A Message from your
ALUMNI PRESIDENT

These War years are hard on us all but they are particularly hard upon institutions like Washington and Lee. Your Alma Mater has weathered every war that your country has experienced and, with the fine type of loyal support that the alumni are displaying, Washington and Lee will weather this one, too. Have no fear of that.

Alumni: Past, Present and Future

(THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE)

I HAVE RECEIVED an account of probably the most moving alumni meeting of which I have ever heard.

In the tense hours just before the great continental invasion, one of the larger landing craft received a unit of about two hundred American soldiers. There was nothing to do but wait for a time. Conversation went quietly on among officers and men. It developed that the Naval officer in command of the boat, a captain of the troops, and a first lieutenant of the troops, were all graduates of Washington and Lee.

There is, to be sure, "a tie that binds" all fellow alumni of any college. We like to believe, and I feel a genuine assurance to that effect, that the sense of the Washington and Lee experience draws men into immediate and unique kinship. Over and over I have received notes that tell in one form or another the story of that landing craft.

Never in college days, I dare say, did one of these hundreds of men dream that the Washington and Lee comradeship would be a matter of their participation in circumstances so terrible, circumstances that indeed outrun the fancy of even the most energetic mind. But if the circumstances had to come, we are gratified that the comradeship was acknowledged, appreciated, enjoyed.

These men, and the hundreds reported in the class notes of this issue, and all the others scattered into almost fantastic diffusion by the strange mandates of duty, all of these men will think and talk of the Washington and Lee they knew and loved. But they think also, and they write me, with much concern about the Washington and

Lee that is to be in the years that are to follow, years that never again will be entirely like those before this upheaval of world-wide war.

To these men I feel an obligation to give, again and again if they will forgive iteration, the assurance that the essential Washington and Lee will not and must not change, whatever be the external course of society. If we lose that essential quality, the reason for existence has ceased to be compulsive.

The name of this institution is a suggestion—no, it is a guarantee—that Washington and Lee is built upon foundations and is not a bit of pedagogical opportunism, perhaps I should say flotsam, to drift around upon every changing current of educational whim or educational competition. It is necessary, of course, to know what is foundation and what is superstructure that is capable of wise modification; but it is the primary imperative to know that there is the foundation, to know that fact and have enduring respect for it.

The foundation is essentially character. It is individualized character, confessing the dignity and the promise of the separate personlity. It is character of the spirit and character of the mental fortitude and character of the social obligation. Reverence and honor are the expressions of the spirit, the capacity for hard work and the candor to face reality are of the mind, a deep concern for the human values is in the social obligation.

The alumni of the future must be, as the alumni of the past have been—and never more so than in these desperate days—the heirs of the allegiance and the faith that were in Washington and in Lee.

Francis Pendleton Fairlee

Items of Current Campus News

Washington and Lee is now well established on the quarter system. The arrangement in effect will enable students who wish to do so to cover one and a third of a former session's work within a calendar year and thus cut down appreciably on the time required to earn a degree. It is still possible, however, for a student to carry work during only the regular session and drop out for the summer.

The summer quarter that ended the first of August showed probably the smallest enrollment ever registered at Washington and Lee since the War Between the States, with sixty men attending. Of this number seven were freshmen who entered in June. The next quarter that begins August 21 will have approximately twenty freshmen entering. In view of the fact that when boys are now seventeen the majority of them are entering one of the army or navy programs, we are glad to have this number to carry on student traditions during the war. The total enrolment for the next quarter will probably be something under one hundred.

Of the seven freshmen who entered in June, three had close alumni connections. Matt Paxton, III, is the son of Matt Paxton, Jr., Class of 1918; Bob Patterson is the son of Houston Patterson, Class of 1919; Bob Needham is a brother of Bill Needham, Class of 1939. Rickie Burton, Class of 1917, will have a boy entering in the freshman group that begins work August 21.

A great deal of the time of the members of the Administration is at present being devoted to plans in connection with work for the veterans who may be expected to take advantage of the opportunity offered under the G I bill. Even with the overwhelming majority of the Service men still being occupied with the major task of winning the war, numerous inquiries are being received from men who have never attended Washington and Lee as well as from our own alumni who left the campus to enter the armed forces before completing the work for their degrees. A letter written by President Gaines to the parents of all Service men who have attended Washington and Lee during the past ten years has brought many responses of appreciation and items of interest relative to the Service careers of their sons. A letter has also been sent out by the Dean of Students to all alumni of the Class of 1938 and subsequent classes, calling attention to the G I bill and sending a summary of the provisions of the bill.

