

The Alumni Magazine

Washington and Lee University

OCTOBER
1938

Homecoming Day

★ ★

Saturday, October 22

Generals vs. Va. Tech

WILSON FIELD, 2:30 P. M.

AUG 28 1939

★ ★

Your Friends Will Be Here . . .

Will You?

Education—Not Through Fear or Force

(The President's Page)

THE editor of a daily paper recently watched about forty robust college boys climb into a bus and go merrily down the highway. He made this occurrence the theme for an impressive editorial, saying that at this troubled time in any other "civilized" country of the world those boys could be going to only one place, for only one purpose: a point of concentration where they would be put in readiness for war. The American boys, however, were going to play an innocent game of football with other boys of their own country.

It is probably time for us to pause again in gratitude for the elemental things that we have long taken for granted; for example, the fact that in this country a boy's life is still his own to command, rather than a unit of personality to be held for the huge and horrible exigency of an international conflict.

But if we are grateful for this fact we should be mindful with new emphasis of a correlative. This is, stated roughly, the obligation that is upon us so to stimulate and encourage these boys who enjoy perfect freedom of ordering their own destiny, that the resultant lives will be disciplined and devoted, not by virtue of an outward regimentation but by virtue of the inward compulsions, born of faith in ideals which are steadily envisioned and nurtured by experiences which make for fitness.

For when all is said and done, those boys who live under relentless outward authorities, the kind of government we call dictators, achieve superbly certain ends. They are given physical exercises to keep the body in best condition; they are given such education as they do receive under conditions that make for knowledge plus fidelity to duty; they develop capacity for intense work; and they are taught to hold their lives as completely subordinate to a cause.

The problem of our education is to lead a boy to perfect all these competencies not through fear of merciless force that is without him but through the strength of purpose within him.

To this end we at Washington and Lee seek consistently to scrutinize and to enforce the processes for adjustment and the modes of inspiration that we think serviceable.

It may seem elaborate, the pattern of our effort to encourage boys to develop within themselves momentum of mind and spirit. We have a large number of orientation meetings; we have faculty advisers for every student; we have student councilors in the dormitories to aid the freshmen; we have in certain departments a generous provision by which the instructors give extra time to students who are slow in mental acquisitiveness in that field; we have enlarged greatly our program of religious stimulation.

We are looking for any other mode by which the University can give the boy a good start and can help him sustain his initial energies.

It may seem elaborate, but if it should save one boy it would be worth it all. Indeed it should help many boys. No one can diagnose the exact point at which a boy's courage may falter or his inner government may weaken or his personal ideals be dimmed. About all that we can do is to provide the maximum of encouragement, hoping that in this varied service we may at the critical moment reach the boy when he most needs help.

It is my conviction that the alumni of this institution and the discerning leaders of youth on the secondary levels will be glad to know that Washington and Lee has such a program and recognizes its importance. We feel that this effort is one of the primary phases of our mission to youth.

Francis Perretton Jones
President

Eighty-four sons of Washington and Lee alumni enrolled this year at their fathers' alma mater are shown in the above photo.

Eighty-Four Sons of Alumni Enrolled

EIGHTY-FOUR SONS of alumni, six more than last year, were enrolled at Washington and Lee University at the opening this fall of the 190th session.

Attendance of so many "alumni sons" this year indicates, administration officials pointed out, steadily growing tendency on the part of former students to send their sons to their Alma Mater.

Registrar's figures showed this month that total registration for the 1938-1939 session was 948. This figure includes the largest freshman class of the past three years—the freshman enrollment this fall is 287. The enrollment figures also include 36 transfers, 17 of whom are in the School of Law. Total enrollment for the law school was 106, a figure slightly above that of last year.

Dr. Gaines indicated prior to the opening of school in September that the established quota of 925 students would be exceeded because of an unusually heavy increase in the number of applications for admission to the University. A gradual increase in applications has been observed by administration officials for the past several years.

* * *

The sons of alumni are pictured in the large photograph to the top of this page. "Alumni sons" in the entering class are shown in the other photograph accompanying this article.

Sons of alumni at the University this year are:

Son	Father
John Alexander, Jr.*.....	J. R. H. Alexander '07
Gordon Alford.....	E. L. Alford '85
Bob Arnold, Jr.....	R. W. Arnold '08
Lupton Avery.....	Clarence R. Avery '14
Charles Bagley, Jr.....	Charles F. Bagley '07
Fred Bartenstein, Jr.....	Fred Bartenstein '08
Vaughan Beale.....	Ernest L. Beale '08
Frank Bedinger, Jr.....	Frank Bedinger '13
Robert Mac Boatwright.....	John G. Boatwright '15
Howard Brooke*.....	George Brooke '00
Edward Brown, Jr.....	Edward Brown '11
Richard Burke.....	Jerry Burke '15

Son	Father
John Daniel*	W. P. Daniel '18
John Davis, Jr.	John Davis '92
Mason Deaver, Jr.	Mason Deaver '08
William Delaplaine, Jr.	Wm. T. Delaplaine '09
William Derr	H. A. Derr '10
W. R. J. Dunn, Jr.	W. R. J. Dunn '07
James M. Faulkner, Jr.	J. M. Faulkner '17
James Foard	Wm. H. Foard '06
Grady Forgy, Jr.	G. H. Forgy '18
F. W. Foreman	E. W. Foreman '13
John W. Garrow, Jr.	J. W. Garrow '99
George Gassman	Isaac P. Gassman '07
Walter Guthrie	F. P. Guthrie '11
Harvey Handley, Jr.	H. A. Handley '06
L. R. Hanna, Jr.*	L. R. Hanna '14
Cecil Hardy, Jr.	Walter C. Hardy '14
J. N. Harman, III	J. N. Harman, Jr. '12
Birnie Harper, Jr.	Birnie Harper '13
Kennedy Helm, Jr.	T. Kennedy Helm '95
Dick Herndon	John G. Herndon '11
Charles Hobson, Jr.	C. N. Hobson '06
Robert Hobson	H. P. Hobson '14
Ned Burks	 M. P. Burks '05
William Burns	Clarence Burns '01
John L. Campbell, Jr.	John L. Campbell '09
Robert F. Campbell, Jr.	Robert F. Campbell '78
George Chaney, Jr.	G. W. Chaney '11
Thornton Cleek*	George W. Cleek '12
Melvin Cruser, Jr.	Melvin E. Cruser '09

Son	Father
Bob Holland, Jr.	R. E. Holland '14
Aubrey Houser	A. A. Houser '09
Joseph Hunter	R. M. Hunter '86
Robert F. Hutcheson, Jr.	R. F. Hutcheson '10
Robert S. Hutcheson, Jr.	R. S. Hutcheson '10
Franklin Hynson*	R. W. Hynson '08
Marshall Johnson	W. M. Johnson '08
John Johnson	J. G. Johnston '11
Homer Jones, Jr.	Homer Jones '17
Sydnor Kirkpatrick	 F. S. Kirkpatrick '83
Jeff Kiser, Jr.	Jeff Kiser '16
Russell Kiser	Jeff Kiser '16
Richard Larrick, Jr.	A. R. Larrick '07
C. P. Lewis, Jr.	C. P. Lewis '12
Joe Lykes, Jr.	Joseph T. Lykes '09
M. T. McClure	J. A. McClure '99
Sam MacCorkle	Wm. G. MacCorkle '10
Keith McMurrin	 Lewis A. McMurrin '07
Hugh Macfarlane	Howard Macfarlane '13
Joe Mighell, III	J. R. Mighell, Jr. '13
John Parkins	W. S. Parkins '14
Fort Pipes, Jr.	Fort Pipes '10
Jim Price, Jr.	James H. Price '09
Heartsill Ragon, Jr.	Heartsill Ragon '08
Jim Rogers	P. C. Rogers '13
Joseph Ruffner, III*	 Joseph Ruffner, Jr. '12
Murray Smith, Jr.	Murray Smith '05
Richard Smith	R. A. Smith '13
R. B. Spindle, III	R. B. Spindle, Jr. '06

First row, left to right: Marshall Johnson, Robert F. Campbell, Jr., R. B. Spindle, III, Ned Burks, Paul C. Thomas, Jr., R. G. Thach, Jr., Richard F. Burks. Second row, left to right: Alfred L. Wolfe, Jr., John W. Garrow, Jr., Gordon Alford, Mason Deaver, Jr., G. H. Forgy, Jr. Third row, left to right: Lorenz T. White, Jr., James Foard, Robert Mac Boatwright. Fourth row, left to right: J. N. Harman, III, W. R. Kiser, Forrest Wall, Frank Bedinger, Jr. Not in picture: Howard Brooke, John Daniel, Joseph Ruffner, III, Clarence L. Tardy.

Son	Father
R. E. Steele, III.....	R. E. Steele, Jr. '12
Horace Sutherland, Jr.....	Horace Sutherland '17
Clarence L. Tardy*.....	E. L. Tardy '11
R. G. Thach, Jr.....	R. G. Thach '10
Paul Thomas, Jr.....	Paul C. Thomas '15
Stockton Tyler, Jr.....	S. Heth Tyler '96
Forrest Wall.....	 Hiram P. Wall '10
Lorenz White, Jr.....	Lorenz T. White '16
Walter Wilkins, Jr.....	Walter Wilkins '14
Phil Williams, Jr.....	Phil Williams '10
Ben Wilson.....	Larry Wilson '10
Alfred Wolfe, Jr.....	A. L. Wolfe '12
Herbert Woodward, Jr.....	Herbert M. Woodward '13

* Not in picture

 Deceased

* * *

The 190th session actually got under way September 9 with the opening of the annual freshman camp deep in the Blue Ridge mountains about twenty miles from the campus. The camp, inaugurated more than a decade ago as "an experiment in education," has grown so much in popularity that it has become an established part of the freshman orientation program.

The camp, under the direction of Dean of Students Frank J. Gilliam since it first was started, had an enrollment this year of 136, the maximum figure because of lack of accommodations for more. The camp roster is filled on a "first come, first served" basis, and the quota was reached weeks before opening day.

Freshmen this year again were given a full week of orientation that included a series of meetings in Lee Chapel. Freshmen who attended the camp returned to the campus September 12 in time for the first of the orientation meetings.

* * *

At the opening University assembly in Doremus Gymnasium September 16—the first day of classes—Dr. Gaines urged the students to be conscious of the complicated foreign situation, but told them also to take full advantage of the opportunities placed before them in Lexington without becoming too engrossed in affairs that transpired abroad.

