Washington and Lee University. Young McCorkle entered the Confederate Army in 1862 and served with distinction until the close of the war. He was a member of the Rockbridge Artillery and was a brave and gallant soldier. He took part in many hot engagements and as a gunner, he was noted for the accuracy of his shooting. After the war Mr. McCorkle married Miss Lula Anderson, daughter of Mr. David Anderson, of Louisa, but later of Richmond, where he died some years ago. Mrs. McCorkle also could trace her ancestry to Colonial times she being a direct descendant of Colonel Richard Anderson of the Revolutionary Army. One child was born to them, a daughter, who in June, 1898, married Rev. C. J. Boppel and went with him to Africa as a missionary, where she died in November, 1898, of African fever. Mr. McCorkle is survived by his widow, also by two brothers --- Dr. William McCorkle, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Mr. Samuel W. McCorkle, of near Lexington, and one sister, Mrs. James Montgomery, of Richmond. During the days when the canal was the only means of transportation to and from Lexington Mr. McCorkle was engaged at East Lexington in the mercantile and commission business. Later he studied law at Washington and Lee University, and since his graduation in 1885 he devoted his time to the practice of his profession. During the boom days of this section, in 1890 and before, he was one of the leading men and possibly did more than any other man for the inauguration of the enterprise which afterwards developed into ... for colored people, who attended in large numbers.

“The Scott-Hutton Farm nestles in the Sugar Creek valley of western Rockbridge County, Virginia. An early stone springhouse, a timber-frame bank brn, and other buildngs cluster around a Greek Revival farmnouse with a log original sectin. The log house was the home of William and Ann Scott, who owned the property from 1802 to 1830.... Major James C. Hutton, a mill owner and millwright acquired the property in 1843 and enlarged the log house with frame additions. Heavy greek Revival mantels and vibrant oak graining on doors and trim are among the house’s notable interior features. The McCorkles were later owners....”
“Hutton was instrumental in the construction of Collierstown Presbyterial Church. When the congregation determined to build its current churchbuilding in the heart of the village of Collierstown in 1854, Hutton was appointed to the building committee. He served as clerk of session from 1858 to 1886....”

Our oldest citizen, neighbor and friend, who has long been favorable known as ‘Old man Henry Smith’ died last night at the residence of his daughter in-law, Mrs. Mary Smith, with whom he had made his home for many years... There were some remarkable things about his life, and I will venture to say that his long line of posterity is with a parallel in this county. I visited him last Friday evening, when in the presence of several of his daughters and a few friends he related a few of the events of his life. He said he was born in Jacktown, in the house in which James Nicely now lives; that he had never, not even in his last illness been under treatment of a physician, and could see to shoot squirrels last summer. With his assistance in part and that of his daughters, I took a list of his immediate family and their descendants. His wife’s maiden name was Angeline Childers, who was raised along the ‘Short Hill’ of Buffalo. She died about twenty years ago. To them were born thirteen children... Mr. Smith lived for more than seventy years at and very near where he died, at the base of and between Dale’s and White Rock Mountains.”

(c) See Internet: William Alexander Ruff (1826-1902) – Find A Grave Memorial. Obituary printed from 1902 Gazette at this site: “RUFF –With the oppressive weight of 76 years, Mr. William A. Ruff laid down his burden Saturday night, Aug. 16th, at 9 o’clock, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. D. S. Eads, of near Falling Spring church. It was no unexpected circumstance... So interwoven was Mr. Ruff with the religious, social and business life of Lexington and Rockbridge, that his death will come as a distinct loss to the community. He was the only remaining branch of a stately tree that flourished in Lexington more than half a century ago, whose memory is precious to Methodism even to this day... Last fall he left Lexington for Bluefield, W. Va., where he spent the winter with his son, Mr. J. William Ruff. He returned to Lexington more than a month ago, and shortly after his arrival he was taken ill at the home of his daughter and continued to decline until for the past two weeks his life was despaired of. William Alexander Ruff was born in Lexington August 18, 1826, the son of Mr. John Ruff [Judge John D. Millslagel Ruff, 1783-1858], a useful and prominent citizen of his day, who lived in the house on Mainstreet long occupied by THE GAZETTE. His mother was Miss Martha Wallace [1782-1828], a daughter of Colonel Samuel Wallace, the first justice of Rockbridge who lived near Lexington and in whose house the first county court was held in 1777, previous to the incorporation of Lexington. He was educated at the Virginia Military Institute and for some time previous to and during the war he was a purveyor of cattle and meat for that institution. His whole life was spent in Lexington where he was successful as a farmer, cattle dealer and butcher. At one time he was president of the Rockbridge County Fair, a charter member and director of the Rockbridge Mutual Insurance Company, and in other ways was identified with the agricultural interests of the county. As a local historian he was accurate and entertaining, and frequently made contributions to the local press. He was a communicant and for years was a steward and trustee of Trinity Methodist church of Lexington, and was one of the most liberal contributors at the erection of the new church in 1890. He married Miss Mary Moore, daughter of the late Samuel R. Moore of Rockbridge, and a few years ago they celebrated their golden wedding. Mrs. Ruff survives him, together with one daughter, Mrs. D. S. Eads of near Falling Spring church and two sons, Mr. Edward M. Ruff of Lexington [near Longwood, Rockbridge County], and Mr. J. William Ruff of Bluefield, W. Va. ... A short funeral service... Lexington cemetery... A touching incident was the singing of a favorite hymn “Jesus Lover of My Soul,” led by his life long friend Mr. James M. Senseney. The pall-bearers were R. R. Witt, S. R. Moore, S. O. Campbell, Judge W. P. Houston, Col. W. T. Poague, and Capt. J. P. Moore..”

