"a Most Appropriate Thing"
(The President's Page)

We have just received a gift which touches my heart profoundly, one that will stir the gratitude of our alumni. It is a fund to support a scholarship, given by Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Andrews of Norfolk in memory of their son, Charles James Andrews, Jr., who was killed in action somewhere in Italy.

* * *

Jim Andrews, as we knew him on this campus, was an uncommonly brilliant and eager boy, richly endowed not merely with acquisitive intellect but also with creative ability. He finished his work here with distinction and then went on to Yale where he made a record equally creditable.

It seems incredible to those of us on the campus that the bright promise of such a life be denied fulfillment. It is one of the tragedies that lie beyond our understanding. But his parents have done a beautiful and, it seems to me, a most appropriate thing.

* * *

This scholarship will always make it possible for some boy of Jim's interests and capacities to receive the training for the achievement of a life-time career defined in Jim's own aspiration.

* * *

In some highly spiritual sense Jim Andrews will live forever on the campus.

Francis Pendleton Fairer
President
The 195th Commencement

At graduation exercises for thirteen Washington and Lee University seniors, Saturday, April 29, Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president, declared that happiness and greatness depend upon the things in which men have faith. Addressing the seniors in Lee Chapel at the 195th commencement of the university, Dr. Gaines said that beyond the power of the inquisitive, scientific mind, there stands the power of faith. “Not great faith,” he said, “for all men have faith, but faith in great things.”

Dr. Gaines declared that it was not a coincidence that in 1776, four great writings appeared in the world—Gibbon’s “Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire,” Adam Smith’s “Inquiry Into the Causes of Human Wealth,” and Jefferson’s Declaration of Independence. The fourth, he pointed out, was the hymn of majestic faith, written by Augustus P. Toplady, “Rock of Ages.”

The exercises were opened with an invocation by Dr. W. W. Morton of the university faculty. Prizes and scholarships were awarded by Dr. Gaines. The valedictory address was made by William Bell Guthrie, Phi Beta Kappa, summa cum laude, of Petersburg, Virginia. Mr. Guthrie, in bidding farewell to his fellow seniors, expressed the belief that knowledge must be complemented by spiritual values, stating that “intellect is not sufficient in times of moral and spiritual chaos.”

Following the valedictory address, diplomas were delivered to the seniors, and three honorary degrees were conferred: The doctor of divinity degree to the Rev. James Edwin Bethea, rector of Robert E. Lee Memorial Episcopal Church, Lexington, Virginia; the doctor of laws degree to Circuit Judge Walter G. Riddick of the Eighth Circuit, United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Little Rock, Arkansas, and to Dr. Paul Dulaney Converse, professor of marketing, University of Illinois. Judge Riddick was graduated from Washington and Lee in 1904, and Dr. Converse received degrees here in 1912 and 1913.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. James Edwin Bethea.

William Bell Guthrie, bachelor of arts senior of Petersburg, Virginia, who made the valedictory address, also received the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion for ideals of living and service to others.

Robert Oscar Crockett, Jr., of Tazewell, Virginia, received the Lind Prize in Chemistry.

The Mahan Award for freshman creative writing was made to David Vance Guthrie, Jr., of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and the sophomore award to Thomas Mahlon Wright of Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

Endowed scholarships were awarded as follows: Mapleson Scholarship—William Bell Guthrie, Virginia; Vincent L. Bradford Scholarship—Robert Bruce Quayle, New York; James McDowell Scholarship—John Bostwick Holley, New York; Franklin Society Scholarship—William Jean Pierre Byrne, Virginia; James J. White Scholarship (Greek)—Leonard Rex Criminate, Alabama; Mary Louisa Reid White Scholarship (Chemistry)—David Vance Guthrie, Jr., Louisiana; James H. Hamilton Scholarship (Greek)—James Stanton Blain, Virginia; Young Scholarship (Philosophy)—William Smith, Arkansas.

The following departmental scholarships were also awarded: Commerce—Thomas Carter Lee, Virginia; Biology—John William Funkhouser, Virginia; History—Charles Harwood Shook, Missouri; Education and Psychology—John Nicholas Ryan, Kentucky; Latin—Albert Harold Woodruff, Florida; Geology—Jack Andrew Crowder, West Virginia; Journalism—Berrymon Brent Breedin, Jr., South Carolina; Spanish—Jack Donald Reid, New York; English—David Maclyn Nowell, North Carolina; and German—Charles Calhoun Hedges, Jr., Georgia.

Degrees were awarded to thirteen seniors, thirty-five others having been awarded in August, 1943, and February, 1944, in keeping with Washington and Lee’s accelerated wartime policy.