The opening assembly was the highlight of the first week's activities, which were brought to a close Saturday evening, September 17, with receptions in Lexington churches for the new students.

* * *

Five new faculty members, a new librarian and a director of religious work were added to the university's staff this year.

John G. Varner assumed his duties as director of music and instructor in English. As musical director he has charge of the Glee Club and the Washington and Lee Band, which made a particularly impressive appearance in striking new blue and white uniforms at football games this fall. Varner, a native of Texas, came to Washington and Lee after eight years at the University of Virginia, where he taught English, was associate director of the Glee Club and was organist and choir master at St. Paul's Church. He studied music in Texas and New York and spent one semester at Heidelberg.

Foster E. Mohrhardt, the new librarian, formerly was with Columbia University and formerly was assistant to the chairman of the advisory group on college libraries of the Carnegie Corporation. His library experience includes work at the University of Michigan and he has done graduate work at New York University and Columbia and holds a certificate from the University of Munich.

Harry M. Philpott, class of 1938, as director of religious work assumed full charge of this phase of student life.

New professors are Rowland Nelson, assistant professor of English, who formerly was at Northwestern and the University of North Carolina; George Smith, instructor in Economics and Modern Civilization; John T. Masten, instructor in Commerce and Economics; and Thomas E. Lothery, Jr., instructor in Physics.

Two members of the faculty, John Higgins Williams, assistant professor of Political Science, and Earl K. Paxton, associate professor of Mathematics, returned this fall from leaves of absence.

Faculty members on leave this year include R. Winter Royston, assistant professor of Mathematics; Louis K. Johnson, assistant professor of Business Administration; and Donald F. Martin, assistant professor of Economics.

* * *

Thirty-nine states and ten places outside America are represented in the Washington and Lee student body this year. There are 214 students who live in Virginia; 97 from New York; 64 from Kentucky; 35 from Florida; 44 from Illinois; 40 from Pennsylvania; 67 from New Jersey.

Two students from Canada are enrolled for the session. There is one each from Belgium, the Canal Zone, China, Germany, Hawaii, Holland, Mexico, Peru and Porto Rico. The enrollment figures again testify, it was pointed out, that Washington and Lee has perhaps the most cosmopolitan student body in the United States.

The Cover This Month

There is a "new view" on the cover of your ALUMNI MAGAZINE this month. If you are one of those who have not been back since the remodeling program was completed, perhaps you do not even recognize the scene. It is the back walk of the campus, looking in the direction of Washington College and the Law School from the rear of Newcomb Hall.

One of the old landmarks of Lexington disappeared with the tearing down of the pool room on the corner of Washington and Jefferson Streets, diagonally across from the Dutch Inn. The above photograph shows the old wooden building being demolished by wreckers. The inset is Billy Higgins (or "Willy" Higgins, you may have called him) well known to alumni during his 22 years at the place, once a student hangout.

A Lexington "Landmark" Is Torn Down

YOU'RE AN ALUMNUS, of course, or you probably would not be reading the Washington and Lee ALUMNI MAGAZINE. And as an alumnus you frequently sit down and dream about the old spots you knew in Lexington. Or perhaps while you're singing in the bath, or shaving, you think of the good times you had at the old hangouts back in the day when you were in college.

Well, one of those old hangouts is gone. If the pun were not so old, it might even be said that one of those old hangouts has gone with the wind, although that is not literally true. Yet the place did almost catch fire one night a few weeks ago before they started tearing it down.

It's the old pool room, of course.

Perhaps you knew it as "Johnny LaRowe's Place," or as "The Annex" or just called it "the pool room." Anyway, it's one and the same, no matter whether you as a student at Washington and Lee either walked by, dropped in for a game of pool or met somebody there between classes. Call it what you like—the rambling old wooden building just diagonally across the street from the Dutch Inn; right across from one of the McCoy grocery stores in more recent years; technically, on the corner of Washington Street.

Remember? Of course you remember.

Then, if you think back far enough, you'll also remember Billy Higgins, who used to preside over the place before the automobiles came to the valley in numbers and the students began travelling more; before the drug stores became the hangouts.

"I was there from 1901 to 1923," Billy Higgins said, "and back in those days the place was the meeting place for students. There just wasn't any other spot that was quite as convenient as a meeting place between classes or after classes."

Think way back now, and you'll remember that Johnny LaRowe, now the University of Virginia's famous boxing coach, was proprietor of the place right after the turn of the century. Billy Higgins (you remember him now, don't you? Well, he is just as genial as ever) told about LaRowe the other day.

Higgins said he went there to work with LaRowe, and stayed there with him for five years, until LaRowe went across the Blue Ridge to Charlottesville. When LaRowe left, Higgins stayed on and on until 1923. He recalled that after the now-famous coach was gone, the spot was known as the "Lexington Pool Company."

The place was most popular as a hangout from about 1907 until the days of the World War, Higgins recalled.

"They were nice boys, too. It was fun to know them. I frequently see some boy in Lexington now and ask him his name, and before he tells me I see his resemblance to his father. And of course, I knew his father here."

"Should be some good stories about the old place now that they've torn it down?" he was asked.

Higgins laughed heartily. "Some pretty good stories, but I won't tell them because the fathers might not like for the sons to hear them," he said. "But they were nice fellows," he added, sincerely. Higgins now is money order and registry clerk at the Lexington postoffice.

If you want to go even further back in your memories, you'll recall—some of you—that a little store up the hill on Main Street from the pool room was once a student hangout. That store was "The Only Dold's." It hasn't been a student gathering place for decades, but the store is still there.

Several years ago the University acquired the pool room property as part of a plan to encompass the campus area within the campus itself.

The site will be landscaped for the present. Old residents of Lexington recall that the spring on the lot once supplied the town with much of its water, and that after that it was a watering place for the horses until the machine age arrived.

From an Alumnus of 1867

ALUMNI in the deep south and in the west will be particularly interested in the following excerpts from a letter from John Flournoy Ponder, 270 South Alexandria Avenue, Los Angeles, California. Mr. Ponder, a member of the class of 1867, says:

"I will state that I was born on one of my father's plantations near Montgomery, Alabama, on the 9th of December, 1847; moving to Montgomery in 1856, he bought one-half of a city block, highly improved with trained shrubbery, fruits, flowers and an eleven-room house, which now belongs to Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama, if he has not sold it since 1922, when I was at his home.

"In the summer and fall of 1856, I visited my Grandfather John Borders near Oxford in Calhoun County. He was born in 1779, one hundred and fifty-nine years ago, as you will note. After the Civil War, I visited him again and had long talks with him about past history. I suppose there is not one man in a hundred, yes even five hundred thousand, that can go as far back into direct history as well as I can. In the summer and fall as a lively youngster, I attended political meetings and heard speeches and amusing things that happened. I remember better the things that happened at those meetings, than any convention that I have attended in the last ten years.

"In February, 1861, along with my comrades in a little cadet corps of about seventy members, acted as Honorary Guard to President Davis and his Cabinet when Alabama seceded from the Union. I was a student at the State University at Tuscaloosa in April, 1865. About one o'clock on a very dark night was in a hot fight with Croxton's Brigade of Wilson's Raiders. Finding out that we were overwhelmingly outnumbered and that the enemy were armed with breech-loading rifles, while we had only the old muzzle-loading Springfield rifles, we left town as soon as possible.

"I was in Mobile standing off Farragut from taking the city in 1864. Taking interest in politics, I have reason to believe that I am the only survivor of a secret political party that changed the government of the State of Alabama, throwing out the "carpet-baggers" and scalawags; the Democratic vote was never changed until Hoover carried it in 1928.

"I'll state that I came to Los Angeles in 1875, and with the exception of about five years, have lived in Los Angeles and the State of California ever since. When I came here in July, 1875, Los Angeles had a population of about 7,500 people. I am told by insurance companies that according to the mortality rate, out of that number hardly 300 are living in the city now. I took out an insurance policy—ordinary life policy—upon the advice of our State Insurance Commissioner, in 1886, and have been paying on it ever since. I have often wondered if the Insurance Commissioner was a particular friend of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company.

"Enclosed please find a Postoffice Order for $5.00 to aid our dear old Alma Mater in still spreading the light."

GEORGE N. DANIELSON of St. Paul, Minnesota, accompanied by his wife and four-year-old daughter, Virginia, stopped at the Alumni Office recently for a short visit. He is a member of the law class of 1917.

The Generals Run the Legion

THERE is slight—if any—analogy between a football team—this being the gridiron season—and the American Legion, but it can be assumed that three men as Washington and Lee alumni might properly be called “Generals” without a glance at their collegiate athletic records and that as such they have “taken over” in the Legion.

It came about this way:

At the twentieth annual national convention of the war veterans in Los Angeles in September these three Washington and Lee alumni were elected to important executive posts. Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, LL.B. 1914, was named national commander by acclamation; Charles W. Crush of Christiansburg, Virginia, Chadwick's classmate at Washington and Lee, was elected one of the five vice-commanders without opposition; and Adrian Boyd, class of 1917, was named national executive committeeman for the state of Mississippi.

There undoubtedly are other Washington and Lee men high in Legion circles in the various states. A telegram to Dr. Francis P. Gaines calling attention to the election of Chadwick and Crush came, for instance, from Fred C. Parks, class of 1921, who is department commander for Virginia.

Stephen F. Chadwick has made a distinguished name for himself in the American Legion through nearly two decades of outstanding service marked by qualities of leadership recognized by his post, his department and the national organization. For the last six years he has played an important part in shaping the Americanism program of the Legion. The records show also that it was under his direction that the American Legion has expanded the Boys' State movement into a nation-wide youth training activity to prepare the nation's boyhood for the duties of American citizenship.

Chadwick became affiliated with the American Legion immediately upon receiving his honorable discharge in May, 1919, as first lieutenant of the 27th United States Infantry, following service with the American Expeditionary Forces in Siberia.

He joined Seattle Post No. 18 and was, in turn, post chaplain, vice-commander and commander. He served as a member of the department executive committee, 1920-1921; as National Judge Advocate of the Forty and Eight, 1922-1923; Chef de Gare of the King County Voiture, Forty and Eight, 1924-1925; as a member of the National Executive Committee from Washington, 1927-1929, and was appointed a member of the National Americanism Commission in 1930. He has held that membership since. In November, 1935, he was named chairman of the Commission by Ray Murphy, then National Commander. His record in this capacity was so brilliant that both Harry W. Colmery and Daniel Doherty, who succeeded Murphy as National commanders, reap-
(Continued on page 11)

Stephen F. Chadwick, 1914

Corporation Court Judge

HERBERT GROOME SMITH, graduate of the law school of Washington and Lee University in the class of 1917, was sworn in as judge of the Corporation Court of Newport News, Virginia,

Herbert G. Smith

on September 1, following his appointment by Governor James H. Price.