There is being prepared at the present time a summary of the various courses and degree programs that Washington and Lee will be prepared to offer to veterans, with particular emphasis on the program for men who wish to complete their academic work with as little delay as possible.

Looking to future classes, the Alumni Office sent out with all Class Agents letters this spring a card, asking for the names of the children of the alumni. From the cards received a file is being prepared that will be used in keeping in touch with sons of alumni as they approach the age to enter college. (Presumably the feminine side of the register will have to be used to furnish candidates to lead Fancy Dress.)

The School for Special and Morale Services continues to expand in size, although it has not been necessary to take over any appreciable amount of additional facilities to care for the increased enrollment. Around seven hundred students are now attending each 28-day course, with a permanent staff of approximately two hundred officers, enlisted men, and WAAC's. In connection with the SSMS it is interesting to note that in the more than twenty classes that have gone through the School only two classes did not have one or more Washington and Lee alumni enrolled the age to enter college.

Some of the younger alumni followers of intramural sports who can remember scrambling up the muddy bank between Wilson Field and the Alumni Field above, will be glad to know that there is now a broad flight of concrete stairs connecting the two fields. The installation was made necessary by the almost constant use throughout the day of the Alumni Field by the expanded classes of the Athletic and Recreation branch of the SSMS.

Frank J. Gilliam, '17, former Dean of Students of Washington and Lee was commissioned on January 11, 1943, as Major in the U.S. Army and assigned to the administrative staff of the School for Special Service at Washington and Lee. He has received an honorable discharge from this service and is now again serving as Dean of Students at the University. Rupert N. Latture, '15, who served as Dean of Students in the absence of Mr. Gilliam, is now Registrar of Washington and Lee University. These changes become effective Aug. 1, 1944.

Additions to List of Alumni in Service

As of July 31, 1944

NOTE: This list of 114 alumni in service comprises the ninth published addition to the list of Washington and Lee men in service, published in the May, 1942, Magazine. Washington and Lee now has 2,888 alumni listed in the armed forces.

In compliance with the military and naval authorities, we have refrained from giving information about service men save their class and branch of service, and indicating whether or not they are commissioned officers. However, the Alumni Office is vitally interested in other pertinent data, such as actual rank, station, permanent home address, or other address from which mail will be forwarded, special activities, type of service or training, etc. The permanent home address is most important as service addresses change so rapidly.

It is our policy to keep as close a connection as possible with our alumni in this time of stress, and any information concerning alumni in service will be greatly appreciated by this office.

In the listing below, certain symbols have been used to conserve space. These symbols and their meaning are as follows: A, Army of the United States; AAF, Army Air Force; N, United States Navy; NAC, Naval Air Corps; MC, Marine Corps; CG, Coast Guard; AFS, American Field Service; MMS, United States Merchant Marine Service. An asterisk (*) following the above symbols indicates a commissioned officer.

Student Army Training Corps at Washington and Lee in 1918. How many of them can you identify?

Memorial to Dean Moreland

At the Meeting of Washington and Lee Alumni, Incorporated, held at the University on May 27, 1944, Dr. L. W. Smith and Mr. Clayton E. Williams were appointed a committee of two to draw up resolutions on the death of Dean Moreland. The resolution is to be made a permanent record in the minutes, to be published in The Alumni Magazine, and a copy sent to Mrs. Moreland.

On March 10, 1944, in the death of William Haywood Moreland, the Alumni Association lost one of its most loyal and devoted members. Mr. Moreland was a student in the Law School and received his LL.B. in 1906. Although he spent only two years as a student, he knew what it meant to be on the campus of Washington and Lee.

For many years it was one of his duties to explain to the Freshman class the Honor System, and no one was better qualified to do so, as he was a living example of its principles.

Mr. Moreland came back to the University in 1914 as professor of Law and was Dean of the School from 1923 until his death.

An able administrator, a teacher of wide reputation, a friend of athletics when unalloyed by professionalism, we have lost in his death one whose place in the University will be difficult to fill.

We offer this memorial to him from his fellow alumni.

L. W. Smith
C. E. Williams

Service Casualties

1937

2nd Lt. Emil E. Tomchik was killed in the crash of a Flying Fortress on July 17, 1943. The accident occurred in Logan, New Mexico, while on a routine flight. The entire crew of nine perished.