He was 23 years old and listed his occupation as farmhand.... His service was cut sort by a wound in the left leg, obtained in the Battle of Alleghany Mountain on December 13, 1861... In the 1861 records for Private Nicely, he was said to be slightly wounded. Eventually he was sent home and throughout in the records, he is marked absent... By this 1863 record,it is noted that he lost his leg because of his wound.... After being wounded, Salome returned to Virginia and is enumerated there in 1870 with his parents at Kerrs Creek, Rockbridge County, Virginia. Jacob and Elizabeth, 61...In 1873, Salome, along with his father, Jacob, and brother, William P. (William Philander), went to California and registered as

(c) “He was the oldest newspaper man in Virginia, and was one of the founders of the Lynchburg Virginian. He located in Richmond in 1852, and was identified with the control and management of the Richmond Whig, both in business management and staff correspondence throughout the State. He retired from that paper in 1875 and returned to Rockbridge, but later was associate editor of the Staunton Spectator for many years. During the civil war he entered the Confederate service as first lieutenant of the Richmond Howitzers, and was promoted to major at Manassas. He was promoted and given command of the camp for artillery at Richmond in the fall of 1861. He was finally promoted to the rank of brigadier general before the close of the war, but modestly never assumed the title. He took a lively interest in politics, and was a lifelong Democrat. With ex-Gov. John Letcher as running mate, he was defeated for the Virginia assembly

Quoting from the site: “From Frank Duff...Daniel Moses Strickler, b. 3 Mar 1806, Walker’s Creek, Va., (son of Christian Christopher Strickler and Maria Magdalena Geldmacher). He married Mary Jane Brown, 28 Jan 1831, in Rockbridge Co., VA. b. 11 Oct 1813, Rockbridge Co., VA (daughter of Jacob Brown and Elizabeth Lewis) d. 9 Nov 1882 (92?), Ladoga... IN. Daniel died 22 Apr [1863] ... Brownsburg, Rockbridge Co., VA... Daniel Moses Strickler was born along the waters of Walker’s Creek near Newport in Augusta Co. He may have been born on the farm of Ludwig Geldmacher, for whom his father had worked for some time. His first name was common to the Strickler family. His middle name is taken after his first cousin Moses Funkhouser Strickler. Daniel grew up living the life of a typical farm boy. That is to say lots of work and little time for education. By his early adulthood, Daniel had developed a passion for carpentry. One of the local wheelwrights took him as an apprentice. At the age of 24, he married and soon afterwards began a family of his own. He lived near Ott's Mill and for many years worked for William and Enos Ott as a wheelwright. William Ott's wife was his first cousin, Mary Virginia Strickler. From tax records of the 1840, we know that Daniel lived on the road from Samuel Lyles Mill to Lindsey's in Rockbridge County, Virginia. Daniel and Mary were members of Timber Ridge Presbyterian Church... Daniel apparently lived due west of Fairfield, probably halfway between Ott's Mill and what is today called Campbell's Mill...."

(c) NOTE: Enos B. Ott (1827-1904), not listed in the Census, is listed in Driver, Roster, p. 230, as a Confederate veteran. Also found in Driver, but not in the Census, are David Alexander Ott (1843-1893), Franklin Augustus Ott (1845-1909), Henry Arthur Ott (1822-1869), James Davidson Ott (1841-1922), and William Baxter Ott (1839-1861). All of them were born in Augusta County and may have been living there at the time of the Census.