Mr. Smith was tendered the oath of office by Associate Justice Vernon Spratley of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals at ceremonies in the Municipal Courts Building at Newport News. Present were members of the Newport News and Hampton bar and other friends of the jurist.

Judge Smith attended the University from September, 1914, until June, 1917, when Martin P. Burks was Dean of the Law School. He was a member of Alpha Chi Rho social fraternity and Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity.

Graduating from Law School, he began practice at Newport News, then went overseas to serve until the Armistice was signed. Returning to practice in 1918, he was elected in 1924 as commonwealth's attorney, in which capacity he was retained by the electorate until his elevation to the judgeship. At 43 he is one of the youngest corporation court judges in Virginia.

He married the former Miss Allene Sinton of Newport News and they have two sons.

EMERSON DICKMAN, recent Washington and Lee pitching ace (1936) for Dick Smith's Generals of the diamond, had a fling at the big leagues this year as a member of the hurling staff of the Boston Red Sox. James Bagley, International New Service sports writer, during the season called him the "outstanding rookie" on the Red Sox staff.

THORTON W. ALLEN, class of 1913, has just published a folio of popular college songs, favorites of the "campus, radio and football field." Washington and Lee is represented in the folio, compiled and arranged by Allen, by "College Friendships."

Internal Revenue Expert

ELDON P. KING, class of 1920 (law), as Special Deputy Commissioner, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Washington, has—to put it in his own words—"quite a variety of duties." But as a general assistant to the commissioner, who heads a bureau of some 25,000 employes, he has been given some assignments that stamp him definitely as one of Washington's most capable men.

King was designated in 1934 as one of a commission of three sent to Great Britain to study the British tax system. Then, in 1935 and 1936, he was designated to attend meetings of the Fiscal Committee of the League of Nations.

During the past summer, King as Special Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue was one of three men who were assigned to represent the United States in tax discussions with a delegation from The Netherlands.

Hearon Takes New Job

FANNING HEARON, A.B., 1927, has resigned as director of the Division of Motion Pictures of the United States Department of the Interior in Washington to accept the directorship of a new motion picture corporation known as the Association of School Film Libraries. The organization is a project of the General Education Board (a Rockefeller foundation) with its main offices in the Time and Life Building, 9 Rockefeller Plaza, New York.

Hearon went to Washington in 1934 as a Department of Interior press representative and in 1936 was appointed head of its film unit by Secretary Ickes. Just before resigning on July 15 he had been on official leave of absence for three months to write, produce and direct the film "In Defense of Capitalism," the book on economics by James H. R. Cromwell.

DR. LEWIS E. JARRETT, class of 1923, superintendent of the hospital division of the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Virginia, has been appointed to the newly-created council on hospital care insurance of the American Hospital Association. He is a former president of the Virginia Hospital Association and is third vice-president of the national association.

RUSS PRITCHARD, class of 1932, was elected president of the Memphis Cotton Carnival Association for next year. His election was unanimous and had been forecast shortly after the May festival ended. Pritchard, twenty-eight years old and a native of Memphis, is associated with Marx & Bendorf. He has been active in the Cotton Festival for some six years and is a former vice-president and treasurer of the Association.

The Generals Run the Legion

(Continued from page 9)

pointed Chadwick as chairman of the commission. Chadwick also has served on numerous other post, department and national committees. He holds the unusual record of having attended all but one convention of his department as a delegate, and of having attended nine national conventions of the American Legion.

Chadwick enrolled in the citizens' training camp at Fort Lawton, Washington, shortly after war was declared. Completing the course there he entered the Second Officers' Training Camp at the Presidio, San Francisco, in August, 1917, and was commissioned a first lieutenant of infantry in November, 1917. He was attached to the 91st Division at Camp Lewis, Washington, from December, 1917, to April, 1918. Then he was assigned to Company D, 8th Infantry, 8th Division, at Camp Fremont, California. Four months later he was transferred to the 27th U. S. Infantry composing part of the American Expeditionary Forces to Siberia. He served as commanding officer of the troops on the first movement of 1,900 United States soldiers from San Francisco to Vladivostok. Overseas he served as company officer, battalion adjutant and personnel adjutant, returning to the United States in May, 1919.

Chadwick was born at Colfax, Washington, August 14, 1894. He attended Olympia High School at Olympia, Washington, then went East to take his LL.B. degree at Washington and Lee University in 1914, to be followed with a similar degree in 1915 at the University of Washington at Seattle. He has practiced law in Seattle continuously since 1915, with the exception of the time he spent in the military service of his country.

Two months after his discharge from military service, Chadwick married Miss Margaret Gardiner Tyler, daughter of Judge David Gardiner Tyler of Charles City, Virginia. Mrs. Chadwick is a granddaughter of John Tyler, the tenth president of the United States. The Chadwicks now have two children, Mary Tyler, born May 5, 1921, and Stephen Fowler, born October 20, 1924.

Chadwick has played a prominent part in the civic affairs of Seattle. He was a member in 1926 of the Freeholders Charter Commission to draft a proposed charter for the City of Seattle. He is a trustee of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, and was vice-president of this body during 1935-1937. The Seattle Daily Journal of Commerce in a leading editorial recently described Chadwick as "one of the most popular men in the city and state" and added that "his name is invariably coupled with constructive movements for the good of the general public."

At Washington and Lee, Chadwick was a member of Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Phi, White Friars, and rowed with the Harry Lee crew.

Charles W. Crush of Christiansburg was graduated from high school as a member of the class of 1909. His collegiate work was done in Washington and Lee University, where he spent three years as a law student, being admitted to the bar in 1915. He then began his law practice at Christiansburg, where he has followed his profession for twenty-three years excepting his service with the Army. He enlisted in November, 1917, and was assigned to the 314th Machine Gun Battalion. He went overseas in May, 1918, and served with that command in the Artois sector, in the St. Mihiel drive and the Meuse-Argonne offensive. In June, 1919, he returned to this country and was discharged on the nineteenth of that month. For a year he attended the University of Texas, where he studied law before resuming his practice in Christiansburg. He has since followed his profession in his native city.

Charles W. Crush

Crush is active as a Democratic worker. He was elected commonwealth's attorney of Montgomery County in 1923, occupying that position until January 1, 1936. On August 1, next, he took charge of the postoffice as an acting postmaster and received his commission February 20, 1937. He attends the Democratic state conventions and was a member of the constitutional convention of 1933; at the national convention in Chicago in 1932 he acted as doorkeeper. His military training has also been brought into play in connection with public office; he was a first lieutenant of the Coast Artillery of the Virginia National Guard on the staff of Governor John Garland Pollard, and also on the staff of Governor George C. Peery. He held membership with the 246th Coast Artillery of the Virginia National Guard from 1925 until 1936, joining with the rank of second lieutenant and winning promotion to the first lieutenantcy.

On May 1, 1924, Crush married Eliza Allen, daughter of Jefferson Clay and Florence (Richardson) Allen of Christiansburg. Mr. and Mrs. Crush have one child, Jane Allen.

Crush belongs to the Presbyterian Church and is a Knights Templar Mason and a member of Kazim Temple of the Mystic Shrine at Roanoke. He is also a member of the Loyal Order of Moose and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at Pulaski, Virginia, and as a prominent member of the American Legion served in 1936-1937 as state commander.

He organized and is now secretary of the Legion of Virginia Counties and is secretary of the consolidated almshouse known as Fairview Home.

Adrian Boyd formerly was commander of the American Legion in Mississippi. At Washington and Lee, he was a Kappa Sigma, and belonged to the Cotillion Club, "13" Club, Sigma and P. A. N. His home is at Clarksdale.

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra played for opening dances at Washington and Lee October 14 and 15. The dances followed the usual program, the Sophomore Prom Friday evening, and the Cotillion Club Formal Saturday.

News Photography Conference

A NEWS PHOTOGRAPHY CONFERENCE will be held on January 5, 6, and 7, 1939, at Washington and Lee. Sponsors are the Virginia Press Association and the Lee Journalism Foundation of Washington and Lee University, with the Washington and Lee Camera Club cooperating.

The object of the conference is to present new and improved techniques in photo-journalism from the taking of the picture to engraving and press reproduction. Leading experts in the country will give lectures and conduct demonstrations.

Designed for practical usefulness to news photographers, art editors, engravers and pressmen on newspapers in the Middle Atlantic and Southern states, the program will include discussions of such subjects as the following: photographic equipment, developing and printing techniques, color photography, lighting, picture transmission by wire, editing pictures, making layouts, law and ethics of news photography, working conditions, free lance news photography, retouching pictures, engraving equipment and techniques, and press work.

Other special features of the conference will be equipment exhibitions, darkroom instruction, and special training sections for beginners. Large newspapers, photographic supply houses and picture magazines are cooperating in arranging special features. There will also be three news photo contests for newspaper photographers in Virginia and the South, with cash prizes.

Members of the conference advisory committee are Major Raymond B. Bottom, Newport News publisher and Virginia Press Association president; Samuel R. Ames, president of the Washington and Lee Camera Club; Charles Borjes, The Virginian-Pilot, Norfolk, Virginia; Frank Dementi, The News Leader, Richmond, Virginia; Leon S. Dure, The Times-Dispatch, Richmond, Virginia; Tom Hanes, The Ledger-Dispatch, Norfolk, Virginia; Jake Houston, The Charlotte Observer, Charlotte, North Carolina; Lon H. Hutchison, The Charleston Gazette, Charleston, West Virginia; Lambert Martin, The World-News, Roanoke, Virginia; Hugh Miller, The Post, Washington, D. C.; Robert F. Nelson, State Chamber of Commerce, Richmond, Virginia; Vernon C. Sherwin, The Evening Sun, Baltimore, Maryland; Robert B. Smith, Virginia Press Association, Newport News, Virginia; W. C. Stouffer, The World-News, Roanoke, Virginia; Paul Titlow, The Gazette-Journal, Gloucester-Mathews, Virginia.