1941

Ensign Samuel Givens McFadden, Naval Air Corps, was killed in the crash of his torpedo plane at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on March 2, 1943. Following is an excerpt from the first letter he wrote to his parents after entering Washington and Lee in the fall of 1937: "I have never enjoyed myself so completely, nor had a better time in my life. This is the finest place in the world. I feel like yelling 'Rah, Rah' for sheer joy. I met President Gaines today. I have never known a man who is so completely a gentleman, scholar, and all-round fine fellow as he is. Tonight we went to Lee Chapel, and President Gaines talked to us about our privilege of being able to learn, as compared with boys of other countries. You could have heard a pin drop. There followed a talk on traditions of the campus and the honor system. Write often, but I'm not homesick."

2nd Lt. Paul Emil Gourdon, Jr., U.S. Army, was killed in action on July 11, 1944, in France. His home address was 340481 Eighty-First Street, Jackson Heights, New York.

Lt. Ross Beason, Jr., U.S. Army Air Corps, was killed in an airplane crash in North Africa on April 15, 1944.

1945

Lt. John McDowell King, Naval Air Corps, Pilot of a P-38

fighter plane, was killed on May 4, 1944, in Italy, in the crash of a plane. No further details were given.

William C. Hood, of Ashland, Kentucky, was reported killed in action in Italy, February 2, 1944.

Sgt. Joseph Overton Stagg, Jr., U.S. Army Air Corps, was killed in action over Burma on February 25, 1944. He was a radio operator on a transport and was attached to the Second Troop Carrier Squadron. He entered the Army the latter part of November, 1942, finished training and left for India the early part of November, 1943. He remained there until his death. He was awarded, posthumously, the Purple Heart, Citation of Honor from General Arnold, and a Memorial from the President. His home was in Danville, Kentucky.

1946

Flight Officer William Carter Shinn, of Ashland, Ohio, was killed in July, 1944, in the crash of a four-engined bomber near Rapid City, South Dakota.

In Memoriam

1893

Charles D. Forrer died in 1943. His home was in Parkersburg, West Virginia.

1894

Lowndes Calhoun died November 9, 1943. His home was in Atlanta, Georgia.

1896

George Gordon Stiles, of Rome, Georgia, died August 5, 1941.

1897

Albert George, of Knoxville, Tennessee, died June 8, 1944.

1898

Edward John Parrish, of Norfolk, Virginia, died in August, 1943.

1905

Malcolm D. Campbell died June 18, 1944. His home was in Lexington, Virginia.

Major Samuel Charles Harrison, United States Army, Retired, died in March, 1944.

1906

Robert Eubanks Witt died in the Jackson Memorial Hospital, Lexington, Virginia, on May 10, 1944.

1908

Thomas Russell Cather, B.A. 1908, LL.B. 1910, died on May 14, 1944, in Winchester, Virginia.

1911

John Nevin Kilmer, LL.B. 1911, of Martinsburg, West Virginia, died June 2, 1944.

Harry H. Harnsberger, of Staunton, Virginia, died June 19, 1944.

1913

Thornton Whitney Allen died, after a brief illness, on July 30, 1944. He was head of the Thornton Allen Company, music publishers, 37 West 44th Street, New York City, publishers of the Washington and Lee Swing, and many other well-known college songs.

1918

James E. Cantrill, of Georgetown, Kentucky, died June 29, 1944.

1923

Oliver R. Daves, of Roanoke, Virginia, died April 6, 1944.

D. P. McKinnon, of Miami, Florida, died December 5, 1943.

1930

L. M. Cottingham, of Houston, Texas, died April 27, 1943.

1932

Edward T. Weeks, Jr., died March 27, 1943. Surviving him are his widow, a son now nearly five years old and a daughter 3. His home was at New Iberia, Louisiana.

1937

Edgar B. Ruff was fatally injured in an industrial accident at Northfork, West Virginia, on May 19, 1943. (In the May issue of The Alumni Magazine, this was erroneously reported as Richard Harrison Ruff. Richard Harrison Ruff is a member of the Class of 1933, and is now in the Army, stationed at or near Pearl Harbor.)

What One Alumnus Did . . .

One Alumnus sent, in response to the letter from the Class Agent for the 1914 Law Class, a Series F $500.00 War Bond. From the letter accompanying the bond, the following paragraphs are quoted:

"With further reference to your letter of April 20, 1944, and the 1914 Law Class of Washington and Lee, I have finally matured my plans to the extent of enclosing you herewith a Series F Bond, D446541F, in the maturity value of $500.00, in the name of Washington and Lee University. Please put this to the credit of our class in your returns for this year, if it is not too late.