Academic and professional degrees were awarded to the following seniors: Bachelor of Laws—Thompson Crockett Bowen, Jr., Virginia; Benjamin Porter Brown, Jr., West Virginia; and James McClintic Davidson, Jr., Virginia.

Bachelor of Arts—Ernest Lovell Becker, Ohio; Stuart Moore Faison, cum laude, Virginia; William Bell Guthrie, Phi Beta Kappa, summa cum laude, Virginia; Ewing Sloan Humphreys, Jr., Georgia; James Douglas McLean, Jr., cum laude, Virginia; and Norvelle Woody Moses, Virginia.

Bachelor of Science in Commerce—Lloyd Luther Ward, Jr., Arkansas.
William H. Moreland, 1879-1944

By Raymon T. Johnson, Professor of Law

Dean William Haywood Moreland of the Washington and Lee School of Law died on March 30 at his home on the campus. He was 64 years of age and had been subject to a heart ailment for a number of years. Funeral services were held in Lee Chapel and burial was in Norfolk. He is survived by his wife and three children. He was a member of Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Phi, and Omicron Delta Kappa fraternities. In 1933 he was awarded the LL. D. degree by Hampden-Sydney College. He was a member of the Virginia State Bar Association.

Dean Moreland was born in Norfolk and there received his early education. He attended Washington and Lee and graduated from the School of Law in 1906 and was president of his class. Upon graduation he returned to Norfolk and engaged in the practice of law as a member of the firm of Baird, Swink and Moreland. While engaged in practice he gave legal instruction to young men preparing for the state bar examination and there developed that deep interest in legal education which he maintained until his death.

In 1914 he was called to Washington and Lee as professor of law and in 1923 became dean of the law school. Both his professorship of 30 years and his deanship for more than 20 years are records for length of service in the history of the School of Law.

Dean Moreland’s contribution to legal education, however, is based upon something more substantial than length of service. He brought to the profession of law instruction a keenness of mind, a balance of judgment, a breadth of interest and of reading that made him more than a mere specialist in a narrow branch of the law. He had great admiration for the Anglo-American system of common law and was skeptical of the enduring value of much of the widespread product of legislative reform. His broad study and discriminating judgment refused to accept mere change as evidence of progress and he vigorously defended the slower, but more orderly, process of legal evolution based upon long-range social experience. Those who were associated with Dean Moreland know that he was unyielding in his insistence upon the observance of the highest standards of legal instruction. He realized that no course of instruction could cover all the ramifications of the law and that the course of study should be directed toward a rigorous training in fundamental legal principles. This standard of instruction he strictly adhered to in the conduct of classes in his own particular field of pleading, practice and evidence.

Dean Moreland’s influence upon his colleagues, his students and his Alma Mater was significant and profound. The University and the School of Law have suffered a great loss in the death of an able administrator and a thorough scholar. As long as personal and professional integrity shall be valued and strength of conviction and independence of judgment shall be esteemed, Dean Moreland’s long and distinguished service will be one of the brilliant chapters in the history of Washington and Lee.

Clayton Epes Williams has been appointed Acting Dean of the School of Law at Washington and Lee University. He succeeds Dean William Haywood Moreland, who died on March 30.

Dean Williams was appointed to the Washington and Lee faculty in 1919 as associate professor of law. The following year he was named professor.
Additions to List of Alumni in Service

As of May 5, 1944

Note: This list of 142 alumni in service comprises the eighth published addition to the list of Washington and Lee men in service, published in the May, 1942, Magazine. Washington and Lee now has 2,743 alumni listed in the armed forces.

In compliance with the military and naval authorities, we have refrained from giving information about service men save their class and branch of service, and indicating whether or not they are commissioned officers. However, the Alumni Office is vitally interested in other pertinent data, such as actual rank, station, permanent home address, or other address from which mail will be forwarded, special activities, type of service or training, etc. The permanent home address is most important as service addresses change so rapidly.

It is our policy to keep as close a connection as possible with our alumni in this time of stress, and any information concerning alumni in service will be greatly appreciated by this office.

In the listing below, certain symbols have been used to conserve space. These symbols and their meaning are as follows: A, Army of the United States; AAF, Army Air Force; N, United States Navy; NAC, Naval Air Corps; MC, Marine Corps; CG, Coast Guard; AFS, American Field Service; MMS, United States Merchant Marine Service. An asterisk (*) following the above symbols indicates a commissioned officer.