Homecoming Day (don't forget) is October 22. The Generals will meet Virginia Tech's Gobblers on Wilson Field at 2:30. A freshman game between the Brigadiers and Maryland is scheduled Friday afternoon, October 21.

Some W & L Men In Medicine

The following Washington and Lee alumni are listed in the Johns Hopkins Medical Directory—September, 1938:

- ANDERSON, S. A., JR., W. & L. '19
Assoc. in Pediatrics, Med. Coll. Va.
Specialty Ped.
2326 W. Grace St., Richmond, Va.
- BANKS, HORACE McMURRAN, W. & L. '13
Inst. Pathology Indiana Univ. Sch. Med.
Director Clinical Labs. Methodist Hosp.
Specialty Clin. Path.
3631 Forrest Manor Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.
- BATTEN, GROVER A., W. & L., '05
Staff, Queens Hosp., Kapiolani Hosp., St. Francis Hosp.
Spec. Surgery
735 Bishop St., Honolulu, Hawaii
- BAYLOR, JOHN WARD, W. & L. '14
Assoc. in Laryngology & Otolaryngology, Johns Hopkins 906 Cathedral St., Baltimore, Md.
- CRAIG, ROBERT GLENN, W. & L. '17
Asst. Prof. gyn., Stanford Univ.
Spec. Gynecology & Urology
490 Post St., San Francisco, Calif.
- CRAWFORD, FRANCIS RANDOLPH, W. & L. '06
Sug. Staff, South Side Comm. Hosp.
Spec. Surg. and Gynecology
907 High St., Farmville, Va.
- DAVIDSON, HERMAN PORTER, W. & L. '13
Staff, Chicago Memorial Hospital
Spec. Ophthalmology
30 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.
- ELGIN, WILLIAM WORCESTER, W. & L. '25
Asst. Phys. Sheppard & Enoch Pratt Hosp.
Towson, Md.
- FORBUS, WILEY DAVIS, W. & L. '16
Prof. Pathology & Head Dept. Duke Univ. Med.
Spec. Path.
Duke Hosp., Durham, N. C.
- GROOVER, GORDON LEWIS, JR., W. & L. '12
U. S. Veterans Adm., Arlington Bldg., Washington, D. C.
- HAGAN, HUGH JOHNSON, W. & L. '10
Spec. Internal Med.
703 1st St., S. W., Roanoke, Va.
- HAINES, JOHN SUMMER, W. & L. '34
Interne, Johns Hopkins Hosp., Baltimore, Md.
- HANDLEY, HARRY EDWIN, W. & L. '19
Asst. Dir. Div. Public Health (The Commonwealth Fund, New York City)
Spec. Public Health
18 Idlewood Rd., White Plains, N. Y.
- HARVEY, ABNER McGEHEE, W. & L. '30
Fellow Nat'l. Inst. Med. Research
Spec. Int. Med.
National Inst. for Med. Research, Hampstead, London N. W. 3, England
- HOOD, ROBT. C., W. & L. '12
Dir. Crippled Children's Div., Children's Bureau U. S. Dept. of Labor
Spec. Pediatrics
Care same, Washington, D. C.
- LAIRD, THOS. KERR, W. & L. '33
Interne, Laird Mem. Hosp., Montgomery, W. Va.
- LEE, HENRY, W. & L. '26
Spec. Surg.
806 Med. Arts Bldg., Roanoke, Va.
- McCOWN, ALBERT SMITH, W. & L. '10
Student, Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene School of Hygiene & Public Health, Johns Hopkins Univ., Baltimore, Md.
- MOORE, CHALMERS HALE, W. & L., '09
Chief Dept. Neurological Surg., Hillman Hosp.
Staff Children's, St. Vincents
1023 S. 20th St., Birmingham, Ala.
- NEEL, HARRY BRYAN, W. & L. '28
Fellow in Surg., Mayo Foundation
Spec. Surg.
Care Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.
- PRITCHETT, CHAS. BERNARD, W. & L. '12
2801 Washington Ave., Newport News, Va.
- RENNIE, JOHN GORDON, W. & L. '28
502 Allison Ave., Roanoke, Va.
- RICE, KEITH CHILTON, W. & L. '17
Instr. Surg. Emory Univ. Med. Sch.
Spec. Surg.
310 Med. Arts Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
- SCHAEFER, SOLOMON WEINSCHENK, W. & L. '04
Attend. Phys. Glocker Hosp. Free Tbc. Clinic
Assoc. Research Dir., Col. Foundation for Research in Tbc.

Spec. Int. Med.

319 Burns Bldg., Colorado Springs, Colorado

SHEPPARD, WM. BOSTWICK, JR., W. & L. '31

619 N. Palafox St., Pensacola, Fla.

SMITH, RANDOLPH TUCKER, W. & L. '31

Assoc. Prof. Surg., U. of Ark. Med. Sch.

703 Donaghey Bldg., Little Rock, Ark.

SPENCE, JOHN MORELAND, JR., W. & L. '28

Instr. Obstetrics, Johns Hopkins

2742 N. Charles St., Baltimore, Md.

SPENGLER, LUTHER CAMPBELL, JR., W. & L. '29

Spec. Urology, Jefferson Hosp., Roanoke Hosp.

Medical Arts Bldg., Roanoke, Va.

SYDENSTRICKER, VIRGIL PRESTON, W. & L. '10

Prof. Med. U. of Ga. Sch. Med.

Spec. Int. Med.

2110 Gardner St., Augusta, Ga.

WILLIAMS, ROBT. HARDIN, W. & L. '29

Res. in Med., Vanderbilt Univ. Hosp.

Spec. Int. Med.

Vanderbilt Univ. Hosp., Nashville, Tenn.

Lively of Mattoon, Ill.; L. H. Lord of Woodberry Forest, Va.; H. R. McGehee of Reidsville, N. C. (all A's); H. E. McLaughlin of Pensacola, Fla.; M. H. Many of New Orleans, La.; E. J. Milligan of Dansville, N. Y.; P. G. Morrison, Jr., of Chicago, Ill. (all A's); J. R. Nicholson, Jr., of Spangler, Pa.; R. A. Nicholson of Wheaton, Ill.; R. C. Perry of Tazewell, Va.; H. M. Philpott of Lexington, N. C.; A. A. Pollack of New York, N. Y.; C. A. Prater of Chattanooga, Tenn. (all A's).

J. D. Raymond of New Rochelle, N. Y.; T. H. Riggs of El Paso, Texas (all A's); W. J. Ritz of Conklin, Mich. (all A's); H. W. Roberts, Jr., of Garden City, N. Y.; L. J. Roberts, Jr., of Newnan, Ga.; E. A. Sartor, Jr., of Shreveport, La. (all A's); C. Schept of Union City, N. J.; R. P. Schlabach, Jr., of Newport News, Va. (all A's); E. F. Shannon, Jr., of Lexington, Va. (all A's); W. L. Shannon of Shelbyville, Ky.; M. T. Simon of Natchez, Miss.; G. M. Smith, Jr., of Richmond, Ky.; J. D. Sterrett, Jr., of Lexington, Va.

J. A. R. Stewart of Independence, Kansas; A. P. Stuart of Buena Vista, Va.; B. M. Wakefield, Jr., of Jackson, Miss.; D. N. Walker of Richmond, Va.; L. D. Williams, Jr., of Elizabeth, N. J.; H. M. Woodward, Jr., of Norfolk, Va.; P. K. Yonge of Pensacola, Florida.

Sixty-Seven on Honor Roll

Sixty-seven students have been placed on the academic honor roll at Washington and Lee University for this semester. Of this number, seventeen men made all A's. Honor roll requires an average of 90 or above, with no grade below B. Honor roll men are:

J. G. Akin, Jr., of Bowling Green, K. (all A's); A. W. Archer, Jr., of Kansas City, Mo.; G. C. Baldwin, Jr., of Paris, Ky.; J. C. Bear of Montgomery, Ala.; A. T. Bishop, Jr., of Louisville, Ky.; W. W. Brown of Toledo, Ohio (all A's); W. L. Burner, Jr., of Warren, Ohio (all A's); E. F. Burrows of Oswego, S. C. (all A's); C. F. Clarke, Jr., of Coldwater, Mich; W. A. Clary of Valentines, Va.; J. B. Cleveland of Spartanburg, S. C.; R. B. Espy of Dothan, Ala.; A. D. Farber of Brooklyn, N. Y.; A. T. Fleishman of Anderson, S. C.; R. H. Gaddy of Latta, S. C. (all A's); Z. H. Garfield of Norfolk, Va.; S. C. Gholson of Holly Springs, Miss.; G. M. Grasty of New Castle, Va.; A. F. Hancock of Mobile, Ala.; L. B. Hanes of Roanoke, Va. (all A's); E. W. Heatwole of Hagerstown, Md.; J. S. Henderson, Jr., of Reisterstown, Md.; R. M. Herndon of Haverford, Pa.; W. H. Hillier of East Lansing, Mich.; R. W. Hilton, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio; N. T. Houston of Carrolton, Mo. (all A's).

E. E. Hunter, Jr., of Wilmington, N. C.; G. W. James, III, of Richmond, Va.; A. D. Jamieson, Jr., of Detroit, Mich. (all A's); M. T. Kelsey of Catasauqua, Pa. (all A's); L. M. Kenna of Charleston, W. Va.; J. E. Koban of Johnstown, Pa.; A. R. Larrick, Jr., of Plant City, Fla.; B. R. Lawton of Washington, D. C.; G. M.

Birnie Goes to Georgia Bank

JOSEPH E. BIRNIE, 1925, of Richmond and Washington, executive secretary and treasurer of the Morris Plan Bankers' Association, has been elected vice-president and a director of the Morris Plan Bank of Georgia, at Atlanta. The bank, organized in 1911, is the second oldest Morris Plan bank in America. Birnie's election became effective on August 15, on which date he began his new duties.

Birnie was for several years an officer of the Morris Plan Bank of Virginia at Richmond, and also for a while at Petersburg, resigning his connection with that bank in 1933 to become Secretary of the Morris Plan Bankers' Association, the national organization through which the activities of Morris Plan banks throughout the United States are coordinated. He is the author of numerous articles and papers on banking subjects, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa, the Commonwealth Club of Richmond, and the Country Club of Virginia.

BIRNIE HARPER, JR., of Fort Smith, Arkansas, has been elected president of the 1939 Finals at Washington and Lee. The election was made by the student executive committee to fill a vacancy created by failure of the Finals head to return to school this fall. Harper, an end on the football team, is president of the Monogram Club.