"The enclosed represents a partial fulfillment of an old ambition of mine to give back to the College the difference between what my education cost and what I paid. I got the figures from the Treasurer several years ago and have had them constantly before me, and I admit something of a sense of gratification in making this first payment on account. There are so many things, of a spiritual and inspirational nature, for which I am indebted to the College, and which I can never repay, that I am glad to pay something on account of what I can repay."

A brief reunion somewhere in Southwest China was held recently by two members of the Class of 1932, Major Donald C. Thompson, Infantry, left of Jacksonville, Florida, and Major Randolph T. Shields, Jr., Marine Corps, of Winchester, Virginia. Major Thompson is with the Y-Force Operations Staff, and Major Shields is with the Medical Section of the Z-Force Operations Staff. Both of their outfits are training Chinese troops for combat operations against the Japanese in China.

More contributors and more money than final report, January 1, 1944.

†Sam Silverstein, Class Agent for 1917-L, died on April 1, 1944

NOTE: The above report of the 1944 Alumni Fund represents the largest number of contributors and the largest amount of money received in any year since the Class Agent Plan was started in 1933. The final totals for 1943, which was the previous high mark, showed that 1409 contributors gave $12,301.75. This year's fund does not close until January 1, 1945.

Class Notes

1879

J. E. Allen lives at 404 Twenty-Second Street, Virginia Beach, Virginia. He expresses his devotion to Washington and Lee and his best wishes for her continued prosperity and usefulness.

1886

Dr. John V. McCall received his M.A. from Washington and Lee in 1886. He was in the ministry for forty seven years, in Texas and Oklahoma. He is now retired and living in his boyhood home, Weatherford, Texas. He recalls many pleasant incidents of his school days in Lexington.

W. J. Humphreys gives no news of his activities. His address is Cosmos Club, Washington, D. C.

Robert Lee Hunter, 7343 Westmoreland Avenue, University City, St. Louis, Missouri, was a charter member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Washington and Lee. His son, Joseph Hunter, is an A.B. of 1940.

W. T. Armstrong is a member of the law firm of Armstrong, Cranford, Barker and Bedford, American National Insurance Building, Galveston, Texas.

Dr. Brown Craig Patterson and his wife are now living at Route 2, Staunton, Virginia, after serving as missionaries of the Presbyterian Church in China for over a quarter of a century. Two of their sons are graduates of Washington and Lee. He says he has a warm place in his heart for the University and the men who have been fitted for life there. He and Mrs. Patterson and their two sons were under Japanese control in China for a year, but got away before the Japanese could legally put them in a concentration camp.

Henry W. Holt, Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals, lives in Staunton, Virginia.

Edwin W. Kaminski lives at Georgetown, South Carolina. He says: "Whenever I hear from you it brings back pleasures of old associations. I am glad to hear that your contributions are increasing and that the University is carrying out its old traditions of doing good work."

Captain Greenlee Letcher, who has had a rather prolonged illness, is now well and active again. He is still practicing law in Lexington, Virginia. His son, John Seymour, '27, is now a Lieutenant Colonel, serving in the South Pacific area.

Class notes in the five issues of THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE, beginning with October each year, are compiled from the letters received by the Class Agents during the previous spring and summer. In this issue we are using as many notes as possible about alumni serving with the armed forces, feeling that much of this information will be out of date by the fall. Home addresses are given in most cases with the hope that letters will be written to them and forwarded promptly.

Dr. James Q. Chambers gives his address as 3614 Holmes Street, Kansas City, Missouri.

1890

Judge F. M. Hudson asked if we would be willing to accept some of the important briefs or judicial reports he has prepared in lieu of a class letter. This offer we declined, so he sent us one of his extra-professional efforts on the early history of Dade County, Florida. Before gas rationing, Judge Hudson and his wife spent many summers in Lexington where they have a host of friends. His home is in Miami, Florida, where he is a member of the law firm of Hudson & Cason.

Augustus K. Bowles gives his address as 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, New York.

Dr. Douglas S. Anderson is living at Ogunquit, Maine, after serving for many years as Dean of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Judge William Folsom Moore is a member of the law firm of Moore & Moore, First National Bank Building, Paris, Texas.

1896

C. Cabell Tutwiler has a beautiful home "Brushwood" on the slope of the Brushy Hills, near Lexington, Virginia, commanding an unsurpassed view of the town and the surrounding countryside.

Dr. Livingston W. Smith is still teaching Math at Washington and Lee.