(c) Committed suicide 22 May 1899 in Steele’s Tavern home (See Internet:Death of David Baxter Brown Stauton Vindicator 15 May 1899... “Suicide of David B. Brown. Steele’s Tavern, May 22 [1899] – This community was gretly shocked last Friday by the news that Mr. David B. Brown had shot himself in the forehead at 5 o’clock that moning. The wound was instantly fatal. He lived four miles south of this place in Rockbridge county. He owned a small farm, was in comfortable circumstances, was a moral, upright man, enjoying the confidence and respect of his neighbors, and no reason is known for the sad taking of his own life. No one heard the fatal shot, his son being absent from the house at the time, and his wife being dull of heaing. Not appearing at breakfast time, search was made for him, and he was found dead in in his son’s room with the pistol lying at his side. He was about 54 years of age. “

Mr. Nathaniel Brook Rees died Saturday moning at his home ner Elmeria, after a continued illness of nearly a year.... Mr. Rees was born in Montgomery county, Pa., in 1825. At the age of twenty five he came to Virginia and was first engaged as superintendent and manager for his uncle, Michael Towers, who was a contractor in constructing the James River and Kanawha Canal at points between Lynchburg and Buchanan. Afterwards he contracted for the work on the canal between Ben-Salem and Lexington, a distance of about five miles, on North river. During and for some years after the war he conducted the merchandising business at East Lexington, and for some years was clearance officer at that place for the James River and Kanawha Company. In 1871 he repaired the damage to the North river branch of the canal, caused by the flood of the year previous. For several years thereafter he was internal revenue inspector for the district embracing Rockbridge and adjoining counties. In 1875 he bought a farm near Elmeria where he resided until his death. Mr. Rees was a public spirited man and was always ready to give of his time and experience to the advancement of his adopted county. He was elected supervisor for the Natural Bridge district in 1885, and was five times successively re-elected. He was made chairman of the board, a position he filled until age and ill health forced him to retire from active business, much to the regret of his associates. Mr. Rees married Miss Mary Ann Mays of Botertourt, in 1843. Seven children were born to them, four sons and three daughters – Messrs. Thomas S., Horace M., William and Leander Rees, Misses Letitia and Sallie E. Rees, all of the county; and Mrs. Mary E. Towers, of Phoenixville, Pa., all of whom with his wife, survive him, except Miss Letitia who died a few years ago just as she was budding into womanhood.”

(b) Lt. R. A. Glasgow was member of the Class of 1853, Washington College. Historian Ollinger Crenshaw writes: “Lt. L. R. Glasgow, ’53, wrote an account which glowed with pride as he detailed the gallantry of the College company, but conveyed sad news of heavy casualties. He and others told of the cannon ball and shell that killed Benjamin A. Bradley, Charles W. Bell, and ‘Squire’ Paxton’s son William L., all of the class of 1861 and natives of Rockbridge. Other members of the class fatally wounded included William B. Ott and H. L. Wilson, Jr. in a charge on the enemy batteries, and Cyrus D. Strickler and Calvin Utz. Frederick Davidson, ’57, William N. Page, Jr., ’60, and John J. Fry, ’57, were among older alumni killed. Two future rectors of the board of trustees [of Washington and Lee University], G. B. Strickler, ’67, and William A. Anderson, ’61, were wounded.” (Crenshaw, Lee’s College, p.128). Glasgow died of typhoid fever in 1862 (Driver, Roster, p. 103).

- (a) See Internet: Cornelius Clarke “C.C.” Baldwin (1811-1894) – Find A Grave Memorial, quoting obituary from Staunton Spectator, Volume 71, Number 39, 23 May 1894: Death of C. C. Baldwin. Mr. Cornelius C. Baldwin died at his home near Glasgow, at 2 o’clock Monday afternoon. He had for some time past been infirm in mind and body by reason of advancing years. He was 83 years old “During a former generation Mr. Baldwin was a man of importance and influence in the county.
“He was born in Frederick County, Va., and was the son of Joseph Baldwin. One of his brothers, Joseph Baldwin, attained great celebrity as the writer of ‘The Flush Times of Alabama and Mississippi.’ Another, Judge Briscoe Baldwin, was a jurist of eminence.
“Mr. Baldwin came to Lexington about 1834 and became editor of the Union. He was editor of that paper when, in 1836 it was changed to the Lexington Gazette. It was as editor of the Gazette that he attained a reputation that has survived him. He was an ardent Whig, a man of wide information and a master of controversial writing. Writing of this character was very popular in the papers of that day, and he upheld Whig principles with a trenchant pen.

“After some years he left the Gazette and went into the practice of law. This he followed for a time. He then retired to a farm on North river where his after years were spent in comparative seclusion. In the period just before the war he became an ardent Secessionist and along with John W. Brock Enbrough was a Secession candidate from Rockbridge for the convention in 1861. They were defeated by Sam'l McDowell Moore and James B. Dorman, the country being strongly Union.

“Mr. Baldwin was twice married. In 1837 he married Margaret Paxton (1813-1847), a daughter of Hugh Paxton of North river. Of this marriage one son is living, Dr. Joseph Baldwin (#10942) of Maryland; two children died in recent years, John P. Baldwin (#10940) and Mrs. Alex. M. Garber ((#10941). Mr. Baldwin's second wife was Miss Susan Sale (1834-1910) of this county, who survives him with one son, Briscoe Baldwin of Glasgow.

“He was buried at Glasgow Tuesday afternoon.”