Homecoming and Football—Synonymous!

By LEA BOOTH, 1940

Student Assistant, Washington and Lee News Bureau

HANDSHAKES, pats on the back, lovely girls in their new autumn football game attire, natural-tinted leaves blowing in the brisk winds that whip across the campus from North Mountain, a general activity in every corner of Lexington and Washington and Lee—all go to give the alumnus and undergraduate a sort of Homecoming feeling. But the variety of thrills have only one universal climax. When alumni and students all mobilize for one long, concerted cheer at 2:30 p. m., October 22, then we know it's "Old Home Week." That's the moment when Captain Bill Brown leads his General football team into action against V. P. I.'s Gobblers. Here is where the really genuine thrill is involved. All Washington and Lee men are pulling the same way, undergraduates and old men intermingle to fight a common cause and "Beat Those Gobblers."

Curiosity may be just as much a motive for returning alumni as spirit, and no doubt, the rather curious alumnus will find plenty of surprises in store for him when he re-visits Wilson Field on the twenty-second. A new football system, new faces in the line-up, a new university band, and scores of other, less drastic, changes will greet him.

Taking them in the order of their appearance on the stage, first the "old man" will see a greater University band, swathed in brilliant new capes and caps, and believe us, producing some first-class music. Bands have come and bands have gone at Washington and Lee in the past several decades but now under the new music director, John G. Varner, Washington and Lee men have a musical outfit that is really worth telling the family about.

More than forty immaculate blue and white uniformed musicians will parade on Wilson field on the twenty-second for the approval of homecoming alumni. Already proclaimed the best collegiate band in the state, there is an air of permanence about this new band. They are apparently here to stay this time.

The other innovations, or perhaps renovations, to be noticed will only be evident to a slightly more keen observer. These changes directly involve the 1938 football squad in which Coach Tex Tilton has installed a system completely novel to this institution.

In the first place, the offensive system now calls for a precision shift. The old single-wingback offensive has been supplanted by this modified Warner system which calls for a trim-looking shift in the midst of the execution of plays. Linemen snap briskly out of their huddle, the center is already over the ball, and backs align themselves about a yard to the rear. The shift is called and the men slide into their slots, whether it be balanced or unbalanced formation.

It will probably be about midway of the first quarter when alumni start commenting on the fact that the signal-caller (Cap'n Brown) is literally working one poor back to death on the offensive. There is no need for undue alarm—that's the new "climax runner" offensive system.

Under the system, one man who has the capacity for almost any type of offensive work, running, passing and kicking (triple-threat preferred), will do practically all the work while he is in the game. Truth apparent, he won't be in the ball game long—no man could take it like that for sixty minutes of football. The idea is to run this man in the tailback position for approximately a quarter and then insert someone else to bear the brunt when the first man is exhausted or becomes ineffective due to the other eleven's cunning.

Sports writers have adeptly picked up the term "Tilton's climax runner." The other ten men on the field are solely blockers, to clear the way on every play. The opposition usually doesn't know what to expect from this climax man—he may run, he may pass, or he may cruise back hurriedly for one of those effective quick kicks. In fact, in the opening games, quick kicks have set the opposition on their heels at the most unexpected times.

To fill this brutal assignment (it hasn't proved unduly stiff on any one man as yet), Coach Tilton has several highly capable ball handlers. In Harrison Hogan, a tow-headed Michigan lad, there is one of the sweetest backs in the conference. Hogan has been the team's best ground gainer so far this season. When he drops back, it may be a running play with spinner or reverse attached, or he may heave a long one down to sophomore Howard Dobbins, the rangy Louisville, Kentucky, end. Hogan is also a quick-kick artisan of the old school. A pair of impromptu boots against Virginia put the rivals in hot water on both occasions. Hogan, as it is said, can truly "carry the mail."

Captain Bill Brown, Guard

Understudy to Hogan is little Dan Justice, a former all-state scholastic quarterback from Lynchburg. Dan can probably outkick Hogan, and his running and passing is better than average.

Only a sophomore, Justice drew a starting assignment in the crucial Virginia game and served the purpose admirably.

There is Ray Craft, the squad's smoothest flipper, who completed 10 of 15 passes against Hampden-Sydney in the season's opener. A sprained wrist put the skids under Craft's aerial work against the Cavaliers but recovery means the Gobblers will have a W. P. A. project on their hands in breaking up the over-head game. Craft is a senior and can likewise tuck the ball under his arm and step across the stripes.

Ronnie Thompson, probably the only three-letter man in school barring injuries during the season, is likewise a triple-threat back who can fill the position. Ronnie is one of the best basketball forwards in years and is the pride and joy of Cap'n Dick's infield at shortstop.

Roy Hogan, Harrison's older brother, Don Dunlap, a senior, and Bobby Gary are the other triple- or double-threat backs.

Likewise running in starting assignments with the younger Hogan and Craft, are Courtney Wadlington and Junie Bishop, two Kentucky sophs who really fill the good doctor's prescription for blocking and line-cracking. Wadlington, whose claim to fame was catching a pass for the winning touchdown against Virginia's well-backed frosh in 1937, is considered the most dependable blocker since many moons have shone over House Mountain. Bishop has been jinxed by injuries all season, perhaps the reminder of an injury-ridden season in 1937. He does 75 per cent of the line plunging.

When the Generals take their stand against the Techmen at Homecoming, it is only probable that Dick Pinck, the highly-publicized youngster from Paterson, New Jersey, will be "one of the boys." Richard underwent a hernia operation during the summer and a slow convalescent period is expected to be concluded in time to warrant his use in the backfield. It is common knowledge that Pinck, who honestly has that burning intensity which signifies true football greatness, has the capacity for sparkling up the entire General ignition system. It has been said that every time this lad starts jogging, there is the possibility of a score. He can pass with unerring smoothness, kicks well, and, well—what else can any back do?

The question mark will come from Pinck's uncertain ability to take the rough places following the summer operation. Alumni will be just as soon as any to discover this fact for themselves because it is doubtful if Pinck will be groomed before the Tech encounter.

The inside of the forward wall has been the least worry of coaches so far. One qualified observer recently asserted via Jimmy Jones' column in the Richmond Times-Dispatch: "Washington and Lee's Brown, Boisseau, and Ochsie are three of the best linemen in the country . . . Boisseau and Ochsie could play that position (tackle) on anybody's football team."

Boisseau and Ochsie, both weighing 209 and standing six feet two inches, loom on the turf as virtual mountains of power. Their consistency in smearing opponent's plays is remarkable. Both are rugged and can take it for sixty minutes of football. Ochsie has set some sort of record for his stamina since coming here. A senior, Joe, a German boy from Paterson, New Jersey, has played more sixty-minute games than anyone on the squad. Only about once a season is he removed, and then only to give some other aspirant a chance "up front." When Ochsie takes the field in the Homecoming tilt, he will be seeking his third consecutive hour of action in Homecoming games, while only recently he completed his fourth full hour of work against Virginia's Cavaliers. He has likewise gone the limit against such notable elevens as Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland and V. P. I. ever since taking a Blue and White jersey.

Joe Ochsie, Tackle

Dick Boisseau, Tackle

Captain Brown and Jim Lindsey, the contemporary replica of the great Lindsey Moore, captain of 1920 and 1921, are holding down the guard posts. Brown is a wizard diagnostician and a power under punts. His greatest battle was waged against Virginia this season, drawing down comments from the entire press box. Lindsey, five foot seven inches and weighing 200 pounds, is surprisingly the speediest lineman on the squad. He pulls out of the line and maneuvers an alert interference on running plays and can battle with the best of them defensively.

The pivot position has been cared for by a pair of sophomores. Jack Mangan and Steve Hanasik are the accomplished "rookies" who have vied in backing up that substantial Tilson-coached line and flipping the ball accurately to the backs.

The ends were the major problem at the opening of the season. End Coach Bill Ellis was left high and dry following the graduation of Frank Jones and long Bob Spessard, and the failure of Bill Borries to return to school. Going to work on Charlie Lykes, a center for three years, and young Howard Dobbins, Ellis has developed a handsome pair of flanks. Lykes is six feet two inches and weighs 195, while "the Dobber" or "Old Dobbin" as he is known, is six feet four inches and weighs an even 200. Well built and speedy, Dobbins is a fleet pass receiver, registering all seven points against Hampden-Sydney on opening day. He converts the extra points through placement. Lykes is a better defensive than offensive end. Sweeps around his side of the line have netted practically nothing for the opposition this season.

Howard Dobbins, End

Harrison Hogan, Back

Reserves in the forward wall come at a premium again this year. This would not be the case if Tilson were able to call upon the expected quota of men who valiantly battled Virginia Military Institute in spring drills last session. Summer operations disabled Dorsey Wilson, a three year veteran, and Jack Gillespie, a promising end. Gillespie has never reported for work and Wilson's handicap puts a damper on his play. Kelly Litteral, a letterman tackle who was expected to perform this season, has never recovered sufficiently from an old injury and has been of little use so far.

Qualified reserves in the line are Simmons Trueheart and Bernie Harper, ends; Bill Keland and Fort Pipes, tackles; and Finley Walker, Shack Parrish, and Francis Sugrue, guards. With the recovery of Litteral, Wilson, and Pinck, alumni may count on more than a perfunctory substituting along the line at Homecoming.

A keen disappointment to followers was the failure of the majority of sophomores to return this season. Only 19 of more than 40 fully-equipped pigskin pushers of the 1937 frosh aggregation returned this fall. Some of the neatest looking prospects in years floated away with the winds that annually reap a high output of collegiate football players. Coach White has performed miracles with the functions of the backs. Ellis has produced at least four serviceable flankmen, and Tilson's new system has injected an added punch in the offensive. The shift is beautiful to witness, with its timely precision and snappy, machine-like movements. The climax runner is an additional warning to the opposing defense to stay ever-alert, and the morale and spirit of the club through insurmountable hardships and disappointments occasioned by the loss of key men has never dropped below the Washington and Lee standard. Truly, there is another great surging line working for the Generals this season—practically impervious to continuous punching. There is an added zest to be noted in the swiftness with which backfield men move forward on the offense.

Miss Annie Jo White Dies

MISS ANNIE JO WHITE, known and beloved by Washington and Lee students since before the turn of the century, and the founder of the now-famous Fancy Dress Ball, died at her home on the campus at 9:51 p. m. October 9. She was 85 years old.