Charles E. Heater lives at Point of Rocks, Maryland.

H. H. Larimore gives us no news of himself. We therefore presume he is still an official of the Missouri and Pacific Railroad. His offices are in the Missouri Pacific Building, St. Louis, Missouri.

1898

Henry W. Anderson, member of the law firm of Hunton, Williams, Anderson, Gay and Moore, Electric Building, Richmond, Virginia, says there is nothing he can do about a class letter, that he is going on doing the same thing he was doing last year.

David M. Barclay is still with the United States Tariff Commission. Having heard his Class Agent, Ed O'Neal, speak over the radio, he wants to know where he acquired that farmer vernacular.

R. W. Holt is chief accountant for the Public Schools of the District of Columbia, Thirteenth and K Streets, Washington, D. C.

J. Sam Slicer is practicing law in the Chamber of Commerce Building, Atlanta, Georgia.

1902

Volney M. Brown is a member of the law firm of Brown & Brooke, El Paso National Bank Building, El Paso, Texas. He and his wife made a trip to Lexington in 1941, which he hopes to duplicate when it is possible.

A. L. Burger is Superintendent of Public Schools, Lynchburg, Virginia. His son is a First Lieutenant in the Army.

(Notes written by Class Agent, Bruce F. Gannaway)

Lt. Clyde Nixon Allen is in the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific. No word from Clyde, but an acknowledgement from his sister.

Lt. Commander Alexander Nathan Chaffin is a doctor aboard an LST in the South Pacific, where he has been serving for more than a year. No word from him but an acknowledgement from his wife in Wytheville, Virginia.

Lt. Col. Allen Rushton is moving right along. The alumni records showed him as Captain; I thought he was a Major, and here he is one step beyond. He must be doing a swell job in the Ordnance Department, and is still stationed in Birmingham. (I guess most of us have noticed the splendid idea produced by Allen's brother, Frank, in the development of the "Birmingham Plan," given fine publicity in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post.)

Major Allan Sloan is in Edmonston with the U.S. Engineers. He says that during the past year he has travelled 60,000 miles, mostly by air, covering Alaska, the Yukon, Northwest Territories, and other areas. "Spec" plans to have the war over so we can have our reunion next June. I'm all for it.

Capt. E. E. Rosborough is still at Camp Lee, Virginia. "Red" was rarin' to go overseas last year, as I know most fellows are after they have been in for a while. But we know "Red" is doing a grand job where he is, or they would probably have moved him on.

Lt. Charles Walton Rex, USNR, Air Center, Navy 158, FPO, San Francisco, writes an interesting letter from the Southwest Pacific where he has been kept mighty busy. Walton reminds us that after the war the only real solution is to give Christian principles a chance, and to promote good will among all men. Let's hope we don't fail to do this. Walton, from the midst of the battle, sends us a Defense Bond to his Alma Mater. I'm sure he knows more about the value of these bonds than we do.

Lt. Marvin F. Hummer, USNR, is still in the South Pacific, where he has been for over a year and a half. His letter to me was late because of "a quick trip to New Zealand." Marvin sent his check for $25.00, a thing which he has done every year since leaving W. and L. That's a mighty good example.

Capt. W. C. ("Johnny") Mead has written us from a "coral atoll" saying how much he has enjoyed reading a copy of The Alumni Magazine, which gave him a nostalgia for a sight of House Mountain. He has been out there for eleven months.

Bob Stuckenrath is still living at 300 Shaw Avenue, Lewiston, Pennsylvania.

William E. Moore is practicing law on his own and is looking forward to our twentieth reunion. Has it been that long?

Fillmore Norfleet is teaching in "The Groton-of-the-South," Woodberry Forest School, Woodberry Forest, Virginia. He is married and has a son, aged three. In April, 1943, he was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa at Washington and Lee.

Ransom Houchins is now claims agent for the Mundy Motor Lines in Roanoke, Virginia. He is living in the country, about seven miles from Roanoke, and doing a little farming on the side. He sends best regards to all members of the Law Class of 1925.

Cpl. John C. Harris, 697th Army Air Force Band, Army Air Field, Great Bend, Kansas, writes: "I have been in the Army for ten months now (April), all of which has been spent here at the Great Bend, Kansas, Army Air Field. By some queer classification, the Army has tried to make a musician out of me. I don't care for that much, but there are certain advantages attached to it, chief of which is the fact that I have been located at only one base and I have one of those rare Army camp apartments and my wife and daughter have been with me since induction. So far, it has been a very pleasant tenure in the Army, considering, and I have been spared any of the hardships of war."