Twins instructed by twins. This unusual situation came about when Aviation Cadets Robert L. Schultzze, second from left, and Edward J. Schultzze, on Robert’s left, arrived recently at the Enid Army Air Field, Oklahoma, for their basic training. The instructors are Capt. George M. Murray, left, and Capt. William A. Murray, right. The Schultzze twins are 21 years old and sons of Mr. and Mrs. Al Schultzze, 1215 West Fourteenth Street, Danvers, Illinois. The Murray twins, both flight commanders at the Enid Army Air Field, are 25 years old and sons of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Murray, 261 Beach Road, Glencoe, Illinois. The Schultzze twins, before entering cadet training, worked in Rock Island, Illinois, Robert as a junior clerk at the Rock Island Arsenal and Edward as an engineer draftsman for the U.S. Engineers. The Murray twins attended Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, from 1937 to 1941, and both belong to Sigma Chi fraternity.

J. W. Lattomus, who has been the faithful Class Agent for 1896 for the past four years, met with an accident last June which resulted in the amputation of his right leg above the knee. He is "carrying on" as Class Agent again this year, evidencing his continued devotion to Washington and Lee.

We wish to apologize for any errors in the class notes appearing in this issue. The letters from which these notes are taken were written, for the most part, early last spring. The rapid influx of alumni into the several branches of the armed forces of the United States have no doubt rendered some of these notes inaccurate. We would like to have more material for class notes in letters to your Class Agents this year.

1907

W. K. ("Bill") Ramsey is with the International Boundary Commission, United States and Mexico, U. S. Section, El Paso, Texas. His three sons are all in the service. He says: "Reminiscing a bit, did it ever occur to you how many things started at W and L during our years there? I offer the following list of 'firsts' for the 4-year period of 1903 to 1907 and challenge the 'gen'lmen' of any other like period of time to produce a longer list:

(1) W and L Swing composed and first played and sung. 1907, I believe.
(2) First Fancy Dress Ball, 1905 or 1906.
(3) First Mock Political Convention (do they still have them?). 1903, I believe.
(5) First 'color-work' Calyx (Bledsoe & Manly, 1906).
(6) First house occupied exclusively as a fraternity house (Delta Tau Delta, in 1907).
(7) First victory over Virginia on Lambeth Field (1906).
(8) First of the national honorary societies to enter the University (Phi Delta Phi, in about 1907).
(9) First trial (of modern time, at least) under the Honor System. 1906 or 1907.
(10) First try-outs of new yells to replace the out-moded 'Ring-turn Phi' couplet.

"We were up and coming lads in those days, no doubt about it. Perhaps you can think of other firsts to add to the list. In any event you have my full permission to publish it along with the challenge. It might prove to be an interesting and harmless diversion in these times of stress and strain."

T. Russell Cather is practicing law in Winchester, Virginia. He says he is a rather busy, fairly successful country lawyer; devoting much of his time to work as a member of the Selective Service Appeal Board for northern Virginia. He is a grandfather, a Presbyterian, takes a drink in moderation, plays poor golf, worse poker; has worked hard, lived rather well, and is not obligated except socially, to anybody on earth, and believes at this point that the world owes him nothing. Sounds like a good life to us.

J. M. Moore is Superintendent of Greenbrier Military School, Lewisburg, West Virginia. He says his school is still popular and they are still filled in spite of those who have gone out. He is President of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the United States.

Grover A. Batten, M.D., is practicing his profession at 405 Dillingham Transportation Building, Honolulu, Hawaii. He says the major part of his work at Washington and Lee was done in Dr. Howe's department and he considers the contact with him as one of the most fortunate features of his career.

William F. Riser is with the New Sabinas Company, Limited, Cloete, Coah, Mexico. He says: "In my memory of Washington and Lee Dr. Howe stands out more prominently than any other individual instructor, probably because his interest in his subject was stronger and more contagious than the others, or it happened that I was more interested in his subject."

Luther Drake Harper is a contractor in Rocky Mount, North Carolina. His address is 700 Sycamore Street.

Edward H. Deets is a civil engineer with the Maryland State Roads Commission as Right of Way Examiner, a position he has held intermittently since 1932, less some interruptions and excursions into other adventures. He has a boy seventeen and a girl twelve.

Lieutenant James Kidd, Lexington, Virginia, bombardier on a Flying Fortress, and his buddy, a co-pilot, having survived a two-hour running gunfight over Germany and three hours in an open boat on the North Sea, where they had been ditched after being shot to pieces, thought they were entitled to some recreation, and started out for leave in London. They had the misfortune to board one of two trains involved in England's worst railway wreck of the year. Both were seriously injured. Kidd had a fractured pelvis and severely burned legs. He received much blood plasma which helped his quick recovery from shock. He is eager to return to duty but will be skittish about railway trains for some time.

Washington and Lee Commemorative Plates

Although a large order for Washington and Lee plates was placed many months ago only a small shipment has been received in this country, and we have no assurance as to further deliveries.

The Alumni Office has been overwhelmed with orders for plates since the advertisement appeared in the January issue of the magazine, and we have no plates for sale until a further shipment is received.