"Miss Annie," as she was known to everyone, had been in failing health for some time. She had continued, however, to attend Fancy Dress, always an honored guest.

Fancy Dress had its inception as a small private costume party given by Miss Annie in 1907, when she was University librarian. The idea was a popular one, and students took over the dance.

"But I didn't mind if they took it right out of my hands," she said not long ago, "because it's just as much fun and it's their dance."

Expenses, so the story goes, for the first ball were only forty-two dollars. In recent years, the cost of putting on the annual affair—now the best known southern collegiate social event—has run into the thousands.

Even last January when one of the most elaborate of all Fancy Dress balls was held in Doremus Gymnasium, Miss Annie attended. Photographers swarmed about her. Her picture appeared in dozens of newspapers, and in the series on Fancy Dress featured a few weeks later by Life magazine. Miss Annie's term of association with Washington and Lee was a long one. She was appointed to the staff of the University during the presidency of General G. W. Custis Lee, who succeeded his father General Lee as president of the institution. General Custis Lee was president of Washington and Lee from 1871 to 1897.

Miss Annie held the post of librarian for some thirty years, relinquishing it about the time of the World War. She remained active director of Fancy Dress until about the year 1920.

A search of the records at Washington and Lee showed that Miss Annie actually was a member of the University's staff for twenty-seven years. She was appointed a member in 1895, serving until 1922.

Dr. Gaines said her usefulness to the University "was extraordinary in its service and duration," and added that she would be missed greatly by the wide circle of alumni who knew her, and by her friends in Rockbridge. She was a native of Rockbridge County.

Funeral services were held at the Lexington Presbyterian Church, October 11, and interment was in the Lexington cemetery.

Miss Annie, photographed at Fancy Dress last January

Class Notes

1893

CAPTAIN GUY E. MANNING, U. S. Army, retired, is living at 164 North Remington Road, Bexley, Columbus, Ohio. He gives an interesting account of his experiences in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

HARRINGTON WADDELL, member of the University Board of Trustees and of the Executive Committee of that body, is Principal of the Lexington High School.

1894

HUGH M. BLAIN, who was to be Class Agent for the class of 1894 this year, was ill for several months and unable to undertake the job. He is reported much improved. His address is 6112 Hurst Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

1895

C. J. BOPPELL is in his fourteenth year as minister of the West Side Presbyterian Church, Seattle, Washington. He is moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Washington, conducting the Bible Mastery Campaign each October, which last year reached into forty-two states, three provinces and five foreign lands, at least thirteen denominations. Mr. Boppell was on the board of editors of the first Calyx.

1896

H. G. REYNOLDS, a physician of Paducah, Kentucky, is president of the Kentucky State Medical Association.

FRANK FALLON is in the florist business in Roanoke, Virginia.

GLENN M. BROWN has made a satisfactory recovery from a long and serious illness. His address is 2020 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

1899

A. B. WINFREE is a member of the law firm of Teal, Winfree, McCulloch, Shuler and Kelley, Spalding Building, Portland, Oregon. During the past winter Mr. Winfree and his wife had an extended trip, leaving Portland in the middle of November; driving to San Francisco; shipped his car to Acapulco, and drove from there to Mexico City, spending approximately two weeks in Mexico, then drove through San Antonio, Houston, New Orleans, Pensacola, Tallahassee, and St. Petersburg; thence across to Miami Beach, where they spent a month and then up the Atlantic coast, shipping the car from New York back to San Francisco and taking the boat to Havana, through the Canal, back to San Francisco, then home.

S. C. LIND is Dean of the School of Chemistry, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota. Had a delightful trip abroad, landing in Naples on May 7; attended a meeting of the International Union of Chemistry in Rome later in the month, and then motored through Italy, France, England, and Scotland, returning home about the middle of July.

1897

DAVID LEAKE has recently been appointed General Attorney of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company. His home is in Richmond, Virginia.

1898

J. SAM SLICER is practicing law at 413 Chamber of Commerce Building, Atlanta, Georgia.

ALBAN G. SNYDER has been ill but is much better. His home is at 415 Raymond Place, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

R. H. HOGERS is with the San Diego Stove and Appliance Company, 850-854 Sixth Avenue, San Diego, California.

1900

DR. SAM MCPHEETERS is Director of Public Health for Goldsboro, N. C.

1901

MATTHEW PAGE ANDREWS reminisces about a baseball game with William and Mary in which the score was 40-0 in favor of Washington and Lee. He says that at least fifteen years after that event he happened to pick up a copy of The Tribune by accident, containing an article by Ernest J. Lanigan proclaiming this a world's record shut-out score.

1902

DR. JAMES MORRISON HUTCHESON is a member of the University Board of Trustees. He is practicing medicine in Richmond, Virginia.

DR. WILLIAM ALLAN of Charlotte, North Carolina, is always interested and active in alumni matters.

A. L. BURGER is Superintendent of the Public School System of Lynchburg, Virginia.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON lives in Petersburg, Virginia. He is a lawyer.

HENRY GRAYBILL is Professor of Education, Greenbrier College, Lewisburg, West Virginia.

1903

GEORGE H. LEE is vice-president of the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

JOHN W. WARNER is practicing medicine at 1029 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

ARCHIBALD B. YOUNG has for some time been Chairman of the State Relief Commission and State Welfare Board for the State of California.

GEORGE SETH GUION is a member of the law firm of Guion & Schulze, 1701 American Bank Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

ROBERT TATE WALLACE has been Minister of the Marion Presbyterian Church, Marion, Alabama, for eight years. He recently represented Washington and Lee at the centennial celebration of Judson College and felt considerable pride that Washington and Lee ranked third in the academic procession because of its early founding. Says he had forgotten really that the date was 1749.

1904

E. W. POINDEXTER has been practicing law in Roanoke, Virginia, since 1904. He is attorney for the Colonial-American National Bank, also a member of the Board of Directors, a member of the Executive Committee, and Vice-President.

MATTHEW T. McCLURE is Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and Head of the Department of Philosophy at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. This is his seventeenth year at the University of Illinois.

LYLE M. MOFFETT is Minister of the Presbyterian Church in McDowell, Virginia.

1905

R. A. LAPSLEY, JR., is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Roanoke, Virginia. He was erroneously listed in the summer issue of THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE as a member of the class of 1904.

WILBUR E. MACCLENNY is with West & Withers, General Insurance, Suffolk, Virginia. His hobby is historical research.

JOHN A. MOORE is President of the Biscayne Engineering Company, Civil Engineers of Miami, Florida.

DR. T. DWIGHT SLOAN is Superintendent of Flagler Hospital, St. Augustine, Florida.

1906

BASIL MANLY is with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D. C.

H. CLAUDE POBST is practicing law in Grundy, Virginia. Has two sons and a daughter: "It is to be deplored that the old faces cannot remain at Washington and Lee as do the old trees and walks, buildings and beautiful sloping campus. Even when we attend reunions, instead of seeing a lot of carefree boys by the name of Crawford, Pobst and whatnot, we would see, judging by what I see each morning when shaving, a bunch of grey-haired, bald-headed men with crows feet around their eyes. With these men we seem to be strangers. When we have exhausted the subject of the new deal, the result of the Kentucky Derby, the latest movies, how we are doing on our golf and the number of children and grandchildren we have, we have about run out and want to go home and back into the harness. But, can anything be done about it?"

W. H. MORELAND says he has been on the place as one of the "hired hands" for nearly twenty-four years and doesn't think he needs to add a biographical sketch. The Editor would like to summarize these twenty-four years here by saying that Mr. Moreland is one of the most beloved and respected men who has ever been connected with the University.

1907

W. W. HARGRAVE is serving as Executive Officer, U. S. Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Illinois.

E. CLYDE HOGE is with the Lathrop-Hoge Construction Company, 1426 Clay Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

1908

GEORGE E. PENN, JR. has been practicing law in Kingsport, Tennessee, since 1920. His firm is Kelly, Penn and Hunter.

RAY ROBINSON is practicing law in Winchester, Virginia.

C. L. GREEN has been in public school work since leaving school. He is with the Board of Education, Robeson County, Lumberton, North Carolina.

ROSCOE STEPHENSON is an Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Covington, Va.

GEORGE MCP. MINETREE is located at 509 Insurance Building, Washington, D. C.

H. LEWIS BROWN is a member of the firm of Burrough & Brown, 45 Rockefeller Plaza, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

CHARLES T. RANDOLPH is an attorney at law, Carmi, Illinois.

WILLIAM A. MCCOY is in charge of the Plant Laboratory of American Smelting and Refining Company at Perth-Amboy, New Jersey, which position he has held for fourteen years.

1909

LEROY COOPER is in the cotton business in Memphis, Tennessee. His address is 112 South Front Street, Memphis, Tennessee.

JOHN L. CAMPBELL is Trust Officer of the Rockbridge National Bank, Lexington, Virginia. He has a son who is a student at Washington and Lee and a daughter in her second year at Hollins.

J. PRESTON IRWIN has been in Cleveland, Ohio, with Arthur G. McKee & Company, Engineers and Contractors, for 21 years. Their business is engineering and contracting work for iron and steel plants and oil refineries.

1910

C. W. STREIT, JR., since leaving Washington and Lee, has been connected with the Southern Cement Company of Birmingham, Alabama.

RUSSELL L. FRINK is practicing law in Jacksonville, Florida, with offices in the Graham Building. His daughter graduated in June from the Florida State College for Women, and a son is a sophomore at the University of Florida.

H. A. (TUBBY) DERR is enjoying life in the beautiful and historically interesting town of Marietta, Ohio. He is Assistant to the President and Technical Director of the Marietta Paint and Color Company. He has a son in his senior year at Washington and Lee.

E. T. BURR has been engaged in life insurance work ever since leaving Washington and Lee, first with the Life Insurance Company of Virginia at Richmond, next with the North Carolina Insurance Department, and finally with the Durham Life Insurance Company, Raleigh, N. C.

1911

A. FLINT KLUTZ is practicing medicine at Maiden, North Carolina.

FREDERICK A. JOHNSON lives at 1006 Overbrook Road, Wilmington, Delaware. He is head of the Personal Department of E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company.

LEWIS G. COOPER has been practicing law in Greenville, North Carolina, since 1913.

E. E. ABRAMS, JR., is connected with the Inventors Syndicate of Minneapolis, Minnesota. His address is P. O. Box 951, Butler, Pennsylvania.