Dr. George W. Schnath, who normally lives in Evanston, Illinois, writes: "I went on active duty as Navy Dental Officer last May, and was assigned to the U.S. Marine Corps, at Camp Elliott in San Diego, where I remained until December, when the overseas orders came. Duty has really been fine and I have no kicks coming at all, even though I volunteered for Navy duty and am serving with the Marines, it's a grand outfit. I'm out in the beautiful Pacific and really have seen some scenery that is beautiful, and have had no action as yet."

Capt. Robert K. Hoadley, Headquarters, I.R.T.C., Camp Hood, Texas, sends no news other than that implicit in his return address.

Lt. Comdr. J. G. (Jack) Marks, U.S. Coast Guard, writes: "A word about myself—I'm now stationed 'somewhere in Australia' as Commanding Officer of a Coast Guard Unit. I made Lieutenant Commander last month after 30 months of service, 22 of which have been spent overseas in the Caribbean and Australian areas. Before the war I graduated from Columbia Law School ('35) and practiced law with my uncle in New York City until 1941. I'm still single and not growing younger—hit 34 last Sunday. That's the shortest autobiography I've ever written."

Major Jack J. Stark has been in the Army since 1941 and is now Chief of the Surgical Service at Wakeman General Hospital Camp Atterbury, Indiana. His wife, Harriet, and daughter, Judith Lee, are living in Shelbyville, Indiana, close to Camp Atterbury.

Major James V. Freeman writes from England last May: "Believe my 'service record' is on file with the Alumni up until the move from Camp Blanding. Was ordered out with several others into the numbered unit, and about the first of the year we joined the group over here in England. This is a great country in many respects, and it's been quite a novelty to become used to the people, their customs and manners, and their somewhat unusual monetary system. Have managed to see some of the sights of London, and the old cathedrals and points of interest in other towns. Our unit is set up in permanent buildings and is functioning well in the professional management of the cases. Of course, the big day is yet to arrive, but we are prepared for it whenever it does come. It might be of interest to Washington and Lee—over my bed on the wall is the beautiful colored picture of the campus and calendar that Dr. Gaines sent out with his Christmas message and somehow it managed to reach me. Wonder in what other parts of the world a similar scene exists? It sure is a swell reminder of wonderful days gone by." Major Freeman is attached to the 48th General Hospital.

Claude LaVarre says he is still carrying on with the Singer Sewing Machine Company in Santiago. He and his wife have had to change their routine to conform to the demands of a year-old boy. He says life in Santiago has been little changed by the war. "... One of the minor contributions we can offer is to provide a little entertainment for men in the armed forces and merchant marine who come our way. Fellows from the Guantanamo Bay Naval Base nearby come to our town frequently, and we meet a lot of boys from ships which put into port. If any Washington and Lee men are among these without our knowing it, we'd like for them to look us up. We can provide a few hours of home-like atmosphere and some refreshments. (After all, this is the home of Bacardi.)" His address is Singer Sewing Machine Company, Apartado 194, Santiago de Cuba.

Bill Robinson was inducted into the Army last November and was sent to Fort McClellan, Alabama, for his basic training. It was there that Bill really got a tough break—one that would take the heart out of any fighting man—he was sent to Washington and Jefferson which is in his home town and I imagine he had to sleep on a soft bed every night and put up with that good old home cooking. Since then Bill has been selected as a member of an interviewing team which travels around interviewing enlisted men.

Ross Crom has been granted a commission in the Naval Supply Corporation, and was to go to Harvard for training beginning the last of June. Ross was in the department store business before enlisting in the Navy, so will, no doubt, find the Supply Corporation right "up his alley."

Joe Arnold has been accepted for OCS in the Judge Advocate's Office and was scheduled to take his training at the University of Michigan. Joe says that the papers were wrong in saying that a private gets $50.00 per month, for the boys like to play poker—that's Joe's avocation. Joe was really going to town with his law practice in Lexington, Kentucky. As a matter of fact, he was doing so well that the firm of Allen, Duncan and Duncan was changed to Allen, Duncan, Duncan and Arnold—he was just about to make a touchdown when the first quarter ended.

Washington and Lee Commemorative Plates

ALTHOUGH a large order for Washington and Lee plates was placed many months ago only a small shipment has been received in this country, and we have no assurance as to further deliveries.

The Alumni Office has been overwhelmed with orders for plates since the advertisement appeared in the January issue of the magazine, and we have no plates for sale until a further shipment is received.