BROWN D. TRUSLOW has for twenty years been connected with Coyle & Richardson, department store of Charleston, West Virginia. He is married and has two daughters, Ann, a senior at Randolph-Macon, who frequently attends Washington and Lee dances, and Caroline, in the Charleston High School. He is always active and interested in Washington and Lee affairs.

HENRY C. MCGAVACK is Foreign Auditor for United States Lines, No. 1 Broadway, New York. His hobby is antique furniture and English History of the Tudor period. He lives at 35-55 Eightieth Street, Jackson Heights, New York.

JOHN E. (JACK) MARTIN is Superintendent of the Suffolk Schools, Suffolk, Virginia. He recently completed a two-year term as President of the Virginia Education Association. He is married and has a son who will be eligible to enter Washington and Lee in 1944.

1912

A. G. LIVELY was Circuit Judge at Lebanon, Virginia, from 1930 to 1937. He resigned to re-enter private practice.

RUSSELL B. WINE is located at San Antonio, Texas. He made the longest trip of any man in the class to attend the 25th class reunion.

WILLIAM W. ACKERLY is Commonwealth's Attorney at Lexington, Virginia.

BYRON L. BALLARD has been in Lansing, Michigan, since 1916. Prior to that he was at Nashville, Tennessee, for three years and Pendleton, Oregon, for one year. He is Treasurer of the Democratic State Central Committee and a member of the State Board of Law Examiners.

A. MASON HARRIS is Chief of the Bureau of Streets, Department of Public Works, Richmond, Virginia.

RANDOLPH PIPES has a son who was married in July, another son taking petroleum engineering at Louisiana State, and a daughter ten years old. His address is 339 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

TOMMY GLASGOW is President of Glasgow-Stewart and Company, Distributors of Automobile Supplies and Home Appliances, Charlotte, North Carolina.

HARRY GUNN FANNIN is President of the Commercial Bank in Panama City, Panama City, Florida. Finds banking a whole-time job.

1913

S. C. ROSE is in the real estate business in West Point, Mississippi, although his plantation, known as Roselands, is his main business interest. He has a dairy, with 100 cows. His home is in the town of West Point.

HENRY B. GOODLOE is living in Crozet, Virginia, with law offices in Charlottesville. He is United States Conciliation Commissioner for Albemarle County, a Lieutenant Colonel of Infantry in the Reserve Corps and Past President of the Virginia Department and Vice-President of the Third Corps Area of the Reserve Officers' Association. His daughter, Mary Boynton Goodloe, is in her second year in high school in Crozet.

1914

WAYNE ELY is a member of the law firm of Leahy, Walter, Hecker and Ely, Bank of Commerce Building, St. Louis, Missouri. In 1920 he was appointed Assistant Attorney General of Missouri, but has since devoted his efforts to the general practice of law.

HENRY P. CARRINGTON is with the Koppers Coal Company, Maitland, West Virginia.

VANN M. MATTHEWS is practicing medicine in Charlotte, North Carolina. His address is 728 Queens Road.

1915

J. D. TRIMBLE signifies by his letterhead that he has offices in the Trimble Building, El Dorado, Arkansas, but is so modest about his achievements that the best we can do is to quote: "There are no annals to be recorded of me for THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE. I am but a plain and private man, destined only for the sober shade of the obscure walks of life, and very happy (at this moment) in that state. I am speaking personally, and not politically. I cannot have political happiness under this administration."

S. SHERRY STEIN is a member of the firm of Kassan-Stein, Inc., Custom Tailors, 510 Eleventh Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

JAMES E. BEAR has given up all hope of returning to China as a Missionary and is permanently located in the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia, where he is teaching in the New Testament Department. He has two daughters who were born in China, and a son, born June 1, 1937.

ROBERT M. MCGEHEE was elected President of the Order of High Priesthood of Royal Arch Masonry and confers the degree at the Grand Chapter each year. He is director of the Department of Religious Education, Synod of Louisiana. His home is in Alexandria, La.

1916

CHARLES T. HERNDON, JR., is practicing law in Kingsport, Tennessee. He has a son who weighs 175 pounds, who graduated as valedictorian of his class at the local high school.

R. S. KIME is Secretary of the Board of Trustees of Roanoke College. He is married and has four daughters. He is a member of the law firm of Kime and Hoback, Salem, Virginia.

J. R. (IKE) MANNING has been in the general insurance business continuously since 1919, after receiving his discharge from the Army. His home is in Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina.

F. STANLEY PORTER is practicing law at 509-515 Calvert Building, Baltimore, Maryland.

WILEY D. FORBUS is head of the Department of Pathology, Duke Hospital, Durham, North Carolina.

E. S. MARSHALL is with the Continental Can Company, 100 East 42nd Street, New York, New York.

1917

BILL YANCEY is with the University of Wisconsin, Department of Military Science and Tactics, Madison, Wisconsin. He is now Major Yancey.

GEORGE N. DANIELSON has been "making American citizens" out of aliens for twenty years. Is with the United States Department of Labor, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Saint Paul, Minnesota.

JIMMIE LEE is Managing Editor of Chemical Engineering, a McGraw-Hill publication.

J. L. (LUKE) WILLIAMS is the father of two boys whom he hopes to send to Washington and Lee some day. He is with the Bristol Company, Instruments for Recording, Indicating, Controlling, 250 Stuart Street, Boston, Mass.

FRANK J. GILLIAM is Dean of Students, Washington and Lee University.

MORGAN BRIGHT is with the Retail Credit Men's Association of Chattanooga with offices in the Hamilton Building.

PAUL PICKENS is with the St. George Motor Company, Cumberland, Maryland.

1918

FRANCIS H. STYLES is married and has three children—two boys and one girl—ages 11, 9 and 7 years, respectively. He entered the Foreign Service in 1920 and for the past year has been stationed in Ottawa, Canada, as Consul and Second Secretary. Has had two posts in Europe, two in Africa, one in Mexico and three in Canada, and has had a grand time seeing the world.

LESTER D. ARNOLD is associated with Senator Harry Flood Byrd. His chief work is selling an apple crop of about 600,000 bushels. He is married and has four children, two boys and two girls. His hobby is golf and he is President of the Winchester Golf Club this year.

MATT PAXTON is practicing law in Lexington and is owner and Editor of The Rockbridge County News. The News has erected an attractive new office building on Nelson Street.

1919

HOWARD P. ARNST has been engaged in the private practice of law in Portland, Oregon, since 1919. Due to the distance, he does not get back to the campus frequently, but was here during the summer of 1934 and again in 1937.

RAY TILL is in the lobster and fishing business at Marblehead, Massachusetts. He is married and has three daughters and one son.

JOHN A. WITT is located in the Peoples National Bank Building, Lynchburg, Virginia.

TOM GILLIAM is cashier of the Lynchburg National Bank & Trust Company, Lynchburg, Virginia.

HOUSTON PATTERSON says: "I wish I knew exactly where I was and where I wasn't. To bring the record up to date, except for the Japanese Imperial Army, this letter would be addressed from China. As it is, part of the family property is in China, part in the Philippines, part in Canada, part scattered around the U. S. A., and what is left is here in Tazewell, Virginia. We will be here for some time pending a lull in the explosions in Eastern Asia. The future is any man's guess."

1920

E. G. BAILEY is with the Imperial Coal Company, Lynchburg, Virginia.

J. WALLER CALLISON is a member of the firm of J. S. Callison & Son, Real Estate and Insurance, Echols Building, Staunton, Virginia.

J. SIMMS EDMONDSON is practicing law in Memphis, Tennessee. His firm is Dixon, Williams & Edmondson with offices in the Commerce Title Building.

WILLIS M. EVERETT is practicing law in Atlanta, Georgia with offices in the Connally Building. He is a major in Military Intelligence Reserve.

CARL GILCHRIST is connected with the Subsidiary Companies of Columbia Oil and Gasoline Corporation with offices at 901 Kanawha Valley Building in Charleston, West Virginia, in the capacity of Assistant Secretary and Credit Manager.

H. NOEL HALLER is practicing law in Frederick, Md.

JOE ENGLEBY, JR., is preparing two stalwart young football players for Washington and Lee. They are at present seven and nine years of age. He is practicing law in the Shenandoah Life Building, Roanoke, Virginia.

1921

J. EDWARD MOYLER is an Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Franklin, Virginia.

STUART A. BRISCOE is District Engineer of Construction for the State Highway Department, Brookhaven, Mississippi. He has been married since 1922 and has one child.

DAVE STOREY is now connected with Columbia Steel Company of San Francisco (a United States Steel Corporation subsidiary). For the past two years he has been assistant contacting manager of their Bridge and Structural Department. Was recently transferred to the Los Angeles office. His new address is care of Columbia Steel Company, Box 510, Arcade Station, Los Angeles, California. He has a wife and a son eight years old, who is already following the athletic fortunes of the Generals.

M. BISHOP ALEXANDER is with The Advertising Service Company, 39 Broad Street, Charleston, South Carolina, of which he is president. He publishes the Coastal Topics magazine of which he is editor. He is married and has two sons, ages eight and four.

1922

JOE SILVERSTEIN is a member of the law firm of Owen, Silverstein & Davis, Charleston National Bank Building, Charleston, West Virginia. In 1937 he was appointed General Counsel to the Midwest Steel Corporation, and finds it necessary to devote practically all of his time to the duties of this office. He is married and has two children.

CHAS. M. CAMPBELL is a member of the firm of Parks & Campbell, Merchandise Brokers of Lexington, Kentucky.

TROY C. MUSSELWHITE is practicing law in Orlando, Florida. After receiving his A.B. from Washington and Lee he took a law degree from Harvard. He is married and has two children, a boy and a girl.

HARRY C. ROBERT is a sports writer on the Philadelphia Bulletin. He married a girl from northern New York State and they have a son, Harry C., Jr., three years old.

1923

R. MAURICE FREW is working with the United States Rubber Products, Inc., Winnsboro Mills, Winnsboro,

North Carolina, in the Personnel Department with supervision of athletics and community activities as his particular assignment. Finds industrial relations work very interesting.

1924

H. L. SHUEY practiced law for a few months after graduation and has been in the furniture business since that time. He is with the Morgantown Furniture Company, Designers and Manufacturers of Fine Furniture, Morgantown, North Carolina.

M. P. MATHENEY was married while in Law School and has two fine boys, twelve and eight. He is practicing law in the Exchange Building, El Dorado, Arkansas.

NORFLEET TURNER is Vice-President of the First National Bank of Memphis, Tennessee. He has been married for twelve years and has a boy nine years old and a girl seven.

JOE McMATH is practicing medicine at 515 Wyoming Avenue, Wyoming, Cincinnati, Ohio.

REV. ROBERT B. CAMPBELL is rector of Kingston Parish, Mathews, Virginia.

DR. NICHOLAS GOTTEN is practicing medicine at 20 South Dunlap, Memphis, Tennessee.

1925

JOHN S. STRAHORN, JR., was at Harvard Law School his first year out of college; then taught at the University of Arkansas from 1926 to 1930; took another graduate year at Yale Law School in 1930-1931 and has been teaching Law in the University of Maryland since that time. Has been married ten years and has a daughter three years old.

HERBERT M. GOULD is with Motors Holding Division, General Motors Corporation, executive offices, General Motors Building, Broadway at Fifty-seventh Street, New York.

PERRY A. NORMAN practiced law only a few months after graduation. Has been with Western Union continuously since then. He is now assistant superintendent, Western Union, headquarters, Dallas, Texas.

SAM BOCHOLTZ has been engaged in the practice of law for the past seven years. His offices are in the Mutual Life Building, Jacksonville, Florida. He is married and has two sons who are preparing to enter Washington and Lee. One is seven and the other three.

CLARENCE HINKLE is a member of the law firm of Harvey, Dow, Hill & Hinkle, Roswell, New Mexico.

M. C. LANGHORNE is head of the Department of Psychology, Emory University, Georgia.

WILLIAM L. WOOLFOLK is an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist in Owensboro, Kentucky.

WILLIAM H. CLUVERIUS is in the Merchandise Brokerage business in Charleston, South Carolina.

W. CARROLL (JOHNNY) MEAD is a member of the firm of Mead, Irvine & Company, Investment Securities, First National Bank Building, Baltimore, Maryland.

KENNETH GOODE is working in the president's office of the Chesapeake and Ohio Lines, 3116 Terminal Tower, Cleveland, Ohio, having been with the C. & O. since June, 1925. On November 27, 1937, he was married to Dorothy Earl Stanton. They are living in Cleveland Heights.

1926

ALMOND R. COLEMAN is assistant cashier in connection with accounting and bank operations in the State-Planters Bank & Trust Company, Richmond, Virginia. He shares an apartment with W. M. Pope, 1927, who is office manager of Scott & Stringfellow, Brokers.

J. K. (KAY) THOMAS is Speaker of the House of Delegates for the State of West Virginia.

1927

GEORGE D. VARNEY was in the midst of a political campaign when he wrote his class agent in May, being a candidate for the Maine Legislature and if successful in the primaries in June, and then at the election in the fall, was expected to be elected Speaker of the Maine House. He has been in the House on two previous occasions, in 1931 and 1937. Has been County Attorney of York County, Maine, for two years. He is married and has two children.

JOHN STRICKLER is practicing law in Roanoke, Virginia, with offices in the State and City Building.

GEORGE SUMMERSON is manager of the Washington-Duke Hotel, Durham, North Carolina. He has two daughters, one three and a half years old, and the other about six weeks.

ROY NICHOLS is Director of Music in one of the Norfolk high schools and has about 1,000 in his classes every week. Had three Glee Clubs this term which won the three highest honors in the recent State Contest held in Richmond. He is also directing the Norfolk Male Chorus and the Young People's choirs at one of the Norfolk churches.

1928

CHARLES A. STRAHORN, after five years with the Federal Reserve Board in examining work, transferred, in March of this year, to the F. D. I. C., with headquarters in Chicago. His present travels carry him over Iowa and Illinois in contrast to his position with the Federal Reserve Board, which took him all about the United States.

JOHNNY LANCASTER is a member of the law firm of Robertson, Leachman, Payne, Gardner & Lancaster, Republic Bank Building, Dallas, Texas.

1929

S. J. THOMPSON is Commonwealth's Attorney for Campbell County, Rustburg, Virginia. He was a member of the Virginia General Assembly in 1932 and a special session in 1933.

JULIUS BERRY lives at 533 Jefferson Street, Tupelo, Mississippi.

FRANK PARKER is growing apples—Rose Cliff Company, Inc., Waynesboro, Virginia. Reports the birth of a second child, F. T., III, "Who can make the Blue Ridge tremble any time of the day or night—and does."

THOMAS P. WRIGHT is Principal of the Great Falls, South Carolina, High School.

JAMES J. SALINGER has been connected with the general insurance brokerage firm of Huff, Dreyer & Company, at 75 Maiden Lane, New York, for the past two years.

"CHICK" SPENCER is with the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

1930

LEO V. FAHY writes a very charming letter to his class agent. In part he says: "When you ask me to write about myself, you struck a tender spot. What would you like to know? I am very handsome—in spite of what Ben says. I can't tell you that I am wealthy—not in this letter—but I have personality and—yes,—I may as well tell the truth—I am married and have two children. I am an attorney for the United States Housing Authority and am not making $10,000 a year."

ED BOSTWICK is with the Travelers Insurance Company, 111 North Harvie Street, Richmond, Virginia. He is married.

DR. MURREL KAPLAN is practicing medicine in New Orleans, Louisiana, in the Physicians and Surgeons Building.

DR. JOHN P. LYNCH is associated with the McGuire Clinic, St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, Virginia. He also teaches at the Medical College of Virginia, in the hospital division medical wards. He was married to Helen Mansfield Davis of Richmond about a year ago.

GEORGE VERMILYA is also associated with the McGuire Clinic. He is in the surgical division. He was married to Martha Carpenter last November.

C. IRVING LEWIS says he is a country parson at Mt. Solon, Virginia.

FRED B. KING, JR., is a member of the firm of Fred B. King & Sons, Morticians, Youngstown, Ohio. He is married and has two daughters.

1931

BILL SANDIFER, JR., is in the Public Lands Division of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

HENRY McLANE is Prosecuting Attorney of Clay County, Clay, West Virginia. Says he has a wife, two children, a fishing rod and two bird dogs.

RENO PORTER's address is now Resident Physician, Peter Bent Bingham Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts.

W. TAYLOR (BILL) MUNFORD is Director of Displays at Thalheimer's, Richmond, Virginia.

MELVILLE COX since leaving school has been with the H. L. Rust Company, Real Estate, Loans and Insurance, 1001 Fifteenth Street, Washington, D. C., in the Mortgages and Loans Department. He graduated from Law School two years ago.

JOHN SCHLOSSBERG is practicing law in Trenton, New Jersey. His address is Broad Street Bank Building, Trenton, New Jersey.

HERBERT OWEN SINSTON is with the Layne-New York Company, Contractors, 92 Liberty Street, New York.

DAN SHERBY is with the Zone Cab Corporation, 2020 West Third Street, Cleveland, Ohio. He is married and has a daughter about two years old.

1932

STUART L. CRENSHAW is in the Mortgage Department of the Old Dominion Mortgage Corporation, 1101 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia. He is married and has one child.

ROSS L. MALONE, JR., is a member of the law firm of Atwood and Malone, Roswell, New Mexico. The major part of their practice is devoted to oil, gas and mineral practice in the Eastern New Mexico oil fields.

JACK HAMILTON, after three years with the United States Playing Card Company, is now in the brokerage business with Dominick and Dominick in Cincinnati. Jack is married and lives at 3445 Laubet Place, Hyde Park, Cincinnati, Ohio.

CHARLIE BLAKE is still at 15 Gramercy Park, New York. After his last year's success in "Dead End" he spent the summer in Europe with the Ballet Russe, and more recently has been with the musical "Right This Way."

ED ALLEN, still with United Features Syndicate, is now in the New York office at 220 East Forty-Second Street. He styles himself modestly a "utility infielder" and says he is working hard.

LEIGHTON MCKINNEY is still writing insurance at 301½ Woodard Street, Denison, Texas. His letter is full of news of the Texas boys. Of classmates, he says that COLLET MUNGER left Dallas for Atlanta to go into the motion picture business; ED NESBITT is now practicing law.

RAN SHIELDS, JR., is finishing a two-year rotating internship, and next year will be a resident in surgery at the Lenox Hill Hospital in New York. His present address is The Children's Hospital, Bainbridge, Eighteenth and Fitzwater Streets, Philadelphia.

1933

COPELAND (COPE) ADAMS is practicing law in Blackstone, Virginia. He is attorney for the Southside Electric Company. Is still a bachelor.

F. E. CALHOUN is in the Red River Reports Section (Texas) of United States District office, Memphis, Tennessee, engaged in making a complete study and investigation for work and improvement of the Red River, through offices in Little Rock, Arkansas. His address is

"LEXINGTON, IN OLD VIRGINIA"

By HENRY BOLEY

was published in March, 1936, of special interest to the alumni of Washington and Lee

$3.00

order now from

Boley's Book Store

Lexington, Virginia

McCRUM'S

Prompt Delivery on Flowers and Candy in Lexington and Vicinity

Whitman's
and Martha Washington Candies

Member of Florists' Telegraph Delivery

Your Mail Order Will Receive Our Best Attention

Professional Directory

William A. Hyman

Counsellor-at-Law

100 William Street
New York

E. C. Caffrey

1909

Court House
Hackensack, N. J.

James R. Caskie

1909

Attorney-at-Law
Peoples Bank Building
Lynchburg, Virginia

Gibson Witherspoon

Attorney-at-Law

204-208 Lawyers Building
Meridian, Mississippi

Woodruff and Ward

Bruce F. Woodruff, 1916
Wm. A. Ward, Jr., 1930

Attorneys-at-Law

928 Healey Building
Atlanta, Georgia

John H. Tucker, Jr.

1910

Tucker and Mason
Law Offices
Commercial National Bank Bldg.
Shreveport, Louisiana

Philip P. Gibson

Attorney-at-Law

Marcum and Gibson
First National Bank Building
Huntington, W. Va.

Edmund D. Campbell

1918-1922

Attorney-at-Law

Douglass, Obear, Morgan and Campbell
Southern Building
Washington, D. C.

Ruff & Ready

Wallace Ruff, 1914
Thos. J. Ready, Stetson, 1921

Attorneys-at-Law
Townley Building
East Flagler St. and First Ave.
Miami, Florida

A new smoking pleasure for millions

*Up-to-the-minute... mild ripe tobaccos and pure cigarette paper...
the best ingredients a cigarette can have...*

that's why more and more smokers are turning to Chesterfield's refreshing mildness and better taste

They Satisfy .. millions